Fostering Change in Institutions, Environments, and People David C. Berliner, Haggai Kupermintz, 2014-04-08 This volume is comprised of contributions from leading scholars in education and psychology. In part one of the book the authors provide insight into the psychology of change examining What factors work as catalysts for change in environments institutions and people. What factors hinder change When change is deemed beneficial In the second part of this volume the authors turn their attention to the issue of peace education. They examine the types of problems that societies and scholars should identify and try to solve in hopes of building more peaceful environments. The final chapter is a biography honoring Professor Gavriel Gabi Salomon a significant contributor to the vast literature on change. This book is appropriate reading for professors students and academics who are dedicated to fostering change to benefit institutions environments and people.

Encyclopedia of Associations ,2006-12      Transnational Activism and the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict M. Hallward, 2013-11-26 This book examines the polarization of positions surrounding the transnational boycott divestment and sanctions BDS movement aimed at ending the Israeli occupation. The author compares four US based case studies in which activists for and against BDS struggle over issues of identity morality legitimacy and conceptions of peace.

Peacebuilding, Memory and Reconciliation Bruno Charbonneau, Genevieve Parent, 2013-06-17 This book aims to bridge the gap between what are generally referred to as top down and bottom up approaches to peacebuilding. After the experience of a physical and psychological trauma the period of individual healing and recovery is intertwined with political and social reconciliation. The prospects for social and political reconciliation are undermined when a top down approach is favoured over the bottom up strategy the prioritization of structural stability over societal well being. Peacebuilding Memory and Reconciliation explores the inextricable link between psychological recovery and socio political reconciliation and the political issues that dominate this relationship. Through an examination of the construction of social narratives about or for peace the text offers a new perspective on peacebuilding which challenges and questions the very nature of the dichotomy between top down and bottom up approaches. This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding peace and conflict studies social psychology political science and IR in general      Peacebuilding Legacy Sukanya Podder, 2022-08-08 A fundamental challenge plagues the global peacebuilding community How can technocratic approaches to peacebuilding that are rooted in short term project based execution of activities further the longer term transformative outcomes like altering young people's attitudes and beliefs about peace and violence. In response to this global challenge in Peacebuilding Legacy Sukanya Podder analyzes the long term effects of peacebuilding programmes involving children and young people. Podder unpacks the concept of peacebuilding legacy through the lens of time transformation and intergenerational peace. Podder also develops unique qualitative cues for measuring legacy in terms of the institutional normative and organizational logics. If norms resonate strongly with the local context they are likely to encourage strong retention and meaningful adoption over time Successful institutionalization of project models through planned handover to successor national organizations or government departments holds the key to stronger local ownership Organizational learning and reflection can support this process through a more strategic approach to programming and through post exit studies Regarding attitude change Podder found that the media and peace education projects that targeted individuals ingrained beliefs and values but overlooked the role of group social norms had only limited persuasive effects To shift the values practices norms and beliefs of the younger generation the mindset of the older generation must also be targeted Changes in the legal political economic and other social institutions are critical for long term and meaningful transformation This requires adopting an ecological model of peace

The Two-State Delusion Padraig O'Malley,2015-07-28 Padraig O Malley is the subject of the new acclaimed documentary The Peacemaker A thoughtful autopsy of the failed two state paradigm Evenhanded diplomatic mutually respectful and enormously useful Kirkus starred review Disputes over settlements the right of return the rise of Hamas recognition of Israel as a Jewish state and other intractable issues have repeatedly derailed peace negotiations between Israel and Palestine Now in a book that is sure to spark controversy renowned peacemaker Padraig O Malley argues that the moment for a two state solution has passed After examining each issue and speaking with Palestinians and Israelis as well as negotiators directly involved in past summits O Malley concludes that even if such an agreement could be reached it would be nearly impossible to implement given the staggering costs Palestine's political disunity and the viability of its economy rapidly changing demographics Israel's continuing political shift to the right global warming's effect on the water supply and more In this revelatory hard hitting book O Malley approaches the key issues pragmatically without ideological bias to show that we must find new frameworks for reconciliation if there is to be lasting peace between Palestine and Israel

Democratic Peace Across the Middle East Yakub Halabi,2016-05-24 From Tunisia to Egypt and from Israel to Iran the debates surrounding the concept of democracy in the Middle East are never straightforward This has been particularly evident since the events of 2009 in Iran and the uprisings across the Arab world in late 2010 and 2011 Against this backdrop Democratic Peace across the Middle East critically analyses the prospects for democracy throughout the region specifically asking whether political and social modernisation are absolute preconditions for democratic peace to take hold in the region or whether democracy without modernisation might be enough It explores the dynamics between neo patriarchy and Islam on the one hand and democratisation and modernisation on the other and also considers the prospect of the political accommodation of opposition groups Incorporating an analysis of a variety of key dynamics which affect each Middle Eastern country in turn such as tribal and sectarian identity Islamism and the structure of political party systems this book will appeal to those researching the Middle East and its patterns of rule Human Rights and a Middle East Peace Process Stefan August Lütgenau,2007 Since 1967 the Middle East conflict has been a key obstacle to peaceful and prosperous development of the entire region Israeli occupation of the Palestinian Territories is the root cause of a wide range of violations against human rights and humanitarian law. Although the international community has produced a number of peace plans to settle the conflict none of the plans supported by the international community and the Middle East Quartet of the United Nations the United States Russia and the European Union tackle the problems of deteriorating human rights on the ground. In a joint effort a group of internationally renewed experts of international law conflict resolution history human rights and humanitarian law from Israel Palestine Europe and the United States have evaluated the preconditions of reintroducing human rights into the international political discourse on the Middle East conflict in this indispensable book.

From Coexistence to Conquest Victor Kattan, 2009-07-15 From Coexistence to Conquest seeks to explain how the Arab Israeli conflict developed by looking beyond strict legalism to the men behind the policies adopted by the Great Powers at the dawn of the twentieth century. It controversially argues that Zionism was adopted by the British Government in its 1917 Balfour Declaration primarily as an immigration device and that it can be traced back to the 1903 Royal Commission on Alien Immigration and the Alien's Act 1905. The book places the violent reaction of the Palestine Arabs to mass Jewish immigration in the context of Zionism highlighting the findings of several British commissions of inquiry which recommended that Britain abandon its policy. The book also revisits the controversies over the question of self determination and the partition of Palestine. The Chapter on the 1948 conflict seeks to update international lawyers on the scholarship of Israel's new historians and reproduces some of the horrific accounts of the atrocities that took place. The penultimate chapter argues that Israel was created through an act of conquest or subjugation. The book concludes with a sobering analysis of the conflict arguing that neither Jews nor Arabs were to blame for starting it. PAIS International in Print Catherine Korvin, 2003-05 This book contains bibliographic references with abstracts and subject headings to public and social policy literature and to world politics published in print and electronic formats international focus. The Middle East, Abstracts and Index, 2001.
