

TO THE CHRYSLER

The Chrysler Corporation has announced that it will be acquiring the assets of the Chrysler Group LLC, including the Chrysler, Dodge, and Ram brands, from the bankrupt General Motors Corp. The deal is expected to close in the next few months.

The transaction is part of a larger reorganization of the automotive industry, as GM seeks to streamline its operations and focus on its core brands.

Chrysler's CEO, Robert N. Nardelli, said the company is excited about the opportunity to acquire the Chrysler Group's assets and continue to build on its legacy. He also noted that the deal will allow Chrysler to focus on its core brands and improve its financial performance.

The deal is expected to be approved by the bankruptcy court overseeing GM's reorganization. Chrysler's offer is one of several competing bids for the assets of the Chrysler Group.

The deal is expected to be a significant move for the automotive industry, as it marks the first time a major manufacturer has acquired the assets of a bankrupt competitor. It also raises questions about the future of the Chrysler Group's brands and the impact of the deal on GM's operations.
