Chatgpt and Other Generative AI Tools Jochen Kuhn, Stefan Küchemann, Knut Neumann, Martina Rau, 2025-02-17 In the past ten years, applications of generative artificial intelligence (GAI) have found rapidly growing use in medicine, science, and daily life. Large language models (LLMs) opened up new avenues in particular for education. LLMs have been used to create interactive educational content for students, stimulate their curiosity, generate code explanations, and develop assessment questions. Additionally, LLMs have been applied for language practice, anxiety alleviation, and feedback provision. In higher education, LLMs have shown potential for assisting in medical exam preparation and clinical decision making. In school education, LLMs can help teachers with automated evaluation of student responses and respective adaptive feedback. More recently, LLM-based applications such as chatGPT have been used to generate teaching materials or assessment tasks across different subjects. The fields of understanding of the effects of the use of LLM-based applications in classroom teaching, however, is still in its infancy. GAI tools may help solving a range of tasks in education, in particular with respect to teachers and students, and teachers' efforts to generate content. However, it is critical that teachers and students do not overly rely on GAI-generated solutions but instead critically assess each solution. Students should furthermore not use GAI tools to avoid investing relevant mental effort to create mental models or more broadly build up competencies.

ChatGPT is an artificial intelligence language model that has the ability to process and generate human-like text It is a product of the latest breakthroughs in natural language processing NLP and machine learning which has enabled it to become one of the most advanced language models to date The development of ChatGPT started with a research paper published in 2018 by OpenAI

a leading research lab in the field of artificial intelligence. In the paper the researchers introduced a new model called GPT Generative Pre trained Transformer that could generate coherent and human like text using unsupervised learning. The initial GPT model had 117 million parameters and was pre trained on a large corpus of text data from the internet. Over time the researchers at OpenAI continued to improve the GPT model leading to the development of larger and more sophisticated versions of the model with up to 1.75 billion parameters. In June 2020 OpenAI released its most advanced version yet known as GPT 3 which had a whopping 175 billion parameters and was capable of performing an unprecedented number of tasks including translation summarization and even creative writing. ChatGPT is a variant of GPT 3 that has been fine tuned to specialize in conversational interactions with humans. It has been pre trained on a large corpus of conversational data allowing it to understand and generate natural language responses in a conversational setting. When a user inputs a text prompt ChatGPT uses its pre trained models to analyze the prompt and generate a response that is likely to be appropriate and relevant to the context. The development of ChatGPT and other advanced language models has brought about a significant shift in the field of NLP and AI. These models have the potential to revolutionize the way humans communicate with machines and with each other opening up new possibilities for language based applications and interactions. In the following chapters of this book we will delve deeper into the technical details of how ChatGPT works explore its capabilities and discuss the ethical and societal implications of using such advanced language models. But first let's take a closer look at how ChatGPT was developed and the research that went into making it a reality.
