Geoheritage and Geotourism Thomas A. Hose, 2016 Essays on aspects of the natural world its heritage and how best to preserve it Europe s engagement from the late sixteenth century onwards in scientific Earth science inquiry has generated numerous and varied collections of minerals rocks and fossils together with their associated archives artworks and publications forming a rich cultural geoheritage held in major private and especially royal and aristocratic collections museums universities archives and libraries The mines quarries geological structures landforms minerals rocks and fossils or geodiversity that underpin these collections populate past and present day Earth science literature However for too long their scientific historic and cultural significance was not universally recognised and generally they were not accorded adequate resources and protection or geoconservation Hence geotourism was developed in the 1990s to raise public awareness of Europe s geoheritage and geodiversity and to promote its geoconservation the volume s theoretical essays and case studies examine these four core geoelements and provide a timely introduction for anyone interested in natural history museums countryside management and landscape based tourism Dr Thomas A Hose is an Honorary Research Associate in the School of Earth Sciences University of Bristol He has pioneered the recognition of and research into geotourism and is the author of the world s first doctoral thesis on the subject Contributors Kevin Crawford Peter Davis John E Gordon Thomas A Hose Jonathan G Larwood Slobodan B Markovic Martin Munt Emmanuel Reynard Nemanja Tomic Djordjije A Vasiljevic Margaret Wood Volker Wrede Visages of Geodiversity and Geoheritage L. Kubalíková,, P. Coratza, M. Pál, Z. Zwoliński, P.N. Iraptia, B. van Wyk de Vries, 2023-07-06 Geodiversity and geoheritage are emerging topics within the geosciences that are increasingly interconnected to biodiversity research and the humanities through the intersection between Earth and culture Understanding recognizing and conserving geodiversity is important for various domains including geology geomorphology geography ecology conservation and land management Geodiversity helps preserve Earth s geoheritage support biodiversity manage geohazards and promote sustainable land use Geoheritage also connects with geotourism development and is integral to territorial development studies This volume showcases theoretical research and case studies prepared by a stimulating selection of early career scientists alongside experienced researchers The first part of this book is dedicated to conceptual chapters on geodiversity that consider its links to other studies The second and third sections present an integrated view of geodiversity geoheritage and landscape through their management and conservation This volume charts the diversity of research and those working in the field of geodiversity and geoheritage Through these multidisciplinary perspectives we invite emerging and early researchers to continue the conversation and strengthen this dynamic field of study The History of Geoconservation Cynthia V. Burek, Colin D. Prosser, 2008 This book is the first to describe the history of geoconservation It draws on experience from the UK Europe and further afield to explore topics including what is geoconservation where when and how did it start who was responsible and how has it differed across the world Geological and geomorphological features processes sites and specimens provide a resource of immense scientific and educational importance They also form the foundation for the varied and spectacular landscapes that help define national and local identity as well as many of the great tourism destinations Mankind's activities including contributing to enhanced climate change pose many threats to this resource the importance of safeguarding and managing it for future generations is now widely accepted as part of sustainable development Geoconservation is an established and growing activity across the world with more participants and a greater profile than ever before This volume highlights a history of challenges set backs successes and visionary individuals and provides a sound basis for taking geoconservation into the future Geoscience Education Clara Vasconcelos,2016-11-14 This book presents research in Geoscience Education focusing on indoor and outdoor environments in which teaching geoscience gains particular relevance significance and contextualization The research areas that are presented throughout the thirteen chapters cover a wide variety of subjects ranging from educational resources and fieldwork to science models Chapters discuss specific geoscience topics such as earthquakes rocks fossils and minerals Other chapters present a more interdisciplinary approach addressing topics that aren't usually examined such as geomedicine and geoethics with a specific focus on sustainable development and their alignment with the school curricula Throughout the book readers can find research based arguments illustrated with practical examples which will help them to innovate in their curriculum development area classroom practices and pre and in service teachers education The book challenges readers to improve Geoscience Education by changing the ways of teaching by enabling students to exploit their natural curiosity and by spurring a learning process that should not be confined to the classroom but rather maintained throughout life Geoconservation and Geotourism Potential of India Satish C. Tripathi,Naresh Chandra Pant,Sameeta Rajora,2025-06-16 India is blessed with great geological diversity as it has recorded more than 3.5 billion years history of evolution of Earth some of the sites sections are unique to the globe The recent discovery of youngest Meghalayan age from a limestone cave of Meghalaya is internationally recognised The Indian rock record bears the signatures of various global geological events including evolution of life mass extinction making of Himalaya meteoritic impact craters etc Indian dinosaur Rajasaurus created curiosity in the children Interestingly large number of geoheritage sites are associated with well known cultural heritage sites and biodiversity hotspots However proper scientific details of geoheritage sites and their potential to develop as a geotourism hotspot has not been discussed Geotourism potential of India is extensive but so far it has not attracted attention of authorities and agencies of the Tourism sector The present book provides a platform for them to plan and explore Development of geotourism will lead to conservation of geoheritage sites and both financial and scientific aspects will be covered

Protected Area Governance and Management Graeme L. Worboys,Michael Lockwood,Ashish Kothari,Sue Feary,Ian Pulsford,2015-04-08 Protected Area Governance and Management presents a compendium of original text case studies and examples from across the world by drawing on the literature and on the knowledge and experience of those involved in protected areas. The book synthesises current knowledge and cutting edge thinking from the diverse branches of practice and learning relevant to protected area governance and management. It is intended as an investment in the skills and competencies of people and consequently the effective governance and management of protected areas for which they are responsible now and into the future. The global success of the protected area concept lies in its shared vision to protect natural and cultural heritage for the long term and organisations such as International Union for the Conservation of Nature are a unifying force in this regard. Nonetheless protected areas are a socio political phenomenon and the ways that nations understand govern and manage them is always open to contest and debate. The book aims to enlighten, educate and above all to challenge readers to think deeply about protected areas their future and their past as well as their present. The book has been compiled by 169 authors and deals with all aspects of protected area governance and management. It provides information to support capacity development training of protected area field officers, managers in charge and executive level managers.

Appreciating Physical Landscapes T.A. Hose, 2016-02-01. Geotourism as a form of sustainable geoheritage tourism was defined and developed from the early 1990s to contextualize modern approaches to geoconservation and physical landscape management. However its roots lie in the late seventeenth century and the emergence of the Grand Tour and its domestic equivalents in the eighteenth century. Its participants and numerous later travellers and tourists including geologists and artists purposefully explored wild landscapes as geotourists. The written and visual records of their observations underpin the majority of papers within this volume. These papers explore some significant geo historical themes, organizations, individuals and locations across three centuries, opening with seventeenth century elite travellers and closing with modern landscape tourists. Other papers examine the resources available to those geotourists and explore the geotourism paradigm. The volume will be of particular interest to Earth scientists, historians of science, tourism specialists and general readers with an interest in landscape history.

European Geologist, 2005. Turned Out Nice Marek Kohn, 2010-06-03. Marek Kohn one of the best science writers we have. AC Grayling paints an important and eye opening portrait of Britain and Ireland after a century of global warming. Author of A Reason for Everything and Four Words for Friend Marek Kohn projects one hundred years into the future when based on the climate change evidence we have now some parts of Britain will be like regions of today's Mediterranean. But more disturbingly our parks will be arid brown fields, private automobile use will probably be unheard of, water will be severely rationed, significant stretches of our beloved coastline will have been sacrificed to the sea. Floods on these coasts and in certain river valleys will make them uninhabitable. Some of our flora and fauna will have vanished, exotic animals and pests will flourish. Human climate migration will have become a significant fact of life as other continents become harsher places to survive in. Surveillance and restriction of our movements will be taken for granted. Walking in what is left of nature will be nearly impossible. As climate activism including Greta Thunberg's school strikes and Extinction Rebellion's mass protests gathers pace worldwide in the light of a growing climate emergency Turned Out Nice is more relevant than ever an urgent report from the near future that we cannot afford to ignore It will change the way you think about the climate and global warming An imaginative journey through different parts of the British Isles crammed with detail A good primer for anyone who wants to think about the British future without being suicidal or consciously blinkered Andrew Marr Financial Times Graphic gripping Kohn warns against the current complacency of short term thinking and temporising inactivity The Times The links between our natural and built heritage: how we can use urban landscape and geological resources to aid understanding and appreciation of the wider landscape C.C.J. MacFadyen,A.A. McMillan,2004 Journal of Geological Education ,1995 Mediterranean Prehistoric Heritage Ian Hodder,Louise Doughty,McDonald Institute for Archaeological Research,2007 Drawing on the experience of the Temper project Training Education Management and Prehistory in the Mediterranean and wider examples from the Mediterranean this volume explores the issues inherent in managing interpreting and presenting prehistoric archaeological sites The first section of the book contains thematic chapters on conservation visitor management and interpretation public participation and issues of managing sites within their cultural landscape the second section focuses on archaeology and education and the politics of national curricula and presents detailed case studies Written by academics and those working in the fields of archaeology architecture heritage management and education this volume will be invaluable to students and practitioners alike Economic Geography ,1959 Earth Sciences History ,1998 Restoration & Management Notes ,1984 Science Progress ,1906 Includes book reviews Engineering Geology Perry H. Rahn,1986 Rahn s text provides a quantitative description of methods utilized in engineering geology It includes such recent events as the 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake as well as the 1993 Mississippi River floods Case histories and additional worked examples and problems are included Bibliografia geologiczna Polski ,2003 The Earth, the Heavens and the Carnegie Institution of Washington Gregory Good,1994-01-10 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the History of Geophysics Series Volume 5 To reduce errors in geomagnetic measurements the research vessel Carnegie was specially constructed of non magnetic materials While refueling in Apia Harbor Samoa November 29 1929 an explosion occurred destroying the ship and taking the lives of Captain J P Ault and the ship s cabin boy In her 20 years Carnegie cruised 342 681 miles of the world s oceans Landscape John Brinckerhoff Jackson,1959
