Ministry of Culture, 2014 Forced Marriage and 'Honour' Killings in Britain Christina Julios, 2016-03-09 This book explores the contemporary phenomenon of forced marriage and honour killings in Britain Set against a background of increasing honour based violence within the country's South Asian and Muslim Diasporas the book traces the development of the honour question over the past two decades It accordingly witnesses unprecedented changes in public awareness and government policy including ground breaking honour specific legislation and the criminalisation of forced marriage All of which makes Britain an important context for the study of this now indigenous and self perpetuating social problem In considering the scale of the challenge and its underlying causes attention is paid to the intersections of gendered power structures that disadvantage female members of honour cultures as well as feminist theories that seek to explain them The book features five key case studies of honour killings and draws from a wide range of narratives including those of honour violence survivors grassroots service providers and legislators Such myriad of perspectives reveals the complexity of the honour issue and the deep ideological divisions that characterise it With the UK's multiculturalist discourse unable to reconcile protecting patriarchal minority

cultures with safeguarding gender equality and human rights the book raises fundamental questions about the country's future direction Following a long trend of state sponsored integrationist policies the government's response to the honour question points decisively in the direction of a post multicultural British nation

Education Is Not an App Jonathan A. Poritz, Jonathan Rees, 2016-08-12 Whilst much has been written about the doors that technology can open for students less has been said about its impact on teachers and professors Although technology undoubtedly brings with it huge opportunities within higher education there is also the fear that it will have a negative effect both on faculty and on teaching standards Education Is Not an App offers a bold and provocative analysis of the economic context within which educational technology is being implemented not least the financial problems currently facing higher education institutions around the world The book emphasizes the issue of control as being a key factor in whether educational technology is used for good purposes or bad purposes arguing that technology has great potential if placed in caring hands Whilst it is a guide to the newest developments in education technology it is also a book for those faculty technology professionals and higher education policy makers who want to understand the economic and pedagogical impact of technology on professors and students It advocates a path into the future based on faculty autonomy shared governance and concentration on the university's traditional role of promoting the common good Offering the first critical in depth assessment of the political economy of education technology this book will serve as an invaluable guide to concerned faculty as well as to anyone with an interest in the future of higher education

Local Places, Global Processes Peter Coates, David Moon, Paul Warde, 2016-02-29 We live in an age of unprecedented environmental change global interconnected and universal Yet though our lives are inextricably connected to global processes and increasingly mobile we still live in particular places Our perceptions of change and what kind of change might be for good or ill are shaped by the interaction of localised experience and the wider forces of transformation Local Places Global Processes examines how these relationships have been shaped in Britain over time in three ways First through essays addressing influential ways of understanding and debating questions of the state of nature These are complemented by case studies on conservation landscape change and management and how perceptions of environmental change have emerged or been discarded over time Chapters also draw on a series of site based workshops that brought together historians landscape managers and artists to discuss and reflect on particular sites Wicken Fen in Cambridgeshire owned by the National Trust and the first British nature reserve the Quantock Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty in Somerset England s first AONB and a landscape enriched by Romantic association and the landscape of Kielder Water and Forest a land of superlatives in Northumberland in north eastern England the largest planted forest and artificial lake in northern Europe The multi disciplinary approach draws together the exchanges artworks and writing assembled at these workshops and afterwards This opens up how being in a place and engaging with ideas attached to it shape perceptions of the environment It provides resources with which landscape managers can think about their tasks and engage various publics in discussion about future environments in light of these histories of place Rather than a history of these three places this is history written from them Canadian Almanac and Directory 2019 Grey House Canada,2018-02-28 The Canadian Almanac Directory is the most complete source of Canadian information available cultural professional and financial institutions legislative governmental judicial and educational organizations Canada s authoritative sourcebook for almost 160 years the Canadian Almanac Directory gives you access to almost 100 000 names and addresses of contacts throughout the network of Canadian institutions The Nidologist ,1896 Records of the Australian Museum Australian Museum,2017 Mining and Scientific Press ,1893 The Civil service year book and official calendar ,1892 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1862 The Financial Review ,1878 Lippincott's Gazetteer of the World J.B.
