is a computer code for calculating the fractional release rate of readily soluble radionuclides that are released from nuclear waste emplaced in water saturated porous media and transported through layers of porous media. Waste placed in such environments will gradually dissolve. For many species such as actinides and rare earths the process of dissolution is governed by the exterior flow field and the chemical reaction rate or leaching rate. In a spent fuel waste package the soluble cesium and iodine accumulated in fuel cladding gaps, voids and grain boundaries of spent fuel rods are expected to dissolve rapidly when groundwater penetrates the fuel cladding. UCB NE 108 is a code for calculating the release rate at the interface of two layers of porous material such as the backfill around a high level waste package and natural rock to check compliance with the US Nuclear Regulatory Commission's USNRC subsystem performance objective. It is an implementation of the analytic solution given below. 6 refs 2 figs    The N-BOD1 User's and Programmer's Manual ,1978    The BCPL Reference Manual M.
