Autopilot NP2015/2025: Type 102-886 NG001: Operator Manual Raytheon Marine, 2002 Autonomous Driving Changes the Future Zhanxiang Chai, Tianxin Nie, Jan Becker, 2020-07-22 This book systematically discusses the development of autonomous driving describing the related history technological advances infrastructure social impacts international competition China's opportunities and challenges and possible future scenarios This popular science book uses straightforward language and includes quotes from ancient Chinese poems to enhance the reading experience The discussions are supplemented by theoretical elaborations presented in tables and figures The book is intended for auto fans upper undergraduate and graduate students in the field of automotive engineering

Detection and Estimation of Working Memory States and Cognitive Functions Based on Neurophysiological Measures Felix Putze, Christian Mühl, Fabien Lotte, Stephen Fairclough, Christian Herff, 2019-02-05 Executive cognitive functions like working memory determine the success or failure of a wide variety of different cognitive tasks such as problem solving navigation or planning Estimation of constructs like working memory load or memory capacity from neurophysiological or psychophysiological signals would enable adaptive systems to respond to cognitive states experienced by an operator and trigger responses designed to support task performance e.g. by simplifying the exercises of a tutor system when the subject is overloaded or by shutting down distractions from the mobile phone The determination of cognitive states like working memory load is also useful for automated testing assessment or for usability evaluation While there exists a large body of research work on neural and physiological correlates of cognitive functions like working memory activity fewer publications deal with the application of this research with respect to single trial detection and real time estimation of cognitive functions in complex realistic scenarios Single trial classifiers based on brain activity measurements such as electroencephalography functional near infrared spectroscopy physiological signals or eye tracking have the potential to classify affective or cognitive states based upon short segments of data For this purpose signal processing and machine learning techniques need to be developed and transferred to real world user interfaces The goal of this Frontiers Research Topic was to advance the State of the Art in signal based modeling of cognitive processes We were especially interested in research towards more complex and realistic study designs for example collecting data in the wild or investigating the interaction between different cognitive processes or signal modalities Bringing together many contributions in one format allowed us to look at the state of convergence or diversity regarding concepts methods and paradigms

Advanced, Contemporary Control Andrzej Bartoszewicz, Jacek Kabziński, Janusz Kacprzyk, 2020-06-24 This book presents the proceedings of the 20th Polish Control Conference A triennial event that was first held in 1958 the conference successfully combines its long tradition with a modern approach to shed light on problems in control engineering automation robotics and a wide range of applications in these disciplines The book presents new theoretical results concerning the steering of dynamical systems as well as industrial case studies and worked solutions to real world problems in contemporary engineering It particularly focuses on the modelling identification analysis and design of automation systems however it also addresses the evaluation of their performance efficiency and reliability Other topics include fault tolerant control in robotics automated manufacturing mechatronics and industrial systems Moreover it discusses data processing and transfer issues covering a variety of methodologies including model predictive robust and adaptive techniques as well as algebraic and geometric methods and fractional order calculus approaches The book also examines essential application areas such as transportation and autonomous intelligent vehicle systems robotic arms mobile manipulators cyber physical systems electric drives and both surface and underwater marine vessels Lastly it explores biological and medical applications of the control theory inspired methods

Advances in Human Factors and System Interactions Isabel L. Nunes, 2016-07-26 This book reports on cutting edge research in innovative systems interfaces with an emphasis on both lifecycle development and human technology interaction especially in the cases of virtual augmented and mixed reality systems It describes advanced methodologies and tools for evaluating and improving interface usability and covers new models as well as case studies and good practices The book reports on considerations of the human hardware and software factors in the process of developing interfaces for optimizing total system performance especially innovative computing technologies for teams dealing with dynamic environments while minimizing total ownership costs One of the main purposes is to discuss forces currently shaping the nature of computing and systems including the needs of decreasing hardware costs the importance of portability which translates to the modern tendency of hardware miniaturization and technologies for reducing power requirements the necessity of a better assimilation of computation in the environment and social concerns about access to computers and systems for people with special needs The book which is based on the AHFE 2016 International Conference on Human Factors and System Interactions held on July 27 31 2016 in Walt Disney World Florida USA offers a timely survey and practice oriented guide for systems interface users and developers alike

Sensemaking in Safety Critical and Complex Situations Stig Ole Johnsen, Thomas Porathe, 2021-07-13 Sensemaking in Safety Critical and Complex Situations Human Factors and Design Human factors based design that supports the strengths and weaknesses of humans are often missed during the concept and design of complex technical systems With the focus on digitalization and automation the human actor is often left out of the loop but needs to step in during safety critical situations This book describes how human factors and sensemaking can be used as part of the concept and design of safety critical systems in order to improve safety and resilience This book discusses the challenges of automation and automated systems when humans are left out of the loop and then need to intervene when the situation calls for it It covers human control and accepts that humans must handle the unexpected and describes methods to support this. It is based on recent accident analysis involving autonomous systems that move our understanding forward and supports a more modern view on human errors to improve safety in industries such as shipping and marine. The book is for human factors and ergonomists, safety engineers, designers involved in safety critical work, and students. Stig Ole Johnsen is a Senior Researcher at SINTEF in Norway. He has a PhD from NTNU in Norway with a focus on resilience in complex socio-technical systems and has a Master's in Technology Management from MIT. NTNU He chairs the Human Factors in Control network HFC in Norway to strengthen the human factors focus during development and implementation of safety critical technology. His research interests include meaningful human control to support safety and resilience during automation and digitalization. Thomas Porathe has a degree in Information Design from Malardalen University in Sweden. He is currently Professor of Interaction Design at the Norwegian University of Science and Technology in Trondheim, Norway. He specializes in maritime human factors and design of maritime information systems specifically directed towards control room design, e-navigation, and autonomous ships. He has been working with e-Navigation since 2006 in EU projects such as BLAST, EfficienSea, MONALISA, ACCSEAS, SESAME, and the unmanned ship project MUNIN. He is active in the International Association of Aids to Navigation and Lighthouse Authorities (IALA).
