Signs in Activities Dorthe Duncker, Adrian Pablé, 2024-03-27 This book is a collective volume bringing together scholars who share an interest in linguistics from an integrational point of view and in developing new directions for future scholarship Integrational linguistics invites us to rethink the theoretical and methodological premises of general linguistics by drawing on a different conception of the sign and by recognizing the creativity that human communication requires Some chapters are concerned with concepts like the sign contextualization activity and integration Although being core concepts developed by the founder of integrational linguistics Roy Harris they have arguably remained underdeveloped in Harris writings and thus call for further clarification and investigation Other chapters are concerned with the notions of the self and the social experience and interaction with questions about individual agency and will and human sociality and social organization which all occupy a central position in integrational theory Finally remaining chapters focus on how scriptism and the language myth have influenced our way of thinking about communication in a broad sense This edited collection will be of interest to a multidisciplinary readership comprising those engaged in study teaching and research in the humanities and social sciences including anthropology the arts education linguistics literary studies philosophy psychology and semiotics
