Engage students through real world curriculum It s no accident that employers complain that newly minted graduates are out of touch with the realities of work demands Too often there is a disconnect between what is taught in the classroom and what is demanded in the workplace and students suffer the consequences Mathematics and science curricula can play a critical role in solving this dilemma In this comprehensive review of 23 exemplary curricula programs the authors offer an easy to use guide for tying curriculum to workplace experiences from a hematology laboratory to an agricultural setting to a soda bottling company these programs illustrate concrete real life situations to which students can relate and derive motivation Learn how to Meet the goals of science mathematics and technology education Meet national curriculum standards Chart key characteristics of successful curricula Connect curriculum to workplace contexts Create your own curriculum materials This book is a must for mathematics and science educators curriculum developers and supervisors and educators in school to work programs and vocational courses Distributed Leadership in Practice James P.

Spillane,John B. Diamond,2007-08-03 Distributed leadership has become an important term for educational policymakers practitioners and researchers in the United States and around the world but there is much diversity in how the term is understood Some use it as a synonym for democratic or participative leadership This book examines what it means to take a distributed perspective based on extensive research and a rich theoretical perspective developed by experts in the field Including numerous case studies of individual schools and providing empirically based accounts of school settings using a distributed perspective this thorough volume Explores how a distributed perspective is different from other frameworks for thinking about leadership Provides clear examples of how taking a distributed perspective can help researchers understand and connect more directly to leadership practice Illustrates how the day to day practice of leadership is an important line of inquiry for scholars and for those interested in improving school leadership
