Private Dispute Resolution in International Business: Handbook Klaus Peter Berger, 2006

Private Dispute Resolution in International Business Klaus Peter Berger, 2015 The third fully revised edition of Private Dispute Resolution in International Business now consists of two books and an interactive USB Card to give you easier access to this valuable information. This new multimedia project will help you analyse the various ways of resolving an international business dispute through negotiation, business mediation and international commercial arbitration. The updated and revised Handbook takes account of recent developments in the law and practice of ADR in international business. Practical and user friendly, it is complemented by the usability and graphical interface of the digital content. The print components, Case Study and Handbook, convert each theory into clear practical guidance, while the interactive electronic resources on the USB Card include more than four hours of highly realistic training videos. These will provide you with vivid simulation and documentary support down to the smallest detail. The work takes account of new case law and academic writings as well as specific subjects that have been the focus of legal practice in recent years. These include the pros and cons of best practices, the use of guerrilla tactics and the role of secretaries in international arbitration.

EU Cross-Border Commercial Mediation

Anna Howard, 2021-01-13. Despite the growing national and international regulatory framework to support cross border mediation, the use of such mediation appears to remain stubbornly low. This book focuses in particular on the European Union's EU's continued efforts to encourage the use of cross border mediation and examines why such efforts have had a limited impact. It does so by drawing on rare and at times surprising detailed insights from in house counsel of multinational companies regarding their use of EU cross border commercial mediation. By viewing mediation through the lens of disputants, new and important findings regarding why disputants do and do not use cross border mediation have emerged. While these findings are of primary relevance to EU policy and practice, they have implications far beyond the EU context at a time of increasing international interest in cross border mediation. The analysis of the insights provided by the disputants reveals, for example, the prominent role played by negotiation as a cross border dispute resolution process, that negotiation is a key comparator for disputants when considering whether to use mediation, how the EU's continued focus on understanding and presenting mediation as an alternative to litigation has resulted in measures which are insufficient to address fully the barriers to the use of mediation, intriguing barriers to the use of mediation which arise from the association which disputants draw between mediation and negotiation, how the relationship which disputants draw between mediation and negotiation paradoxically raises both opportunities for and obstacles to the increased use of mediation and what disputants need in order to increase their use of cross border mediation. The qualitative nature, by way of interviews, of the research conducted for this book has enabled the identification of nuanced and novel findings regarding mediation's position and potential in cross border dispute resolution. These findings, together with a detailed examination of the EU Directive on Certain Aspects of Mediation in Civil and Commercial Matters and the EU's continued initiatives to foster the use of mediation, form the foundation upon which this book's recommendations are built. Changing the frame to view the use of mediation through the disputants' perspective, as this book does, provides the opportunity for the EU to promote cross border mediation in a way which resonates more deeply with disputants and responds more fully to their concerns and needs This thought provoking book will be of interest not only to European and national bodies seeking to promote the use of mediation but clearly also to dispute resolution academics in house counsel and of course mediators and dispute resolution practitioners in general
