A Historical Guide to World Slavery Seymour Drescher, Stanley L. Engerman, 1998 Eminent scholars provide an overview of what we now know about slavery as an institution and way of life in cultures around the globe from ancient times to the present day Drawing on the virtual explosion of empirical research and theoretical discussion of the subject over the past thirty years many of the articles overturn conventional wisdom and illuminate little known aspects of the subject with essays on topics such as concubinage eunuchs and occupational mobility Encyclopedia of Evolution Stanley A. Rice, 2009 Evolutionary science is not only one of the greatest breakthroughs of modern science but also one of the most controversial Perhaps more than any other scientific area evolutionary science has caused us all to question what we are where we came from and how we relate to the rest of the universe Encyclopedia of Evolution contains more than 200 entries that span modern evolutionary science and the history of its development This comprehensive volume clarifies many common misconceptions about evolution For example many people have grown up being told that the fossil record does not demonstrate an evolutionary pattern and that there are many missing links In fact most of these missing links have been found and their modern representatives are often still alive today The biographical entries represent evolutionary scientists within the United States who have had and continue to have a major impact on the broad outline of evolutionary science The biographies chosen reflect the viewpoints of scientists working within the United States Five essays that explore interesting questions resulting from studies in evolutionary science are included as well The appendix consists of a summary of Charles Darwin's Origin of Species which is widely considered to be the foundational work of evolutionary science and one of the most important books in human history The five essays include How much do genes control human behavior What are the ghosts of evolution Can an evolutionary scientist be religious Why do humans die Are humans alone in the universe

The Aquarist and Pondkeeper, 1975 The Journal of the Linnean Society Linnean Society of London, 1966 Rousseau, Nature, and History Asher Horowitz, 1987 Essays on the Evolutionary Morphology of Plants Armen Leonovich Takhtadzhian, 1959 Ontogeny and Phylogeny Stephen Jay Gould, 1977-08-02

Ontogeny recapitulates phylogeny was Haeckel's answer to the wrong one to the most vexing question of nineteenth century biology what is the relationship between individual development ontogeny and the evolution of species and lineages phylogeny In this the first major book on the subject in fifty years Stephen Jay Gould documents the history of the idea of recapitulation from its first appearance among the pre-Socratics to its fall in the early twentieth century Mr Gould explores recapitulation as an idea that intrigued politicians and theologians as well as scientists He shows that Haeckel's hypothesis that human fetuses with gill slits are literally tiny fish exact replicas of their water breathing ancestors had an influence that extended beyond biology into education criminology psychoanalysis Freud and Jung were devout recapitulationists and racism The theory of recapitulation Gould argues finally collapsed not from the weight of contrary data but because the rise of Mendelian genetics rendered it untenable Turning to modern concepts Gould demonstrates that even though the whole subject of parallels between ontogeny and phylogeny fell into disrepute it is still one of the great themes of evolutionary biology Heterochrony changes in developmental timing producing parallels between ontogeny and phylogeny is shown to be crucial to an understanding of gene regulation the key to any rapprochement between molecular and evolutionary biology Gould argues that the primary evolutionary value of heterochrony may lie in immediate ecological advantages for slow or rapid maturation rather than in long term changes of form as all previous theories proclaimed Neoteny the opposite of recapitulation is shown to be the most important determinant of human evolution We have evolved by retaining the juvenile characters of our ancestors and have achieved both behavioral flexibility and our characteristic morphology thereby large brains by prolonged retention of rapid fetal growth rates for example Gould concludes that there may be nothing new under the sun but permutation of the old within complex systems can do wonders As biologists we deal directly with the kind of material complexity that confers an unbounded potential upon simple continuous changes in underlying processes This is the chief joy of our science The American Midland Naturalist ,1978 A refereed broad spectrum journal publishing basic research in diverse disciplines in biology and varied taxa Animal Evolution George Stuart Carter,1951 Canadian Journal of Zoology ,1982
