Faugeras, 2006-01-16 Abstract Biological vision is a rather fascinating domain of research Scientists of various origins like biology medicine neurophysiology engineering mathematics etc aim to understand the processes leading to visual perception process and at reproducing such systems Understanding the environment is most of the time done through visual perception which appears to be one of the most fundamental sensory abilities in humans and therefore a significant amount of research effort has been dedicated towards modelling and reproducing human visual abilities Mathematical methods play a central role in this endeavour Introduction David Marr's theory as a pioneering step towards understanding visual perception In his view human vision was based on a complete surface reconstruction of the environment that was then used to address visual subtasks This approach was proven to be insufficient by neurobiologists and complementary ideas from statistical pattern recognition and artificial intelligence were introduced to better address the visual perception problem In this framework visual perception is represented by a set of actions and rules connecting these actions The emerging concept of active vision consists of a selective visual perception paradigm that is basically equivalent to recovering from the environment the minimal piece of information required to address a particular task of interest Medical Imaging, 2004 Information Processing in Medical Imaging Attila Kuba, Martin Samal, Andrew Todd-Pokropek, 2003-05-21 The 1999 international conference on Information Processing in Medical Imaging IPMI 99 was the sixteenth in the series of biennial meetings and followed the successful meeting in Poultney Vermont in 1997 This year for the first time the conference was held in central Europe in the historical Hungarian town of Visegrád one of the most beautiful spots not only on the Danube Bend but in all Hungary The place has many historical connections both national and international The castle was once a royal palace of King Matthias In the middle ages the Hungarian Czech and Polish kings met here Recently after the summit meeting of reestablished democracies in the area it became a symbol for the cooperation between central European countries as they approached the European Union It was thus also symbolic to bring IPMI in the year of the 30th anniversary of its foundation to this place and organize the meeting with the close cooperation of local and traditional western organizers It also provided a good opportunity to summarize briefly a history of IPMI for those who were new to the IPMI conference This year we received 82 full paper submissions from all over the world Of these 24 were accepted as oral presentations These were divided into 6 sessions In spite of our efforts it was found to be impossible to make these sessions fully balanced and homogeneous
