

0.1 OVERVIEW

PDO's Health, Safety, and Environment Management System (HSE MS) is a structured approach to achieving our HSE goals, objectives, and targets, and managing the HSE risks associated with our business. PDO's Statement of General Business Principles (SGBP) and the PDO Code of Conduct describe how we conduct our business in terms of the fundamental expectations and standards which we set for ourselves. Central to the SGBP is the following statement regarding HSE at PDO:

"The Company will endeavor to conduct its business in such a way as to protect the health and safety of its employees, its contractor employees, and other persons affected by its activities, as well as to protect the environment, minimise pollution, and seek improvement in the efficient use of natural resources."

Therefore, to be properly aligned, PDO's Health, Safety, and Environmental Protection Policy (PL 04) requires that a systematic approach shall be applied to HSE management in order to achieve this endeavor.

PDO's HSE Management System provides this systematic and structured process for continual improvement in our HSE performance. It concentrates, using eight (8) management system processes, on those areas and activities with the potential to have the greatest impact on harm to people and the environment, to cause damage or loss to assets, to defer oil production, to cause financial loss, and/or to adversely impact the Company's reputation. Continual improvement within the management system is symbolized by the cyclical arrows and is an ongoing process within the entire HSE MS.

Human Factors in Traffic Safety for Highway and Traffic Engineers Alexei Tsyganov, 2025-07-01 Human Factors in Traffic Safety for Highway and Traffic Engineers provides human factors principles and findings to allow nonexperts to consider the road user's capabilities and limitations more effectively into the practice of design operations and safety. It provides data and insights on the needs, capabilities, and limitations of road users including perception and effects of visual demands, cognition, and influence of expectations on driving behavior. It bridges the gap between human factors research and practical application, presenting complex psychological insights in an accessible manner. This book begins with Part 1 explaining the significance of the traffic safety problem and giving an overview of the importance of human factors in highway design and traffic engineering. Part 2 focuses on driver information perception and processing, including perception of depth and speed, driver's visual search, how road users search for information, and how mental and information load affects drivers' performance. Part 3 provides results of investigations of traffic crash causation and reviews major driver errors. Part 4 then describes key principles of road users' considerations during highway design and traffic operation. Finally, Part 5 focuses on safety analysis and assessment and describes in detail the existing methods to evaluate human factors during safety assessments. This is a valuable resource for professionals in highway and traffic engineering, researchers, policymakers, urban planners, and students to understand how human factors contribute to traffic incidents and how to mitigate these through design and operational strategies. Combines theory and empirical evidence with practical value, giving readers the necessary background as well as practical solutions and actionable data. Translates complex psychological terminology and academic findings into accessible insights, helping practitioners to integrate human-centered design principles effectively into their projects. Provides practitioners with enhanced analytic tools for traffic safety evaluation and development of effective safety countermeasures.

Highway Safety Manual, 2010 The Highway Safety Manual (HSM) is a resource that provides safety knowledge and tools in a useful form to facilitate improved decision making based on safety performance. The focus of the HSM is to provide quantitative information for decision making. The HSM assembles currently available information and methodologies on measuring, estimating, and evaluating roadways in terms of crash frequency, number of crashes per year, and crash severity level of injuries due to crashes. The HSM presents tools and methodologies for consideration of safety across the range of highway activities: planning, programming, project development, construction, operations, and maintenance. The purpose of this is to convey present knowledge regarding highway safety information for use by a broad array of transportation professionals. p. xxiii, vol. 1

Gross,Donna Spiker,Christine W. Haynes,1997 Each year in the United States 250 000 infants are born too soon weighing too little For these low birth weight premature infants the future is uncertain since they are at risk for a variety of serious medical and developmental problems including behavioral and learning disorders that may have damaging effects for the rest of their lives The extent to which a comprehensive early intervention program could improve or prevent these adverse outcomes was examined in the Infant Health and Development Program a randomized controlled trial involving almost 1 000 infants in eight cities in the United States This book describes in detail the program its research methodology the progress of the program and the results of the clinical trial The program was administered by an interdisciplinary team composed of physicians biostatisticians child development specialists and researchers from several disciplines It was instituted upon the discharge of the infants from the neonatal nursery and was maintained for three years One third of the infants were randomly assigned to an intervention group the remainder to a follow up group Infants in both groups received pediatric care and community referral services but only those in the intervention group participated in a program that included extensive home visits attendance at a child development center and group meetings for parents The results of the program proved to be clinically important at age three the children in the intervention group had significantly higher IQ scores greater cognitive development and fewer behavioral problems The implications of the findings for public policy are equally important for there is increasing interest in the prevention early detection and management of developmental disabilities in children as evidenced by such legislation as the Education for All Children Act Strategies to minimize the problems of low birth weight children with their potential for long term savings through the prevention of disabilities and their attendant costs could have significant repercussions in such governmental areas as medical care education and social welfare      Annual Report Hawaii.
