Paso Del Norte Juan Rulfo, 1971 A major figure in the history of post Revolutionary literature in Mexico Juan Rulfo received international acclaim for his brilliant short novel Pedro Páramo 1955 and his collection of short stories El llano en llamas 1953 translated as a collection here in English for the first time In the transition of Mexican fiction from direct statements of nationalism and social protest to a concentration on cosmopolitanism the works of Rulfo hold a unique position These stories of a rural people caught in the play of natural forces are not simply an interior examination of the phenomena of their world they are written for the larger purpose of showing the actions of humans in broad terms of reality

A Rhetorical Analysis of the NAFTA Debate Arturo Zárate Ruiz, 2000 This book criticizes NAFTA rhetoric on the grounds that much of the support or opposition to the treaty was pointless it rested on the belief that men are powerless before the global trends of economy Arturo Zárate Ruiz analyzes the opinions of more than 100 organizations and politicians from Canada U S and Mexico and covers the issues of free trade labor education environment and democracy

The Fiction of Juan Rulfo Amit Thakkar, 2012 This is the first extended English language study to focus exclusively on the fiction of Juan Rulfo in over twenty years analyzing a selection of short stories from Rulfo's collection and also two of the main characters of his masterpiece Pedro Páramo This is the first extended English language study to focus exclusively on the fiction of Juan Rulfo in over twenty years It contains innovative analyses of a selection of short stories from Rulfo's collection El llano en llamas 1953 It also examines in great depth two of the main characters of Pedro Páramo 1955 Rulfo's masterpiece and only novel The book shows how Rulfo's works can be read as exercises in irony directed against the rhetoric of post Revolutionary Mexican governments It also demonstrates the relevance of certain legacies of colony in Rulfo's use of irony Successive Mexican governments promoted a vision of post Revolutionary society founded on specific notions of ethnicity family nation education religion and rural politics The author combines examination of the speeches images and newspaper articles which disseminated this vision with incisive literary analyses of Rulfo's work These analyses are informed both by his original theory of irony based on internal and external referents and by existing postcolonial theories particularly those of Homi K Bhabha Amit Thakkar is a Lecturer in Hispanic Studies at Lancaster University Style and Technique in Juan Rulfo Arthur Ramirez, 1978 The Twentieth Century Mexican Novel Under the Sign of Burning Water Teresa S. Department of Romance Languages, 2006 The Shattered Mirror María Elena de Valdés, 2010-07-05 Popular images of women in Mexico conveyed through literature and more recently film and television were long restricted to either the stereotypically submissive wife and mother or the demonized fallen woman But new representations of women and their roles in Mexican society have shattered the ideological mirrors that reflected these images This book explores this major change in the literary representation of women in Mexico María Elena de Valdés enters into a selective and hard hitting examination of literary representation in its social context and a contestatory engagement of both the literary text and its place in the social reality of Mexico Some of the topics she considers are Carlos Fuentes and the subversion of the social codes for women the poetic ties between Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz and Octavio Paz questions of female identity in the writings of Rosario Castellanos Luisa Josefina Hernández María Luisa Puga and Elena Poniatowska the Chicana writing of Sandra Cisneros and the postmodern celebration without reprobation of being a woman in Laura Esquivel's Like Water for Chocolate

Langford, 1972 Linked Histories Wendy Faith, Pamela McCallum, 2005 The essays collected from the journal ARIEL: A Review of International English Studies in Linked Histories take up some of the most pressing issues in postcolonial debates the challenges which new theories of globalization present for postcolonial studies the difficulties of rethinking how marginality might be defined in a new globalized world the problems of imagining social transformation within globalization The editors goal in bringing together this collection of articles is not to provide any definitive statement on these urgent questions rather it is to assemble a group of essays which think through the issues and which therefore has the potential to move the discipline forward

The Plain in Flames Juan Rulfo, 2012-09-01 Juan Rulfo is one of the most important writers of twentieth century Mexico though he wrote only two books the novel Pedro Páramo 1955 and the short story collection El llano en llamas 1953 First translated into English in 1967 as The Burning Plain these starkly realistic stories create a psychologically acute portrait of poverty and dignity in the countryside at a time when Mexico was undergoing rapid industrialization following the upheavals of the Revolution According to Ilan Stavans the stories depth seems almost inexhaustible with a few strokes Rulfo creates a complex human landscape defined by desolation These stories are lessons in morality They are also astonishing examples of artistic distillation To introduce a new generation of readers to Rulfo's unsurpassable literary talents this new translation repositions the collection as a classic of world literature Working from the definitive Spanish edition of El llano en llamas established by the Fundación Juan Rulfo Ilan Stavans and co translator Harold Augenbraum present fresh translations of the original fifteen stories as well as two more stories that have not appeared in English before The Legacy of Matilde Arcángel and The Day of the Collapse The translators have artfully preserved the author's peasantisms in appreciation of the distinctive voices of his characters Such careful elegiac rendering of the stories perfectly suits Rulfo's Mexico in which people on the edge of despair nonetheless retain a sense of self of integrity that will not be taken away
