Topics in Public Economics David Pines, Efraim Sadka, Itzhak Zilcha, 1998 The evolving modern world is characterized by two opposing trends integration and segregation On the one hand we witness strong forces for segregation on the basis of nationality ethnicity religion and culture in the former Soviet Union the former Czechoslovakia the former Yugoslavia as well as in Northern Ireland Spain and Canada These forces are quite strong and in some cases violent On the other hand the European Union and NAFTA represent the tendency for integration motivated primarily by economic considerations such as gains from trade and scale economies In fact these opposing trends can be explained by the concepts developed in modern club theory local public finance and international trade The Effects of Taxation on

Tax Rate for Capital Income is Negative Kenneth L. Judd,1997 We examine the problem of optimal taxation in a dynamic economy with imperfectly competitive markets We find that the optimal tax system will tend to provide subsidies for the purchase of capital goods to offset gaps between price and marginal cost The average tax on capital income will be negative even if pure profits are not taxed away and even if the alternative distortionary taxes have an infinite efficiency cost These arguments hold even if it is necessary to tax consumption goods which also sell above marginal cost the difference is that capital goods are intermediate goods and consumption goods are final goods Since observed markups are greater for equipment than for construction this analysis justifies the Investment Tax Credit's discrimination in favor of equipment over structures Taxation of Business Entities ,2007
