Palestinian Walks Forays Into A Vanishing Landscape:

Palestinian Walks Raja Shehadeh, 2008-06-03 A rare historical insight into the tragic changes taking place in Palestine Jimmy Carter From one of Palestine s leading writers a lyrical elegiac account of one man s wanderings through the landscape he loves once pristine now forever changed by settlements and walls updated with a new afterword by the author I often come to walk in these hills I said to the man who was doing all the talking and seemed to be the commander In fact I was once here with my wife it was 1999 and some of your soldiers shot at us It was over on that side the soldier pointed out I was there he said smiling When Raja Shehadeh first started hill walking in Palestine in the late 1970s he was not aware that he was traveling through a vanishing landscape In recent years his hikes have become less than bucolic and sometimes downright dangerous That is because his home is Ramallah on the Palestinian West Bank and the landscape he traverses is now the site of a tense standoff between his fellow Palestinians and settlers newly arrived from Israel In this original and evocative book we accompany Raja on six walks taken between 1978 and 2006 The earlier forays are peaceful affairs allowing our guide to meditate at length on the character of his native land a terrain of olive trees on terraced hillsides luxuriant valleys carved by sacred springs carpets of wild iris and hyacinth and ancient monasteries built more than a thousand years ago Shehadeh s love for this magical place saturates his renderings of its history and topography But latterly as seemingly endless concrete is poured to build settlements and their surrounding walls he finds the old trails are now impassable and the countryside he once traversed freely has become contested ground He is harassed by Israeli border patrols watches in terror as a young hiking companion picks up an unexploded missile and even on one occasion when accompanied by his wife comes under prolonged gunfire Amid the many and varied tragedies of the Middle East the loss of a simple pleasure such as the ability to roam the countryside at will may seem a minor matter But in Palestinian Walks Raja Shehadeh s elegy for his lost footpaths becomes a heartbreakingly metaphor for the deprivations of an entire people estranged from their land

Palestinian Walks Raja Shehadeh, 2010-07-09 Over two decades of turmoil and change in the Middle East steered via the history soaked landscape of Palestine This new edition includes a previously unpublished epigraph in the form of a walk When Raja Shehadeh first started hill walking in Palestine in the late 1970s he was not aware that he was travelling through a vanishing landscape These hills would have seemed familiar to Christ until the day concrete was poured over the flora and irreversible changes were brought about by those who claim a superior love of the land Six walks span a period of twenty six years in the hills around Ramallah in the Jerusalem wilderness and through the ravines by the Dead Sea Each walk takes place at a different stage of Palestinian history since 1982 the first in the empty pristine hills and the last amongst the settlements and the wall The reader senses the changing political atmosphere as well as the physical transformation of the landscape By recording how the land felt and looked before these calamities Raja Shehadeh attempts to preserve at least in words the Palestinian natural treasures that many Palestinians will never know Space and Mobility in

Palestine Julie Peteet, 2017-01-15 Professor Julie Peteet believes that the concept of mobility is key to understanding how place and space act as forms of power identity and meaning among Palestinians in Israel today In Space and Mobility in Palestine she investigates how Israeli policies of closure and separation influence Palestinian concerns about constructing identity the ability to give meaning to place and how Palestinians comprehend experience narrate and respond to Israeli settler colonialism Peteet's work sheds new light on everyday life in the Occupied Territories and helps explain why regional peace may be difficult to achieve in the foreseeable future Pilgrimage in the Twenty-First Century Ian S. McIntosh, Dane Munro, Alison T. Smith, Susan Dunn-Hensley, 2024-07-09 Pilgrimage in the Twenty First Century A Kaleidoscopic Inquiry showcases the rich diversity of religious and secular pilgrimage on the world stage Scholars from the Global North and South working in diverse fields in the humanities and social sciences share their research on the nature of pilgrimage otherwise known as travel for transformation providing insight into why it is one of the fastest growing segments of the worldwide tourism industry Topics under scrutiny include the ancient history of pilgrimage pilgrimage in literature the development of new trails and the refurbishment of others pilgrimage as an avenue for justice and peacebuilding as an example of intangible cultural heritage and as a unique driver of domestic economies Each chapter in this survey covering more than fifteen countries makes a significant contribution to our understanding of this age old and multi faceted phenomenon that is central to our understanding of what it means to be human

Postcolonial Life Narratives Gillian Whitlock, 2015 The Oxford Studies in Postcolonial Literatures series offers stimulating and accessible introductions to definitive topics and key genres and regions within the rapidly diversifying field of postcolonial literary studies in English Postcolonial Life Narrative draws together two dynamic fields of contemporary literature and criticism postcolonialism and life narrative to create a new assemblage postcolonial life narrative Focusing in particular on testimonial narrative from slave narrative in the late eighteenth century to contemporary Anglophone life narrative from Africa Australia the Caribbean Palestine North America and India this study follows texts on the move through adaptation appropriation and remediation For postcolonial subjects life narrative offers extraordinary opportunities to present accounts of social injustice and oppression of violence and social suffering Testimonial narrative can reach across cultures to produce intimate attachments between those who testify and those who bear witness to legacies of apartheid slavery rape warfare genocide and dispossession Thresholds of testimony are subject to change and for some for example refugees and asylum seekers opportunities to engage a witnessing public and inspire campaigns for social justice on their behalf are curtailed these are the ends of testimony The production circulation and reception of testimonial life narrative connects directly to the most fundamental questions of who counts as human what rights follow from this and what makes for grievable life Postcolonial life narrative is a dynamic field of literature and criticism and this book presents a series of proximate readings that outline its distinctive imaginative geographies

Kotef,2015-04-07 We live within political systems that increasingly seek to control movement organized around both the desire and ability to determine who is permitted to enter what sorts of spaces from gated communities to nation states In Movement and the Ordering of Freedom Hagar Kotef examines the roles of mobility and immobility in the history of political thought and the structuring of political spaces Ranging from the writings of Locke Hobbes and Mill to the sophisticated technologies of control that circumscribe the lives of Palestinians in the Occupied West Bank this book shows how concepts of freedom security and violence take form and find justification via regimes of movement Kotef traces contemporary structures of global im mobility and resistance to the schism in liberal political theory which embodied the idea of liberty in movement while simultaneously regulating mobility according to a racial classed and gendered matrix of exclusions

Hatoum,2016 This dissertation explores peoples relationship to the landscapes of material abstract and visual borders in the context of Palestine Israel Since 2002 the construction of the Israeli separation Wall in the Occupied Palestinian Territories has significantly transformed the way locals particularly on the Palestinian side of the Wall see and articulate their relation to the landscape Already living in a state of military occupation through restriction of movement limited access to land and urban expansion on occupied territory the Wall has considerably shifted Palestinians relationships to the landscape To them the landscape has become a visual field on which power dynamics and political structures are embodied and expressed Moreover for many Palestinians the Israeli construction of the Wall is visible evidence of the on going process of destruction of the Palestinian landscape But what is the view of Palestinians and Israelis living on the Israeli side of the Wall and those living in Palestine but in close proximity to the Wall What is their engagement with the Wall To answer these questions this dissertation draws on more than 12 months of ethnographic research in Israel and Palestine that involved extended interviews with Palestinian and Israeli photographers and activists in Israel as well as Palestinians whose lives were affected by the Walls construction in proximity to their homes and for whom the Wall route brought them into direct confrontation with the Israeli military This research also examined representations of the Wall in different visual projects From a theoretical perspective this dissertation asks how do visual fields facilitate the structuring of national imaginaries and what sights and future visions are offered by different readings of the landscape To answer these questions I employ anthropological theories of violence borders and the visual and propose the concept of landscapocide a violent visual process through which landscapes are framed and made to be seen and unseen Through landscapocide and other anthropologically grounded theories and concepts I offer a new reading of the ways in which people in bordered contexts give meaning to what they see
