Monsignor Quixote Graham Greene,2010-10-02 Driven away from his parish by a censorious bishop Monsignor Quixote sets off across Spain accompanied by a deposed renegade mayor as his own Sancho Panza and his noble steed Rocinante a faithful but antiquated SEAT 600 Like Cervantes's classic this comic picaresque fable offers enduring insights into our life and times    Monsignor Quixote Graham Greene,1982    Monsignor Quixote ,1988    Intercourse (Volume 2 of 2)

(EasyRead Super Large 18pt Edition) ,    New Perspectives On British Authors Rama Kundu,2006 The irresistible and eternal attraction of an island has surfaced in literature as a varied range of tropes the domain of strange fantastic creatures flora and fauna an Other since the ancient times epitome of the charm of the distant in the romantic era real geographical spaces since the era of sea voyaging discovery and re mapping of islands with the emergence of imperialism new meanings arising from the new imperial discourse in the postcolonial era the islanders themselves writing back to the mainstream canon Today we have a great harvest of island literature arising out of various discourses including postcolonial postimperial feminist ecological cultural etc in addition to unique works on island arising from individual perceptions philosophical imaginative emotional nostalgic etc A study of island literature across ages and lands thus can introduce us not only to a vast spectrum of ideas approaches contemplation ideation discourses and counter discourses But also to a wide network of inter references in which authors across lands and ages from Homer to Shakespeare Defoe Swift Ballantyneto Golding Coetzee Virginia Woolf to Margaret Atwood Rhys Walcott Eco Saramago seem to reach out to one another and shake hands A basic perceptual difference between the outsider and the insider as they behold their encircled space has contributed to great counterpoints compulsive confinement challenge of survival thrill of discovery satisfaction of possession love claustrophobia desire to escape desire to return and repossess etc which writers have brought to correspond to a wide range of contrapuntal discourses It has been envisioned as the exclusive space for the artist the woman as time's backwater as the magic realm of the surreal hyperreal fantasia etc Island has come to semiotize a wide range of tropes and significations It appears that if island is a signifier then the signified are endless Indeed the island paradigm seems to be like a magic crystal reflecting innumerable strands and shades of meanings depending on the way you looked at it The subject involves an area of oceanic vastness starting from the coast of the ancient ages right into the ports of the modern and postmodern times The area has been ever spreading and vibrant texts have been sprawling all the time sprouting newer branches accumulating newer layers of meaning and striking newer depths of perception and insight This book an outcome of the UGC Emeritus Fellowship has been an attempt to scoop up a few of these infinite infinities of islands as they are presented and projected in texts across ages and spaces starting from Valmiki and Homer and continuing into the postmodern islands of Jose Saramago and Umberto Eco    Intercourse Andrea Dworkin,2009-09-14 Intercourse is a book that moves through the sexed world of dominance and submission It moves in descending circles not in a straight line and as in a vortex each spiral goes down deeper Its formal model is Dante's Inferno its lyrical debt is to Rimbaud the equality it envisions is rooted in the dreams of women silent generations pioneer voices lone rebels and masses who agitated demanded cried out broke laws and even begged The begging was a substitute for retaliatory violence doing bodily harm back to those who use or injure you I want women to be done with begging The public censure of women as if we are rabid because we speak without apology about the world in which we live is a strategy of threat that usually works Men often react to women's words speaking and writing as if they were acts of violence sometimes men react to women's words with violence So we lower our voices Women whisper Women apologize Women shut up Women trivialize what we know Women shrink Women pull back Most women have experienced enough dominance from men control violence insult contempt that no threat seems empty Intercourse does not say forgive me and love me It does not say I forgive you I love you For a woman writer to thrive or arguably to survive in these current hard times forgiveness and love must be subtext No I say no Intercourse is search and assertion passion and fury and its form no less than its content deserves critical scrutiny and respect PREFACE The Month ,1986 Monsignor Quixote

Graham Greene,1989-04-01 Promoted to the rank of Monsignor Quixote and his friend Sancho the ex Mayor of El Toboso and an avid communist set off on their travels Graham Greene, the Search for Belief Sushil Kumar Sharma,1990 Graham Greene Michael G. Brennan,2010-03-18 In this significant rereading of Graham Greene's writing career Michael Brennan explores the impact of major issues of Catholic faith and doubt on his work particularly in relation to his portrayal of secular love and physical desire and examines the religious and secular issues and plots involving trust betrayal love and despair Although Greene's female characters have often been underestimated Brennan argues that while sometimes abstract symbolic and two dimensional these figures often prove central to an understanding of the moral personal and spiritual dilemmas of his male characters Finally he reveals how Greene was one of the most generically ambitious writers of the twentieth century experimenting with established forms but also believing that the career of a successful novelist should incorporate a great diversity of other categories of writing Offering a new and original perspective on the reading of Greene's literary works and their importance to English twentieth century fiction this will be of interest to anyone studying Greene

Bowker's Guide to Characters in Fiction 2007 ,2008-02 The Incarnation of Freedom and Love Ruth Page,1993 In this fresh contribution to the ongoing search for paradigms and idioms other than the classical Christian tradition Page employs the categories of drama and theater to build a christology grounded in the God who became incarnate in freedom and love This singular contribution to christological studies features conversations with contemporary theologians and dramatists

A Rhetoric for a Formation of Intention Edward R. Heidt,1995 Marshaling current research in philosophy psychology theology and linguistics Heidt's challenging study focuses on the rhetorical process of intentionality as it is represented in literature Offering a new multi disciplinary approach to the question Heidt searches texts for linguistic rhetorical elements independent of reader and author yet supporting intentional truths The first part of the argument locates the question within contemporary biological philosophical psychological and theological discourse In the second part Heidt offers a close reading of narratives by De Quincey Chaucer Graham Greene and Fielding and presents physiological behavioral as well as linguistic evidence of a formation of intention in the texts A careful demonstration of the rhetorical character of intention A Rhetoric for a Formation of Intention will prove thought provoking reading for all scholars interested in discursive practice in sciences as well as in the humanities

The British Character, Studied and Revealed Pont, 1982 Canadian Books in Print, 1991 Lonely Without God, 2008 This discussion of Graham Greene's faith uses Monsignor Quixote one of Greene's later novels as a departure point to discuss the author's faith in both secular and divine terms The scholars involved in this project wanted to explore innocence and experience peace and war love and hate in Greene's richly human literary tapestry Greene's Christianity or lack of it is explored as are his major novels and their often bleak and tatty settings The novels discussed include Brighton Rock The Power and the Glory The End of the Affair The Honorary Consul Dr Fischer of Geneva and of course Monsignor Quixote
