The Blue House Sky Gilbert,2025-08-16 What is the cause and drive of the impulse to create art What happens to an individual who is gifted with talent but finds himself thwarted Does that creative spark become some kind of death wish These are the questions Sky Gilbert explores in The Blue House Taking the form of a memoir the novel relates the story of Rupert Goldmann a cello virtuoso by the age of twelve who becomes a composer and whose life collapses into depression and possible madness when no orchestra will perform his symphonies Rupert s musical life includes years of lessons from the great pianist Vladimir Horowitz who flirts awkwardly and ineffectually with Rupert and a full fledged romance with the celebrity composer and conductor Leonard Bernstein But as his life narrows Rupert finds himself immersed in dreams and fantasies which are interrupted by a superficial and talentless gay rights activist and theatre director and Simon Reycraft an early explorer of artificial intelligence who offers the suicidal Goldmann a legacy of computer generated music posing a significant question for our times Can art be created by a machine technology without a soul Rupert Goldmann's memoirs trace the story of his life as a child prodigy cello virtuoso his flirtations and relationships his experiences as an unrewarded composer and his eventual much interrupted attempt to retreat into the world of his imagination Depression and Narrative Hilary Clark, 2008-10-09 Depression and Narrative examines stories of depression in the context of recent scholarship on illness and narrative which up to this point has largely focused on physical illness and disability Contributors from a number of disciplinary perspectives address these narrative accounts of depression by both sufferers and those who treat them as they appear in memoirs diaries novels poems oral interviews fact sheets blogs films and television shows Together they explore the stories we tell about depression its contested causes its gendering the transformations in identity that it entails and the problems it presents for communication associated as it is with stigma and shame Unlike certain physical illnesses such as cancer depression is stigmatized sometimes as a nonproblem the sufferer should snap out of it and sometimes as the slippery slope to madness Thus depression narratives have their work cut out for them This book highlights the work these stories do including bringing meaning to sufferers explaining depression justifying therapies and treatments and reducing the burden of shame accounting for a suffering that is in the end unaccountable
