My Pantry Homemade Ingredients That Make Simple Meals Your Own:

My Pantry Alice Waters, Fanny Singer, 2015-09-15 In this collection of essays and recipes Alice Waters showcases the simple building block ingredients she uses to create gratifying impromptu meals all year long. In her most intimate and compelling cookbook yet Alice invites readers to step not into the kitchen at Chez Panisse but into her own sharing how she shops stores and prepares the pantry staples and preserves that form the core of her daily meals. Ranging from essentials like homemade chicken stock red wine vinegar and tomato sauce to the unique artisanal provisions that embody Alice's unadorned yet delightful cooking style she shows how she injects even simple meals with nuanced flavor and seasonal touches year round. From fresh cheeses to quick pickles to sweets and spirits these often used ingredients are as she explains the key to kitchen spontaneity when combined with simple grains vegetables and other staple items. With charming pen and ink illustrations by her daughter Fanny and Alice's warm inviting tone the latest book from our most influential proponent of simple organic cooking ensures a gracious healthy meal is always within reach.

Six Women Who Shaped What Americans Eat Michelle Mart, 2025-07-15 Six Women Who Shaped What Americans Eat tells the story of how food choice in modern America has been influenced by culture industrial abundance and health narratives. Mart reflects on the careers of six women to illustrate the varied and overlapping influences on food choice. Each of these women had a substantial impact on American cuisine attitudes toward food and what people chose to eat. They highlighted the politics of food the pleasure of food the connection between food and health and the environmental harm of poor food choices. Part one of the book discusses the bounties of the modern American food system and covers Hazel Stiebeling Poppy Cannon and Julia Child. Stiebeling was a chemist and government nutritionist beginning in the 1930s and shaped dietary guidelines and school lunches that affected generations of Americans. Cannon a best selling cookbook author and newspaper columnist gained fame in the 1950s by preaching the wonders of processed food. Child another cookbook author and television personality starting in the 1960s celebrated French cuisine and made it accessible to American cooks and palates. Part two examines the hidden costs of abundance and covers Frances Moore Lapp Marion Nestle and Alice Waters. Lapp was an author and activist concerned with the environmental impact of food in the late 20th century and who is credited with bringing vegetarianism into the mainstream. Nestle was an academic nutritionist government consultant and author who decried the undue influence of food corporations. Waters a celebrity chef restauranteur and food activist became a symbol of alternative food movements in the 21st century. Provided by publisher.

Pure Food Paul Collinson, Helen Macbeth, 2023-07-14 In presenting a variety of theoretical and cross cultural perspectives on pure food this volume demonstrates similarities and variations in cultural beliefs behaviours and practices in different societies. These in turn highlight that pure food is a common issue for humanity whatever the society whatever the era. As a subject with much contemporary and cross disciplinary relevance Pure Food will appeal to students and academics involved in any food related discipline to professional practitioners promoting healthier

We Are What We Eat Alice

Waters,2021-06-01 From chef and food activist Alice Waters an impassioned plea for a radical reconsideration of the way each and every one of us cooks and eats In We Are What We Eat Alice Waters urges us to take up the mantle of slow food culture the philosophy at the core of her life s work When Waters first opened Chez Panisse in 1971 she did so with the intention of feeding people good food during a time of political turmoil Customers responded to the locally sourced organic ingredients to the dishes made by hand and to the welcoming hospitality that infused the small space human qualities that were disappearing from a country increasingly seduced by takeout frozen dinners and prepackaged ingredients Waters came to see that the phenomenon of fast food culture which prioritized cheapness availability and speed was not only ruining our health but also dehumanizing the ways we live and relate to one another Over years of working with regional farmers Waters and her partners learned how geography and seasonal fluctuations affect the ingredients on the menu as well as about the dangers of pesticides the plight of fieldworkers and the social economic and environmental threats posed by industrial farming and food distribution So many of the serious problems we face in the world today from illness to social unrest to economic disparity and environmental degradation are all at their core connected to food Fortunately there is an antidote Waters argues that by eating in a slow food way each of us like the community around her restaurant can be empowered to prioritize and nurture a different kind of culture one that champions values such as biodiversity seasonality stewardship and pleasure in work This is a declaration of action against fast food values and a working theory about what we can do to change the course As Waters makes clear every decision we make about what we put in our mouths affects not only our bodies but also the world at large our families our communities and our environment We have the power to choose what we eat and we have the potential for individual and global transformation simply by shifting our relationship to food All it takes is a taste
