Soldiers and Diplomacy in Burma Renaud Eggereteau,Larry Jagan,2013-06-10 Soldiers and Diplomacy addresses the key question of the ongoing role of the military in Burma's foreign policy. The authors a political scientist and a former top Asia editor for the BBC provide a fresh perspective on Burma's foreign and security policies which have shifted between proactive diplomacies of neutralism and non alignment and autarkical policies of isolation and xenophobic nationalism. They argue that important elements of continuity underlie Burma's striking postcolonial policy changes and contrasting diplomatic practices. Among the defining factors here are the formidable dominance of the Burmese armed forces over state structure the enduring domestic political conundrum and the peculiar geography of a country located at the crossroads of India China and Southeast Asia. Eggereteau and Jagan argue that the Burmese military still has the tools needed to retain their praetorian influence over the country's foreign policy in the post junta context of the 2010s. For international policymakers potential foreign investors and Burma's immediate neighbors this will have strong implications in terms of the country's foreign policy approach.

South Asia in Global Power Rivalry Imtiaz Hussain,2019-06-07 This edited volume examines global power rivalry in and around South Asia through Bangladeshi lenses using imperfect and overlapping interest concentric circles as a template. Dynamics from three transitions the United States exiting the Cold War China emerging as a global level power and India's eastern interests squaring off with China's Belt Road Initiative BRI help place China India and the United States in alphabetical order in Bangladesh's inner most circle China India and the United States in a mid stream circle and the United States and Latin America among other countries in the outer most circle depending on the issue. In an atmosphere of short term gains over riding long term considerations the desperate widespread search for infrastructural funding inside South Asia enhances China's value raises local heat releases new challenges with costly default consequences looming issue specific analysis overtaking formal bilateral relations and a stubborn uncertainty riddling the Bangladeshi air as its policy preferences stubbornly show more certainty.

Myanmar/Burma Alexis Rieffel,2010 Examines internal issues of Myanmar also known as Burma as well as the country's relations with its neighbors and the United States discussing the Obama administration's policy of pragmatic engagement which links the removal of sanctions to implementation of greater freedom and respect of human rights Original

Myanmar/Burma Lex Rieffel,2010-10-01 Burma had the brightest prospects of any Southeast Asian nation after World War II. In the years since however it has dropped to the bottom of the world's socioeconomic ladder. The grossly misruled nation officially known as Myanmar is in the midst of a political transition based on a new constitution and its first multiparty elections in twenty years. That transition together with a recent change in U S policy prompted this book. Two military dictators have ruled Myanmar with an iron fist for nearly fifty years. A popular uprising in 1988 was brutally suppressed but it forced the generals to hold an election in 1990. When an anti regime party led by Nobel Peace Prize Laureate Aung San Suu Kyi won by a landslide however the generals rejected the results put Suu Kyi under house arrest for most of two decades and continued to exploit the country's abundant resources for their own benefit while depriving citizens of basic services. Years of Western sanctions had no measurable impact but in 2009 the Obama administration adopted a new policy of pragmatic engagement encouraging greater respect of democratic principles and human rights as a basis for eventual removal of sanctions. This thoughtful volume examines Burma today primarily through the eyes of its ASEAN partners, its superpower neighbors China and India and its own people. It provides insights into the overarching problem of national reconciliation, the strategic competition between China and India, the role of ASEAN and the underperforming resource cursed economy. Routledge Handbook of the Environment in Southeast Asia Philip Hirsch, 2016-09-13 The environment is one of the defining issues of our times and it is closely linked to questions and dilemmas surrounding economic development. Southeast Asia is one of the world's most economically and demographically dynamic regions and it is also one in which a host of environmental issues raise themselves. The Routledge Handbook of the Environment in Southeast Asia is a collection of 30 chapters dealing with the most significant scholarly debates in this rapidly growing field of study. Structured in four main parts it gives a comprehensive regional overview of and insight into the environment in Southeast Asia. Wide ranging and balanced this handbook promotes scholarly understanding of how environmental issues are dealt with from diverse theoretical perspectives. It offers a detailed empirical understanding of the myriad environmental problems and challenges faced in Southeast Asia. This is the first publication of its kind in this field a helpful companion for a global audience and for scholars of Southeast Asian studies from a variety of disciplines

Revisioning India's North-East through the Look East Policy Sayantani Sen Mazumdar, 2025-10-27 North East India is the epitome of diverse and rich cultural heritage of India and has the credibility of being the harbinger of economic progress through a comprehensive manoeuvring of cultural exchanges with South East Asian neighbours. The inherent potential and the prospects are adequately nurtured and utilized by India's Look East Policy for a better future of the region. This book proposes to contextualize and inquire into the development of the North East of India with reference to the Look East policy. This volume is the outcome of more than eight years study on India's Look East Policy and its implications on the North East region and is indispensable for scholars working on South East Asia

A Fool's Paradise? Ethnicity, Military and Prospects for Democratisation in Myanmar Findley Penn-Hughes, 2014-10-08 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2013 in the subject Politics Region Far East grade 68 Durham University School of Government International Affairs course Politics language English abstract State and military power have been formally fused in Myanmar since the military coup of 1962. Colonial and pre colonial experiences prior to this had ensured the creation of a national narrative that emphasised unity and the survival of the regime above all else. This led to the slow infiltration of military rule in the years following independence in 1948 and ultimately to the decades of authoritarian rule and economic mismanagement exacerbated by economic sanctions. As the rest of the region began its post-colonial transition towards democracy and prosperity brutal military crackdowns and reprisals following populist uprisings in 1988 and 2007 seemed only to confirm Myanmar's resilience. Following the suppression of the 2007 uprising it appeared that the hold of the military junta was absolute. The announcement in 2008 by the ruling State Peace and Development Council (SPDC) of wide ranging reforms as part of the roadmap to democracy thus represented the greatest hope of democratic reform for half a century. Following the enactment of constitutional reforms and trumpeted elections in 2010 the state now represents an ostensibly democratic constitutional system. Throughout early 2011 the newly formed civilian government released over 700 political prisoners oversaw a relaxation of media censorship and legalised the right to unionisation in conjunction with a re emergence of opposition politics. This essay examines how the cross over between the issues of ethnicity in Myanmar and the perceived role of the military among the military establishment as the sole protectors of the unity of the Union of Myanmar act to create political stagnation in the country. By conducting the political process on their terms the military is ensuring that opposition politics is robbed of the political space with which to address the ethnic nationalities head on. The NLD is now the only group that has the cultural and political capacity to do this. In its continuous failure to do so it may yet plunge Myanmar into a period of political instability once again.

Historical Dictionary of Burma \(Myanmar\) Donald M. Seekins, 2017-03-27

Burma/Myanmar is a Southeast Asian country that is emerging from crisis after more than a half century of hard line military rule and cultural, diplomatic and economic isolation. With the dissolution of its military regime the State Peace and Development Council in 2011 a formally civilian but military dominated constitutional government was inaugurated. By 2012 Burma's president retired General Thein Sein had established a working relationship with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi the leader of the country's pro democracy movement since 1988 and after a 2012 by election she and members of her opposition party the National League for Democracy (NLD) entered the new Union Parliament as legislators. However even with the election victory of Daw Suu Kyi and the NLD in the General Election of November 2015 Burma faces daunting challenges it is still one of the poorest countries in Southeast Asia fissured by longstanding ethnic conflicts that have made a nationwide peace agreement elusive and its people's security and the environment are threatened by foreign economic exploitation. Religious discord is also widely evident as Buddhist militants instigate violence against the country's religious minorities especially Muslims. Today Burma's prospects are the most hopeful they have been for over half a century as the country takes steps along the road to a more open society and economy. This edition of the Historical Dictionary of Burma/Myanmar encompasses not only current developments but also Burma's over 1 500 years old recorded history and the most important features of its cultures, ethnicity, religions, society and economy. This is done through
