

The image features the iCloud logo. On the left, there is a stylized blue cloud composed of three overlapping circles. To the right of the cloud, the word "iCloud" is written in a large, bold, black sans-serif font. The letters are slightly rounded and have a thin white outline. The "i" is lowercase and positioned to the left of the "C".

ValueWeb Chris Skinner, 2016-01-15 The Internet of Things is all about machines trading with machines: your fridge orders groceries, your car fuel, your television entertainment, and so on. However, machines cannot trade with machines if it's expensive and slow. Would you really want your TV to order the next season of Games of Thrones if the payment took ten days and cost 25 or more? Unfortunately, with the way the bank system works today, that is the problem we face today. As a result, we need an Internet of Value to work with the Internet of Things. The Internet of Value, or ValueWeb, for short, allows machines to trade with machines and people with people anywhere on this planet in real time and for free Using a combination of technologies from mobile devices to bitcoin and the blockchain fintech firms are building the ValueWeb The question then is what does this mean for financial institutions governments and citizens This book provides the answers
