Academic Lives Cynthia G. Franklin, 2009 Since the early 1990s there has been a proliferation of memoirs by tenured humanities professors Although the memoir form has been discussed within the flourishing field of life writing academic memoirs have received little critical scrutiny Based on close readings of memoirs by such academics as Michael B rub Cathy N Davidson Jane Gallop bell hooks Edward Said Eve Sedgwick Jane Tompkins and Marianna Torgovnick Academic Lives considers why so many professors write memoirs and what cultural capital they carry Cynthia G Franklin finds that academic memoirs provide unparalleled ways to unmask the workings of the academy at a time when it is dealing with a range of crises including attacks on intellectual freedom discontentment with the academic star system and budget cuts Franklin considers how academic memoirs have engaged with a core of defining concerns in the humanities identity politics and the development of whiteness studies in the 1990s the impact of postcolonial studies feminism and concurrent anxieties about pedagogy and disability studies and the struggle to bring together discourses on the humanities and human rights The turn back toward humanism that Franklin finds in some academic memoirs is surreptitious or frankly nostalgic others however posit a wide ranging humanism that seeks to create space for advocacy in the academic and other institutions in which we are all unequally located These memoirs are harbingers for the critical turn to explore interrelations among humanism the humanities and human rights struggles

Denniston, Frederick Mansfield Hodges, Marilyn Fayre Milos, 2013-03-09 Who owns your sex organs? Different cultures today and in different epochs have given a variety of answers to this question. It may seem self evident that every individual owns and has sovereignty over his or her own body parts such as the head, legs, nose, stomach, pancreas and other body parts. The sex organs however seem to be an exception. Even though they are as much an integral part of the individual as a leg or a liver, the sex organs are unique in that many cultures have established laws and taboos over the use and even the mere display of the sex organs. Thus certain cultures have placed constraints over the individual's ownership of his or her sex organs and actively regulate and restrict the individual's access and use of those organs. In other cultures the question of ownership of the sex organs is more decisively answered. In any culture where circumcision to any degree of either the male or female is practiced, permitted, encouraged or even merely tolerated, it is clear that the individual is not considered to own his own sex organs. In the United States today the medical establishment has created an environment where it is considered acceptable and desirable that anyone for any reason can authorize or execute the amputation of the foreskin from a male child's penis. Get Well Soon, the 8 Habits of Healthy People Matt McConnell, 2009-06-01 Your health can't be found in a pill, a doctor's office or a drug store. There are no magic potions that create health and there are no silver bullets that destroy it. The truth is your habits determine your health. As a result focusing on adopting healthier habits has a far greater impact on health than anything else that you can do. Get Well Soon: The 8 Habits of Healthy People details the habits that determine your health and provides a simple system for making them a routine part of your life. Harcourt Health & Fitness; Grade 5 Harcourt, Harcourt School Publishers, 2003-04 Harcourt Health and Fitness grades K-6 is a brand new program designed to help students develop positive behaviors and attitudes that lead to a lifetime of good health. Medical Terminology: The Body Speedy Study Guides Speedy Publishing, 2014-07-21 Having a Medical Terminology Book is a good reference to have for one's library. It helps people to better understand the health conditions they may have and those of loved ones because medical jargon can be unclear and confusing.
