Motive Question: Have you ever felt different from others, even when doing the same activities as them? How did that make you feel?

Motivation Question: Let us find out how the character felt different from others and how that shaped their experiences in school and with friends.

Questions for Discussion:

1. What activities does the boy mention that make him feel "ordinary"?
2. Why does the boy wish for a normal face?
3. How might the boy's feelings about being different affect his interactions with classmates?
4. What differences can you identify between the boy's perception of himself and how others perceive him?
5. How do the boy's parents contribute to his feelings of being extraordinary? Do you think this is helpful or harmful? Why?

Group 1: Short Skit

Create a quick skit (1-2 minutes) that shows the boy's feelings about being different, including interactions with Via or his parents.

Group 2: Quote Creation

Come up with an original quote that reflects the boy's experience in the story. Write it on a poster and be ready to explain its significance.

Group 3: Drawing of a Face

Draw two faces on a piece of paper; one representing how the boy feels inside and another showing how others perceive him. Be prepared to discuss your drawings.

Group 4: Timeline Creation

Create a simple timeline on a piece of paper that highlights key events in the boy's life that contribute to his feelings of being different. Share your timeline with the class.

Group 5: Emotion Charades

Act out different emotions the boy feels throughout the story without speaking. Your classmates will guess the emotions being portrayed.

"Be Yourself. Accept and love who you are, even if you're different from others. True worth comes from inside, and everyone should be appreciated for who they are, not just for their appearance. Having support from family and friends can help us deal with feeling different."

Ordinary

I know I'm not an ordinary ten-year-old kid. I mean, sure, I do ordinary things. I eat ice cream. I ride my bike. I play ball. I have an Xbox. Stuff like that makes me ordinary. I guess. And I feel ordinary, inside. But I know ordinary kids don't make other ordinary kids run away screaming in playgrounds. I know ordinary kids don't get stared at whenever they go. If I found a magic lamp and I could have one wish, I would wish that I had a normal face that no one ever noticed at all. I would wish that I could walk down the street without people seeing me and then doing that look-away thing. Here's what I think the only reason I'm not ordinary is that no one else sees me that way. But I'm kind of used to how I look by now. I know how to pretend I don't see the faces people make. We've all gotten pretty good at that sort of thing: me, Mom and Dad, Via. Actually, I take that back: Via's not so good at it. She can get really annoyed when people do something rude. Like, for instance, one time in the playground some older kids made some noises. I don't even know what the noises were exactly because I didn't hear them myself, but Via heard and she just started yelling at the kids. That's the way she is. I'm not that way. Via doesn't see me as ordinary. She says she does, but if I were ordinary, she wouldn't feel like she needs to protect me as much. And Mom and Dad don't see me as ordinary, either. They see me as extraordinary. I think the only person in the world who realizes how ordinary I am is me.

My name is August, by the way. I won't describe what I look like. Whatever you're thinking, it's probably worse.
