Military Workfare Military Workfare:

Military Workfare Deborah Cowen, 2008-04-19 Despite the centrality of war in social and political thought the military remains marginal in academic and public conceptions of citizenship and the soldier seems to be thought of as a peripheral or even exceptional player Military Workfare draws on five decades of restricted archival material and critical theories on war and politics to examine how a military model of work discipline domestic space and the social self has redefined citizenship in the wake of the Second World War It is also a study of the complex often concealed ways in which organized violence continues to shape national belonging What does the military have to do with welfare Could war work be at the centre of social rights in both historic and contemporary contexts Deborah Cowen undertakes such important questions with the citizenship of the soldier front and centre in the debate Connecting global geopolitics to intimate struggles over entitlement and identity at home she challenges our assumptions about the national geographies of citizenship proposing that the soldier has in fact long been the model citizen of the social state Paying particular attention to the rise of neoliberalism and the emergence of civilian workfare Military Workfare looks to the institution of the military to unsettle established ideas about the past and raise new questions about our collective future

Green Card Soldier Sofya Aptekar, 2023-05-02 An in depth and troubling look at a little known group of immigrants non citizen soldiers who enlist in the US military While the popular image of the US military is one of citizen soldiers protecting their country the reality is that nearly 5 percent of all first time military recruits are noncitizens Their reasons for enlisting are myriad but many are motivated by the hope of gaining citizenship in return for their service In Green Card Soldier Sofya Aptekar talks to more than seventy noncitizen soldiers from twenty three countries including some who were displaced by conflict after the US military entered their homeland She identifies a disturbing pattern the US military's intervention in foreign countries drives migration which in turn supplies the military with a cheap and desperate labor pool thereby perpetuating the cycle As Aptekar discovers serving in the US military is no guarantee against deportation and yet the promise of citizenship and the threat of deportation are the carrot and stick used to discipline noncitizen soldiers Viewed at various times as security threats and members of a model minority immigrant soldiers sometimes face intense discrimination from their native born colleagues and superiors Their stories stitched through with colonial legacies white supremacy exploitation and patriarchy show how the tensions between deservingness and suspicion shape their enlistment service and identities Giving voice to this little heard group of immigrants Green Card Soldier shines a cold light on the complex workings of US empire globalized militarism and citizenship

Schools Under Surveillance Torin Monahan, Rodolfo D Torres, 2009-10-13 Schools under Surveillance gathers together some of the very best researchers studying surveillance and discipline in contemporary public schools Surveillance is not simply about monitoring or tracking individuals and their data it is about the structuring of power relations through human technical or hybrid control mechanisms Essays cover a broad range of topics including police and military recruiters on campus testing and accountability regimes such as No Child Left Behind and efforts by students and teachers to circumvent the most egregious forms of surveillance in public education Each contributor is committed to the continued critique of the disparity and inequality in the use of surveillance to target and sort students along lines of race class and gender

Strengthening the Canadian Armed Forces through Diversity and Inclusion Alistair Edgar, Rupinder Mangat, Bessma Momani, 2019-11-20 The Canadian Armed Forces has not always embraced diversity and inclusion but its future depends on it As the country's demographic makeup changes its military must adapt to a new multicultural reality and diminishing pools of people from which it can recruit Canada's population is increasingly urbanized immigrant and not necessarily Christian white or bilingual To attract and retain CAF personnel the military will have to embrace and champion diversity while demonstrating that it is inclusive Using a number of cases to highlight both challenges and opportunities Strengthening the Canadian Armed Forces through Diversity and Inclusion provides a timely look at an established Canadian institution in a rapidly changing world The editors explore how Canadian Muslim youth LGBTQ individuals women racialized minorities Indigenous communities and people of non Christian faiths see their experiences in the CAF While diversity is a reality inclusion is still a work in progress for the Canadian Armed Forces as it is for society at large The Canadian Rangers P. Whitney Lackenbauer, 2013-05-01 The Canadian Rangers stand sentinel in the farthest reaches of our country For more than six decades this dedicated group of citizen soldiers has quietly served as Canada's eyes ears and voice in isolated coastal and northern communities Drawing on official records interviews and participation in Ranger exercises Lackenbauer argues that the organization offers an inexpensive way for Canada to show the flag from coast to coast to coast The Rangers have also laid the foundation for a successful partnership between the modern state and Aboriginal peoples a partnership rooted in local knowledge and crosscultural understanding
