

Family Engagement in Black Students' Academic Success

This timely volume presents powerful stories told by Black families and students who have successfully negotiated a racially fraught, affluent, and diverse suburban school district in America, to illustrate how they have strategically contested sanctioned racist practices and forged a path for students to achieve a high-quality education.

Drawing on rich qualitative data collected through interviews and interactions with parents and kin, students, community activists, and educators, Family Engagement in Black Students' Academic Success chronicles how pride in Black American family history and values, students' personal capabilities, and their often collective, proactive challenges to systemic and personal racism shape students' academic engagement. Familial and collective cultural wealth of the Black community emerges as a central driver in students' successful achievement. Finally, the text puts forward key recommendations to demonstrate how incorporating the knowledge and voices of Black families in school decision making, remaining critically conscious of race and racial history in everyday actions and longer term policy, and pursuing collective strategies for social justice in education, will help eliminate current opportunity gaps, and will counteract the master narrative of underachievement ever-present in America.

This volume will be of interest to students, scholars, and academics with an interest in matters of social justice, equity, and equality of opportunity in education for Black Americans. In addition, the text offers key insights for school authorities in building effective working relationships with Black American families to support the high achievement of Black students in K-12 education.

Meaningful and Active Family Engagement: IEP, Transition and Technology Integration in Special Education Musyoka, Millicent M., Shen, Guofeng,2023-09-18

In the domain of education the crucial connection between families and professionals faces obstacles that create a gap undermining student success The conventional family engagement model falls short as the concept of family broadens to encompass various individuals influencing a child's learning path Despite recognized significance backed by research and federal mandates systemic barriers persist disproportionately impacting culturally linguistically and economically diverse families Furthermore the absence of a unified resource that integrates disability diversity and technology exacerbates these issues leaving educators unprepared to establish fair educational settings Offering a groundbreaking solution Millicent Musyoka's research book titled Meaningful and Active Family Engagement IEP Transition and Technology Integration in Special Education disrupts the existing norm and redefines family engagement Through this pioneering work both scholars and educators gain a comprehensive manual for navigating the intricate terrain of inclusive education Musyoka's expertise spanning multilingualism multicultural education and special education equips readers with strategies to bridge the divide between professionals and families By highlighting legislative foundations and validated theories the book offers a roadmap to transform engagement into purposeful collaboration Meaningful and Active Family Engagement IEP Transition and Technology Integration in Special Education covers diverse topics including involving diverse families and those with disabilities and integrating technology for effective communication Through case studies conflict resolution insights and appreciation of diversity's benefits Musyoka empowers readers to foster inclusive educational environments The book's innovation lies in its comprehensive approach addressing disability diversity and technology as interlinked components Academics educators and service providers will discover this resource as transformative a pivotal stride toward achieving equity social justice and enhanced student outcomes

Students at Risk of School Failure José Jesús Gázquez, José Carlos Núñez, 2018-10-18 The main objective of this Research Topic is to determine the conditions that place students at risk of school failure identifying student and context variables In spite of the fact that there is currently little doubt about how one learns and how to teach in some countries of the developed world there is still there is a high rate of school failure Although the term school failure is a very complex construct insofar as its causes consequences and development from the field of educational psychology the construct student engagement has recently gained special interest in an attempt to deal with the serious problem of school failure School engagement builds on the anatomy of the students involvement in school and describes their feelings behaviors and thoughts about their school experiences So engagement is an important component of students school experience with a close relationship to achievement and school failure Children who self set academic goals attend school regularly and on time behave well in class complete their homework and study at home are likely to interact adequately with the school social and physical environments and perform well in school In contrast children who miss school are more likely to display disruptive behaviors in class miss homework frequently exhibit violent behaviors on the playground fail subjects be retained and if the behaviors persist quit school Moreover engagement should also be considered as an important school outcome eliciting more or less supportive reactions from educators For example children who display school engaged behaviors are likely to receive motivational and instructional support from their teachers The opposite may also be true But what makes student engage more or less The relevant literature indicates that personal variables e g sensory motor neurodevelopmental cognitive motivational emotional behavior problems learning difficulties addictions social and or cultural variables e g negative family conditions child abuse cultural deprivation ethnic conditions immigration or school variables e g coexistence at school bullying cyberbullying may concurrently hinder engagement preventing the student from acquiring the learnings in the same conditions as the rest of the classmates

Resources for Readers and Application Activities at the end of each chapter The book will be a key resource for preservice and in service teachers administrators and teacher educators English Language Learners in the Southeastern United States Ester J. de Jong, Eric Dwyer, Mary Elizabeth Wilson-Patton, 2024-07-25 This book examines the impact of and response to the rapidly growing English language learner ELL populations in the southeastern United States on K-12 schooling. Using examples of policy and practice from seven states Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, and Tennessee, the book explores how the contemporary context of accountability regimes and neoliberal tenets affect educational responses to the increased linguistic and cultural diversity in schools and how these realities may be different from when traditional states such as California or Florida were developing their responses to immigration. The collection of chapters addresses key questions of teacher preparation, effective infrastructures and frameworks for serving ELLs, dual language bilingual education, and advocacy efforts at the state, district, and local level in the Southeast. The authors describe promising practices in each state but also note the need for more systemic statewide approaches that resist the enduring monolingual discourse that has historically characterized much of ELL schooling. They call for transformative policies and practices that take current research into account and that stress the centrality of pluralistic principles to design effective schools for ELLs IDRA Newsletter, 2005 Perspectives on History, 2008 Creating Literacy Instruction for All Students Thomas G.

Gunning, 2005 With its inclusive view of literacy, Creating Literacy Instruction for All Students emphasizes methods that have been validated by research and practice while delivering the basics of all major aspects of reading and writing. The Fifth Edition of this best selling book continues to be a comprehensive practical text that provides its readers with step by step guidance for teaching reading and writing. Written by distinguished author Tom Gunning, this text features sample lessons for virtually every major literacy skill strategy and offers numerous reinforcement suggestions and generous listings of materials. With its careful balance between the theory and the practice, readers are always given the theories behind the methods, encouraging them to choose, adapt, and construct their own approaches as they create a balanced program of literacy instruction. Special emphasis has been given to adapting instruction for English language learners, struggling readers and writers, and special needs students throughout the book.
