Handbook on Lived Experience in the Justice System Christopher P. Dum, Jamie J. Fader, Thomas P. LeBel, Kevin A. Wright, 2025-12-11 This volume offers a diverse set of scholarly essays on the imaginative potential of corrections and sentencing research practice that centers on the lived experience of the criminal legal system The Editors define lived experience broadly encompassing the subjective ways in which corrections and sentencing directly or indirectly affect a person's daily life They employ a diverse and expansive conceptualization of lived experience for example people with lived experience can be directly involved in writing or conducting the research or may be indirectly involved where the submission is about a program that includes people with lived experience in its operations e.g. credible messengers The volume includes 60 chapters written by academics practitioners and lived experts who are currently or formerly system impacted Chapters include short reflection essays on the meaning of lived experience state of the knowledge reviews on topics related to lived experience and more traditional empirical entries that highlight specific dimensions of lived experience This groundbreaking and thought provoking Handbook will appeal to academics practitioners policymakers advocates and students seeking to understand the many ways in which corrections and sentencing directly or indirectly affect a person's daily life. This is Volume 10 of The ASC Division on Corrections and Sentencing Handbook Series. The handbooks provide in depth coverage of topical issues around sentencing and corrections for scholars, students, practitioners and policymakers.

Challenges in Criminal Justice Ed Johnston, 2022-07-29 This collection examines contemporary challenges to the criminal justice system in England and Wales. The chapters written by established academics, rising stars and practising lawyers seek not only to highlight these challenges but to offer solutions. The book examines issues with legal assistance in the police station, concerns relating to juror decision making and problems in and presented by both virtual hearings and the advent of the Single Justice Procedure Notice. The work also examines challenges surrounding vulnerability in the criminal justice system. Here diversity includes vulnerability in the criminal trial, neurodivergence as well as issues with diversity and marginalisation in the criminal justice system as a whole. The book also discusses matters centred around sexual offending including the attrition rate in rape cases as well as the recent development of vigilante paedophile hunters and their acceptance as a viable limb of the criminal justice system. Finally the volume looks at the post conviction stage and examines recent prison policy through the lens of the human rights of the prisoner. The closing chapter examines the independence of the Criminal Cases Review Commission and highlights how recent changes have undermined this. While focused on England and Wales the topics discussed are of wider international significance and will be of interest to students, academics and policy makers.

Coercive Care Bernadette Mcsherry, Ian Freckleton, 2013-06-26 There has been much debate about mental health law reform and mental capacity legislation in recent years with the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities also having a major impact on thinking about the issue. This edited volume explores the concept of coercive care in relation to individuals such as those with severe mental illnesses, those with intellectual and cognitive disabilities and those with substance use problems. With a focus on choice and capacity the book explores the impact of and challenges posed by the provision of care in an involuntary environment. The contributors to the book look at mental health capacity and vulnerable adult's care as well as the law related to those areas. The book is split into four parts which cover human rights and coercive care, legal capacity and coercive care, the legal coordination of coercive care and coercive care and individuals with cognitive impairments. The book covers new ground by exploring issues arising from the coercion of persons with various disabilities and vulnerabilities helping to illustrate how the capacity to provide consent to treatment and care is impaired by reason of their condition.
