Medieval Gnostics The Bogomil:

Gnosis and Hermeticism from Antiquity to Modern Times R. van den Broek, Wouter J. Hanegraaff, 1998-01-01 This volume introduces what has sometimes been called the third component of western culture It traces the historical development of those religious traditions which have rejected a world view based on the primacy of pure rationality or doctrinal faith emphasizing instead the importance of inner enlightenment or gnosis a revelatory experience which was typically believed to entail an encounter with one's true self as well as with the ground of being God The contributors to this book demonstrate this perspective as fundamental to a variety of interconnected traditions In Antiquity one finds the gnostics and hermetics in the Middle Ages several Christian sects The medieval Cathars can to a certain extent be considered part of the same tradition Starting with the Italian humanist Renaissance hermetic philosophy became of central importance to a new religious synthesis that can be referred to as Western Esotericism The development of this tradition is described from Renaissance hermeticists and practitioners of spiritual alchemy to the emergence of Rosicrucianism and Christian theosophy in the seventeenth century and from post enlightenment aspects of Romanticism and occultism to the present day New Age movement

Culianu, 1992 This pioneering study interprets the mythology of dualism from Gnosticism to the medieval Cathars to modern nihilism Couliano shows that far from being historically transmitted the underlying connection between all dualistic worldviews is a perennial and immensely appealing mindset The Gnostic Philosophy Tobias Churton, 2003 Heresy and the Persecuting Society in the Middle Ages Michael Frassetto, 2006 The essays in this book provide new insights into the history of heresy and the formation of the persecuting society in the Middle Ages and explores the shifting understanding of orthodoxy and heterodoxy in medieval and modern times The Journal of Jewish Thought & Philosophy , 1993

Images of the Feminine in Gnosticism Karen L. King (religie), 1988 Essays on the feminine face of God in Gnostic philosophy and theology are collected in a fascinating introduction to this early and often persecuted strand of Christian thought Original The Poetics of Slavdom Zdenko Zlatar, 2007 Between 1400 and 1878 the majority of Southern Slavic peoples endured several centuries of Ottoman rule In the nineteenth century there was a movement among both the Croats and the Serbs to set aside regional ethnic religious and cultural differences in order to work together toward the liberation of all the Southern Slavs from the Ottoman yoke These volumes explore how the masterpieces of two leading poets among the Croats and Serbs Ivan Mazurani 1814 1890 and Petar II Petrovi Njegos 1813 1851 who was Prince Bishop of Montenegro from 1830 1851 dealt with the Southern Slavs relationship to Islam in their greatest poetic works The Death of Smail agha engi and The Mountain Wreath respectively The Medieval World Friedrich Heer, 1962 The Hidden Tradition in Europe Yuri Stoyanov, 1994 Christianity has always defined itself through fierce opposition to powerful heresies yet it is only recently that we have begun to retrieve these remarkable underground traditions buried beneath the contempt of the Church Of these heresies the greatest challenge to the medieval Church was posed by the Great Heresy of the Cathars who saw themselves as inheritors of a true and long concealed Christian tradition but who were also heirs to the age long teachings of Dualism the doctrine that cosmos and man are constant battlegrounds between the two principal and irreconcilably opposed forces of good and evil The Cathars who were savagely suppressed in the thirteenth century are the best known medieval adherents and martyrs of Dualism but yet behind them we can still glimpse one of the most elusive and tenacious heretical sects of the Middle Ages the Balkan Bogomils In this superb piece of scholarly detective work Yuri Stoyanov charts the descent and evolution of Dualism from the revelations of Zoroaster and the Orphics via the Dead Sea Scrolls the Mithraic Mysteries and the great Gnostic teachers to reconstruct its medieval revival in Europe His book casts fresh light on some of the most obscure aspects of the history and the teachings of the Bogomils and the Cathars and illuminates unsuspected religious and political undercurrents that lie beneath the surface of official history BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved
