Recent Dynamics of the Mediterranean Vegetation and Landscape Stefano Mazzoleni,Gaetano di Pasquale,Mark Mulligan,Paolo di Martino,Francisco Rego,2004-10-22 The Mediterranean region has been shaped by human activity and maintained by traditional practices of land use for centuries This has affected the distribution of plants and the landscape which can be considered as part of the European cultural landscape This book details the rapid changes that have taken place in the vegetation of the Mediterranean in the last half century a period in which major socio economic development greatly affected the cultural and physical landscape

Evolutionary Theory and Processes: Modern Horizons Solomon P. Wasser,2013-03-09 Evolution is the most profound of human ideas integrating all natural phenomena cosmic biological and cultural into a continuous universal change This volume deals with evolutionary observations experiments and theories contributing to a deeper understanding of the evolutionary process th honoring the 75 birthday of Eviatar Eibi Nevo I first met Eibi in 1966 when he was a Fellow in the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University and working mostly on cricket frog vocalization and speciation in the United States His unique discovery of pipid fossil frogs in the Israeli Early Cretaceous central Negev is possibly the largest world collection of ancient fossil frogs Our acquaintance developed into mutual friendship and admiration Since then our long lasting friendship has included a visit to Israel enabling me to follow Eibi s major scientific achievements in particular his founding of the Institute of Evolution in the University of Haifa and now the pending establishment of the International Graduate School of Evolution The research program of Eibi Nevo in collaboration with numerous colleagues and students in Israel and across the world encompasses diverse perspectives of evolutionary biology and biodiversity of genes populations species and ecosystems integrating modern and classical evolutionary approaches molecular and organismal They deal with model organisms in all forms from bacteria through plants fungi animals and humans conducted over local regional and global scales Cultural Landscapes of Universal Value Bernd von Droste, Harald Plachter, Mechtilde Rössler, 1995 Cultural landscapes are at the interface between nature and culture. They represent the permanent interaction between humans and their environment shaping the surface of the earth. With the rapid social and economic development cultural landscapes belong to the most fragile and threatened sites on earth. Adapted protection and proper management is urgently needed. Since 1992 outstanding cultural landscapes can be protected under the World Heritage Convention. Thus the World Heritage Convention is the first international legal instrument recognizing and safeguarding this type of property for future generations. This important step has led to enhanced international and national recognition. The present volume aims to contribute to enhanced protection and management of cultural landscapes around the world. It furthermore highlights in a truly interdisciplinary approach some of the most outstanding cultural landscapes of universal value in their geocultural and environmental context.

Biodiversity Adriano Sofri, 2011-10-10

Biodiversity is strongly affected by the rapid and accelerating changes in the global climate which largely stem from human activity. Anthropogenic activities are causing highly influential impacts on species persistence. The sustained environmental change wildlife is experiencing may surpass the capacity of developmental, genetic and demographic mechanisms that populations have developed to deal with these alterations. How biodiversity is perceived and maintained affects ecosystem functioning as well as how the goods and services that ecosystems provide to humans can be used. Recognizing biodiversity is essential to preserve wildlife. Furthermore the measure, management and protection of ecosystem biodiversity requires different and innovative approaches. For all these reasons the aim of the present book is to give an up to date overview of the studies on biodiversity at all levels in order to better understand the dynamics and the mechanisms at the basis of the richness of life forms both in terrestrial including agro ecosystems and marine environments.

Mediterranean Prehistoric Heritage Ian Hodder, Louise Doughty, McDonald Institute for Archaeological Research, 2007

Drawing on the experience of the Temper project Training Education Management and Prehistory in the Mediterranean and wider examples from the Mediterranean this volume explores the issues inherent in managing, interpreting and presenting prehistoric archaeological sites. The first section of the book contains thematic chapters on conservation, visitor management and interpretation, public participation and issues of managing sites within their cultural landscape. The second section focuses on archaeology and education and the politics of national curricula and presents detailed case studies. Written by academics and those working in the fields of archaeology, architecture, heritage management and education this volume will be invaluable to students and practitioners alike.
