Linking Children's Learning with Professional Learning Jeanne K. Keay,Christine M. Lloyd,2012-01-01 Producing evidence that professional development undertaken has an impact on children's learning is an increasingly important issue in education This book proposes a process model designed to support and enable education professionals to focus on this issue as an integral part of their daily work This model centres around the identification of professional learning needs in relation to the learning needs of children and focuses on evidence of impact as part of that process For this model to work effectively however there must be a culture which supports, enables and recognises the value and importance of professional learning and development and which is inclusive and child centred This culture, its elements and its development are also addressed and provide the context and underpinning for the model In the second part of the book research undertaken to develop and pilot the model with a range of education professionals is discussed and the model is further developed to support education practitioners, leaders and professional development providers to ask questions that are specific to their roles and responsibilities This book will be of interest to a range of professionals teaching, leading, working, studying and researching in compulsory and post compulsory education It also has relevance for the increasing number of providers of learning and development opportunities for education professionals    Resources in Education ,2001

From Experience to Relationships Jasna K. Schwind,Gail M. Lindsay,2008-02-15 This book explores the transferability of narrative inquiry from curriculum studies to education and healthcare It examines how reconstructed experiences shape disciplinary identity and knowledge The book is valuable for practitioners, policymakers and researchers    An Open Book: What and How Young Children Learn From Picture and Story Books Jessica S. Horst,Carmel Houston-Price,2016-01-21 Looking at and listening to picture and story books is a ubiquitous activity frequently enjoyed by many young children and their parents Well before children can read for themselves they are able to learn from books Looking at and listening to books increases children's general knowledge, understanding about the world and promotes language acquisition This collection of papers demonstrates the breadth of information pre reading children learn from books and increases our understanding of the social and cognitive mechanisms that support this learning Our hope is that this Research Topic eBook will be useful for researchers as well as educational practitioners and parents who are interested in optimizing children's learning    Promoting Early Career Teacher Resilience

Bruce Johnson,Barry Down,Rosie Le Cornu,Judy Peters,Anna Sullivan,Jane Pearce,Janet Hunter,2015-08-27 In Promoting Early Career Teacher Resilience the stories of 60 graduate teachers are documented as they grapple with some of the most persistent and protracted personal and professional struggles facing teachers today Narratives emerge detailing feelings of frustration, disillusionment and even outrage as they struggle with the complexity, intensity and immediacy of life in schools Other stories also surface to show exhilarating experiences documenting the wonder, joy and excitement of working with young people for the first time This book makes sense of these experiences in ways that can assist education systems schools and faculties of teacher education as well as early career teachers themselves to develop more powerful forms of critical teacher resilience Rejecting psychological explanations of teacher resilience it endorses an alternative socio cultural and critical approach to understanding teacher resilience The book crosses physical borders and represents experiences of teachers in similar circumstances across the globe providing researchers and teachers with real life examples of resilience promoting policies and practices This book is not written as an account of the failures of an education system but rather as a provocation to help generate ideas policies and practices capable of illuminating the experiences of early career teachers in more critical and socially just ways at an international and national level

Education and School World ,1897    Having an Impact on Learning Kelly Wachel,Matt Wachel,2015-12-15 A public relations director and a principal have mostly the same goals in helping students achieve at high levels While each might go about impacting student learning in different ways they both work to make education better In Having an Impact on Learning the husband and wife team of Matt and Kelly Wachel help show how both the principal and the public relations director can propel education forward Whether it's through perception teaching and learning communication social media events student achievement or working with the community principals and public relations professionals have to understand their roles in contributing to each of those areas While the topics of conversation between these two professions sometimes cause disagreement in the end the principal and the public relations professional agree that their two views must ultimately mesh to help do what's best for kids In this book get insight into these areas of education and learn about ways principals and public relations directors can work in harmony School leaders and communicators have to be on the same page when it comes to telling the story of education We are all storytellers and we have to be able to tell the story together
