Book Last Bogler Catherine Jinks:

The Last Bogler Catherine Jinks, 2016 Ned Roach becomes a bogler's apprentice as Victorian London seeks to banish its bogle infestation once and for all in this conclusion to the trilogy featuring young assistants to Victorian London's best monster catcher Alfred Bunce

How to Catch a Bogle Catherine Jinks, 2013-09-03 Many orphans in Victorian England must resort to begging but Birdie is busy catching monsters. If ever a chill entered her soul or the hope suddenly drained from her heart she knew a bogle was to blame. Birdie McAdam, a ten-year-old orphan, is tougher than she looks. She's proud of her job as apprentice to Alfred the Bogler, a man who catches monsters for a living. Birdie lures the bogles out of their lairs with her sweet songs and Alfred kills them before they kill her. On the mean streets of Victorian England, hunting bogles is actually less dangerous work than mudlarking for scraps along the vile river Thames. Or so it seems until the orphans of London start to disappear. This historical fantasy for young readers features an action-packed story and likable characters along with a heroine to cheer for. School Library Journal Pitch perfect Booklist starred review

A Very Singular Guild Catherine Jinks, 2014 Twelve-year-old Ned Roach used to scavenge for scraps along the Thames riverbank. But the recent plague of child-eating bogles in London means that he's now working as an apprentice to Alfred Bunce, the bogler. Alongside Jem Barbary and sometimes Birdie McAdam, Ned must lure bogles out of their lairs so that Alfred can kill them. And this means spending a lot of time in the city's murky underground waterways, especially when Alfred is hired by the London Sewers Office to stamp out a deadly infestation. But times are changing. As magic and folklore give way to the machine age, Alfred begins to face an uncertain future while Ned and his friends find themselves threatened by an enemy from their past who's even more dangerous than the bogles. Catherine Jinks captures the end of an era and the start of a technological revolution in her brilliant final instalment of the City of Orphans trilogy

A Very Peculiar Plague Catherine Jinks, 2013 Eleven-year-old Jem Barbary has worked as a pickpocket, grocer's boy, street sweeper, and he is now a bogler's apprentice. Jem's not all that interested in the bogle plague until he stumbles onto the root of a bogle feeding frenzy that will put him in mortal danger
