Native Science Natural Laws Of Interdependence:

Native Science Gregory Cajete,2000 Cajete examines the multiple levels of meaning that inform Native astronomy cosmology psychology agriculture and the healing arts Unlike the western scientific method native thinking does not isolate an object or phenomenon in order to understand it but perceives it in terms of relationship An understanding of the relationships that bind together natural forces and all forms of life has been fundamental to the ability of indigenous peoples to live for millennia in spiritual and physical harmony with the land It is clear that the first peoples offer perspectives that can help us work toward solutions at this time of global environmental crisis

Canty,2025-04-03 A compendium of diverse women and nonbinary femmes the second expanded edition of this book highlights the contributors journeys with straddling social and ecological issues through both their professional and personal paths and reveals how straddling these edges has surfaced new learning models and practices for collective healing The contributors span multiple generations and positionalities and are prominent academics writers teachers artists leaders and healers Ecological and Social Healing is rooted in the power of integrating multiple and often conflicting views and the transformations that result This book is rooted in academic theory as well as personal and professional experience and highlights emerging models and insights It will appeal to those working teaching and learning in the fields of social justice environmental issues women and gender studies animal rights ecopsychology spirituality transformative studies transdisciplinarity leadership and interdisciplinary intersectionality studies as well as anyone straddling the boundaries of gender race ecology and the crises of our times and are looking for new ways of being

Lived Topographies and Their Mediational Forces Gary Backhaus,John Murungi,2005-01-01 This collection explores the various forms of narrative semiotic and technological mediation that shape the experience of place From the East End of London to Navajo lands to Ground Zero Lived Topographies examines the great effect of language mass media surveillance and other incursions of the contemporary world on topographical experience and description Gary Backhaus and John Murungi have assembled a wide array of scholars to provide an interdisciplinary approach to this subject giving this collection a unique perspective on the phenomenology of place

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Teaching and Learning Secondary School Mathematics Ann Kajander,Jennifer Holm,Egan J Chernoff,2018-10-24 This volume brings together recent research and commentary in secondary school mathematics from a breadth of contemporary Canadian and International researchers and educators It is both representative of mathematics education generally as well as unique to the particular geography and culture of Canada The chapters address topics of broad applicability such as technology in learning mathematics recent interest in social justice contexts in the learning of mathematics as well as Indigenous education The voices of classroom practitioners the group ultimately responsible for implementing this new vision of mathematics teaching and learning are not forgotten Each section includes a chapter written by a classroom teacher making this volume unique in its approach We have much to learn from one another and this volume takes the stance that the development of a united vision supported by both research and professional dialog provides the first step     Queer and Deleuzian Temporalities Rachel Loewen

Walker,2023-06-29 Rachel Loewen Walker s original study of Deleuze s theory of temporality critically expands our understanding of non linear time through engagement with queer theory and new feminist materialisms Walker draws on the notion of non linear time in Deleuze s work to advance a conception of the living present as a critical juncture through which new meanings and activism in the fields of feminism environment and queerness may be realised Using literary texts by Jeanette Winterson and philosophical texts by Julia Kristeva and Luce Irigaray Walker reflects on monomythic stories about gender sexuality and identity in the context of rapid climate change and posthumanist politics to tread new ground for Deleuzian studies of time Speaking to and from feminist queer environmental trans and crip political movements Walker uses Deleuze to argue for a lived present which is both mutable and embodied Such characteristics are presented as essential components in the construction of meaning that is not bound by a static present past or future Queer and Deleuzian Temporalities pinpoints the importance of feminist and queer theory to a critical re evaluation of time Through a wide ranging analysis we are able to see how everyone is embedded within rather than outside of time opening up the possibility for imagining and realising alternate futures both for ourselves and the environment     Winds of Change ,2000     Simon
