Memory And Representation Memory And Representation:

Memory and Representation Dena Elisabeth Eber, Arthur G. Neal, 2001 Eber and Neal address some of the theoretical issues connected with symbolic constructions of reality through human memory and its subsequent representation Linkages between what we remember and how we represent it give humans their distinctive characteristics We construct our reality from how we perceive the events in our lives and from that reality we create a symbol system to describe our world It is through such symbolic constructions that we are provided with a usable backdrop for shaping our memories and organizing them into meaningful lines of action These case studies present a new and creative synthesis of the multiple meanings of memory and representation within the context of contemporary perceptions of truth The Representation of Meaning in Memory (PLE: Memory) Walter Kintsch, 2014-05-23 Originally published in 1974 this volume presents empirical and theoretical investigations of the role of meaning in psychological processes A theory is proposed for the representation of the meaning of texts employing ordered lists of propositions The author explores the adequacy of this representation with respect to the demands made upon such formulations by logicians and linguists A sufficiently large number of problems are encompassed by the propositional theory to justify its use in psychological research into memory and language comprehension A number of different experiments are reported on a wide variety of topics and these test central portions of this theory and any that purports to deal with how humans represent meaning Among the topics discussed are the role of lexical decomposition in comprehension and memory propositions as the units of recall and the effects of the number of propositions in a text base upon reading rate and recall New problems are explored such as inferential processes during reading differences in levels of memory for text and retrieval speed for textual information On the other hand a study of retrieval from semantic memory focusses on a problem of much current research The final review chapter relates the present work to other current research in the area at the time Representation, Memory, and Development Nancy L. Stein, Patricia

J. Bauer, Mitchell Rabinowitz, George Mandler, 2014-05-12 A festschrift to honor Jean Mandler this volume contains contributions from leading scholars focusing on the child's development of memory visual representation and language It is appropriate for students and researchers in cognitive psychology language acquisition and memory Performativity and the Representation of Memory: Resignification, Appropriation, and Embodiment Dinis, Frederico, 2024-08-21 The age of digital culture has not only brought significant transformations in how we perceive memory history and heritage but it has also raised pressing questions about authenticity and ownership of memory The role of digital technologies in shaping collective identities is a topic of intense scrutiny Moreover contemporary societies grapple with complex issues in the politics of memory especially with the proliferation of diverse narratives and the manipulation of public spaces The book's content is therefore highly relevant offering critical reflection and scholarly analysis to these societal challenges Performativity and the Representation of Memory Resignification Appropriation and Embodiment offers a comprehensive exploration of these issues examining how contemporary practices of re enactment intersect with digital contexts to shape our understanding of memory and heritage The book analyzes the processes of memory creation and transmission in digital environments providing a nuanced understanding of how memory is constructed shared and contested in the digital age It also explores the role of arts based research and participatory practices in documenting and preserving collective memories offering insights into new forms of memory sharing and identity formation

Memory and Representation in Contemporary Europe Siobhan Kattago,2016-04-22 Why do certain places and not others symbolically capture the past and freeze time Likewise why does the process of memory as a fluid and changing activity seem to prevent its own solidification Memory and Representation in Contemporary Europe reflects not only on the persistence of the past as a theme linked to modernity media and time but also discusses the politics of memory within a changing Europe Drawing on the theoretical work of Hannah Arendt Isaiah Berlin and Zygmunt Bauman Siobhan Kattago uses examples from both Germany and Estonia in order to address the multiple layers of Europe s totalitarian past Through reflecting on the legacy of totalitarianism and the revolutions of 1989 it becomes clear that the issue is less of whether one should remember but rather how to internalize the various lessons of the past for the future of Europe Memory and Representation in Contemporary Europe thus offers the reader occasions upon which to take stock of different but overlapping contours of past and present in contemporary Europe

Mental Representation and Processing of Geographic Knowledge Thomas Barkowsky,2003-07-01 In cognitive science mental representations of spatial knowledge are metaphorically referred to as cognitive maps However investigations in cognitive psychology reveal that the cognitive map metaphor is inadequate and that more suitable conceptions of human spatial knowledge processing are needed This book addresses mental processing of knowledge about geographic space from an AI point of view by presenting an experimental computational modeling approach Results about human memory and visual mental imagery from cognitive psychology are combined with AI techniques of spatial and diagrammatic knowledge processing The author develops the diagrammatic reasoning architecture MIRAGE as a comprehensive conception of human geographic knowledge processing

Unconscious Memory Representations in Perception István Czigler,István Winkler,2010-05-06 Perceptual experience emerges from neural computations Unconscious Memory Representations in Perception focuses on the role of implicit non conscious memories in processing sensory information Making sense of the wealth of information arriving at our senses requires implicit memories which represent environmental regularities contingencies of the sensory input as well as general contextual knowledge Recent findings and theories in cognitive and computational neuroscience provided new insights into the structure and contents of implicit memory representations The chapters of this book examine implicit memories both in relatively simple situations such as perceiving auditory and visual objects as well as in high level cognitive functions such as speech and music perception and aesthetic experience By nature implicit memories cannot be directly studied with behavioral methods Therefore a large part of the evidence reviewed was obtained in neuroscientific studies Readers with limited experience in neuroscience will find information about the most commonly used techniques in the appendix of this volume Series B The Human Intellect Noah Porter,1872 The Human Intellect, with an Introduction Upon Psychology and the Soul Noah Porter (the Younger.),1872 Representation and Understanding Daniel Gureasko Bobrow,Allan Collins,1975-09-28 Theory of representation New memory models Higher level structures Semantic knowledge in understander systems Mental Science and Methods of Mental Culture Edward Brooks,1882 The Elements of Pedagogy Emerson Elbridge White,1886 Ten Lectures on the Representation of Events in Language, Perception, Memory, and Action Control Jeffrey M. Zacks,2020-02-10 The representation of events is a central topic for cognitive science In this series of lectures Jeffrey M Zacks situates event representations and their role in language within a theory of perception and memory Event representations have a distinctive structure and format that result from computational and neural mechanisms operating during perception and language comprehension A crucial aspect of the mechanisms is that event representations are updated to optimize their predictive utility This updating has consequences for action control and for long term memory Event cognition changes across the adult lifespan and can be impaired by conditions including Alzheimer s disease These mechanisms have broad impact on everyday activity and have shaped the development of media such as cinema and narrative fiction Elements of Psychology Noah Knowles Davis,1892 Forgetful Memory Michael Bernard-Donals,2008-12-31 Much of the discussion surrounding the Holocaust and how it can be depicted sixty years later has focused on memory In Forgetful Memory Michael Bernard Donals focuses on the relation between memory and forgetfulness arguing that memory and forgetfulness cannot be separated but must be examined as they complicate our understanding of the Shoah Drawing on the work of Josef Yerushalmi Maurice Blanchot David Roskies and especially Emmanuel Levinas Bernard Donals explores contemporary representations of the Holocaust in memoirs novels and poetry films and photographs in museums and in our contemporary political discourse concerning the Middle East Ultimately Forgetful Memory makes the case that we should give up on the idea of memory as a kind of representation and that we should see it instead as an intersection of remembrance and oblivion as a kind of writing where what remains at its margins what is left unwritten is at least as important as what is given voice Rethinking Time Hans Ruin,Andrus Ers,2011-09 Questions about the temporality and historicity of knowledge have gained new urgency in the human sciences in recent decades New modes of critical theorizing coupled with a reshaping of the historical space of Western culture following the unification of Europe and intensified political and technological globalization have highlighted the necessity of understanding the formation of historical consciousness from new angles The uses of history the commodification of the past the pathologies of memory the chronological framework of historical narrative and the technological forms of representing and maintaining tradition all now require cross disciplinary interpretation This volume gathers a wide range of researchers from philosophy history archeology and the aesthetic and social sciences in a collaborative effort to critically explore historical consciousness as time memory and representation About the series Södertörn Philosophical Studies is a book series published under the direction of the Department of Philosophy at Södertörn University The series consists of monographs and anthologies in philosophy with a special focus on the Continental European tradition It seeks to provide a platform for innovative contemporary philosophical research The volumes are published mainly in English and Swedish The series is edited by Marcia Sa Cavalcante Schuback and Hans Ruin Challenges in Knowledge Representation and Organization for the 21st Century Mariá J.
