Minimal Ethics For The Anthropocene Critical Climate Change:

Minimal Ethics for the Anthropocene (Critical Climate Change) Joanna Zylińska, 2014-09-17 Life typically becomes an object of reflection when it is seen to be under threat. In particular, humans have a tendency to engage in thinking about life instead of just continuing to live it when being confronted with the prospect of death, be it the death of individuals due to illness, accident, or old age, the death of whole ethnic or national groups in wars and other forms of armed conflict, but also of whole populations, be they human or nonhuman. Even though Minimal Ethics for the Anthropocene is first and foremost concerned with life understood as both a biological and social phenomenon, it is the narrative about the impending death of the human population, i.e. about the extinction of the human species that provides a context for its argument. Anthropocene names a geo-historical period in which humans are said to have become the biggest threat to life on earth. However, rather than as a scientific descriptor, the term serves here primarily as an ethical injunction to think critically about human and nonhuman agency in the universe. Restrained in tone yet ambitious in scope, the book takes some steps towards outlining a minimal ethics thought on a universal scale. The task of such minimal ethics is to consider how humans can assume responsibility for various occurrences in the universe across different scales and how they can respond to the tangled mesh of connections and relations unfolding in it. Its goal is not so much to tell us how to live but rather to allow us to rethink life and what we can do with it in whatever time we have left. The book embraces a speculative mode of thinking that is more akin to the artist's method; it also includes a photographic project by the author. Publisher's description: Ethics and Literary Practice Adam Zachary Newton, 2021-09-09 This volume draws together a diverse array of scholars from across the humanities to formulate and address the question of ethics and literary practice for a new decade. In taking up a conjunction whose terms remain productively open to question, fifteen essays survey a range of approaches and topics including genre and disciplinary rhetoric, emergence theory and literary signification, the ethics of alterity, of attention and of aesthetics, the decolonial and the paracritical, neorealism and contingency, analogy and affect, scripture and national literature. From Seamus Heaney to Hannah Arendt, Teresa Brennan to Stanley Cavell, Ronit Matalon to douard Glissant, Uwe Timm to Katherena Vermette, Notes for Echo Lake to the Gospel of St Matthew, these contributions demonstrate how broadly and fruitfully ramifying its organizing inquiry can be. Bringing such multifarious perspectives to the topic feels only more urgent as language, meaning and expression enter the crucible of a post-truth era. Contemporary Photography and Theory Sally Miller, 2020-05-26 Contemporary Photography and Theory offers an essential overview of some of the key critical debates in fine art photography today. Building on a foundational understanding of photography, it offers an in-depth discussion of five topic areas: identity, landscape and place, the politics of representation, psychoanalysis and the event. Written in an accessible style, it introduces the critical literature relevant to photography that has emerged over recent decades. Moving beyond seminal works by writers such as Walter Benjamin, Roland Barthes and Susan Sontag, it enables readers to explore an extended canon of theorists including Jacques Lacan Judith Butler and Giorgio Agamben The book is illustrated throughout and analyses a range of works by established and emergent artists in order to show how these theoretical concepts are central to understanding contemporary photography These 15 short essays encourage readers to apply critical thinking to both their own work and that of others They are the perfect starting point for essays as well being of suitable length for assigned readings making this the ideal resource for learning about contemporary photography and theory Gardens and Human Agency in the Anthropocene Maria Paula Diogo, Ana Duarte Rodrigues, Ana Simões, Davide Scarso, 2019-04-26 This volume discusses gardens as designed landscapes of mediation between nature and culture embodying different levels of human control over wilderness defining specific rules for this confrontation and staging different forms of human dominance The contributing authors focus on ways of rethinking the garden and its role in contemporary society using it as a crossover platform between nature science and technology Drawing upon their diverse fields of research including History of Science and Technology Environmental Studies Gardens and Landscape Studies Urban Studies and Visual and Artistic Studies the authors unveil various entanglements woven in the past between nature and culture and probe the potential of alternative epistemologies to escape the predicament of fatalistic dystopias that often revolve around the Anthropocene debate This book will be of great interest to those studying environmental and landscape history the history of science and technology historical geography and the environmental humanities Mental Health and Wellbeing in the Anthropocene Jamie McPhie, 2019-01-22 This book makes the unorthodox claim that there is no such thing as mental health It also deglamourises nature based psychotherapies deconstructs therapeutic landscapes and redefines mental health and wellbeing as an ecological process distributed in the environment rather than a psychological manifestation trapped within the mind of a human subject Traditional and contemporary philosophies are merged with new science of the mind as each chapter progressively examples a posthuman account of mental health as physically dispersed amongst things emoji photos tattoos graffiti cities mountains in this precarious time labelled the Anthropocene Utilising experimental walks play scripts and creative research techniques this book disrupts traditional notions of the subjective self resulting in an Extended Body Hypothesis a pathway for alternative narratives of human environment relations to flourish more ethically This transdisciplinary inquiry will appeal to anyone interested in non classificatory accounts of mental health particularly concerning areas of social and environmental equity post nature Climate Change Ethics and the Non-Human World Brian G. Henning, Zack Walsh, 2020-02-25 This book examines from different perspectives the moral significance of non human members of the biotic community and their omission from climate ethics literature The complexity of life in an age of rapid climate change demands the development of moral frameworks that recognize and respect the dignity and agency of both human and non human organisms Despite decades of careful work in non anthropocentric approaches to environmental ethics recent anthologies on climate ethics have largely omitted non anthropocentric approaches This multidisciplinary volume of international scholars tackles this lacuna by presenting novel work on non anthropocentric approaches to climate ethics Written in an accessible style the text incorporates sentiocentric biocentric and ecocentric perspectives on climate change With diverse perspectives from both leading and emerging scholars of environmental ethics geography religious studies conservation ecology and environmental studies this book will offer a valuable reading for students and scholars of these fields

Ethics and Politics of Space for the Anthropocene Anu Valtonen, Outi Rantala, Paolo D. Farah, 2020-10-30 Featuring an international multidisciplinary set of contributors this thought provoking book reimagines established narratives of the Anthropocene to allow differences in regions and contexts to be taken seriously emphasising the importance of localised and situated knowledge It offers critical engagement with the debates around the Anthropocene by challenging the dominant techno rational agenda that often prevails in socio political and academic discussions

The Politics of the Anthropocene John S. Dryzek, Jonathan Pickering, 2018-12-06 The Politics of the Anthropocene is a sophisticated yet accessible treatment of how human institutions practices and principles need to be re thought in response to the challenges of the Anthropocene the emerging epoch of human induced instability in the Earth system and its life support capacities However the world remains stuck with practices and modes of thinking that were developed in the Holocene the epoch of around 12 000 years of unusual stability in the Earth system toward the end of which modern institutions such as states and capitalist markets arose These institutions persist despite their potentially catastrophic failure to respond to the challenges of the Anthropocene foremost among them a rapidly changing climate and accelerating biodiversity loss The pathological trajectories of these institutions need to be disrupted by advancing ecological reflexivity the capacity of structures systems and sets of ideas to question their own core commitments and if necessary change themselves while listening and responding effectively to signals from the Earth system This book envisages a world in which humans are no longer estranged from the Earth system but engage with it in a more productive relationship We can still pursue democracy social justice and sustainability but not as before In future all politics should be first and foremost a politics of the Anthropocene The arguments are developed in the context of issues such as climate change biodiversity and global efforts to address sustainability

The Ethics of Climate Change Byron Williston, 2023-08-24 The Ethics of Climate Change An Introduction systematically and comprehensively examines the ethical issues surrounding arguably the greatest threat now facing humanity This second edition has been updated and includes two new chapters on climate change and capitalism and climate change and law Williston addresses important questions such as Has humanity entered the Anthropocene epoch Is climate change primarily an ethical or an economic issue Can capitalism be reformed to prevent climate catastrophe What are the moral failings of international climate diplomacy What are the main causes of political inaction and climate denial Should tort law be used to sue those responsible for climate change What are intragenerational and intergenerational justice Is geoengineering an ethically justifiable response to climate change Featuring case studies throughout this textbook provides a philosophical introduction to an immensely topical issue studied by students within the fields of applied ethics global justice sustainability geography and politics      Climate Without Nature Andrew M. Bauer, Mona Bhan, 2018 This book offers a critical reading of the Anthropocene that draws on archaeological ecological geological and ethnographic evidence to argue that the concept reproduces the modernist binary between society and nature and forecloses a more inclusive politics around climate change The authors challenge the divisions between humans as biological and geophysical agents that constitute the ontological foundations of the period Building on contemporary critiques of capitalism they examine different conceptions of human environment relationships derived from anthropology to engage with the pressing problem of global warming

Knowledge For The Anthropocene Carrillo, Francisco J., Koch, Günter, 2021-11-09 With human induced environmental impacts disrupting human life in deeper ways and at a wider scale than anything previously experienced this multidisciplinary book looks at the ways that current knowledge bases seem inadequate to help us deal with such realities It offers a critical appraisal of the current knowledge infrastructure including science technology innovation education and informal knowledge systems      The Ethos of the Climate Event Kellan Anfinson, 2020-12-30 This book develops a politico ethical response to climate change that accounts for the novelty and uncertainty that it entails This volume explores the ethical dimensions of climate change and posits that one must view it as a social construction intimately tied to political issues in order to understand and overcome this environmental challenge To show how this ethos builds upon the need for new forms of responsiveness Anfinson analyzes it in terms of four features commitment worldly sensitivity political disposition and practice Each of these features is developed by putting four thinkers Kierkegaard Nietzsche Schmitt and Foucault respectively in conversation with the literature on climate change In doing so this book shows how social habits and norms can be transformed through subjective thought and behavior in the context of a global environmental crisis Presenting a multidisciplinary engagement with the politics philosophy and science of climate change this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change environmental politics environmental philosophy and environmental humanities

Resilience in the Anthropocene David Chandler, Kevin Grove, Stephanie Wakefield, 2020-04-21 This book offers the first critical multi disciplinary study of how the concepts of resilience and the Anthropocene have combined to shape contemporary thought and governmental practice Faced with the climate catastrophe of the Anthropocene theorists and policymakers are increasingly turning to sustainable creative and bottom up imaginaries of governance The book brings together cutting edge insights from leading geographers international relations scholars and philosophers to explore how the concepts of resilience and the Anthropocene challenge and transform prevailing understandings of Earth space time and knowledge and how these transformations reshape governance ethics and critique today This book examines how the Anthropocene calls into question established categories through which modern societies have tended to make sense of the world and engage in critical reflection and analysis It also considers how resilience approaches attempt to re stabilize these categories and the ethical and political effects that result from these resilience based efforts Offering innovative insights into the problem of how environmental change is known and governed in the Anthropocene this book will be of interest to students in fields such as geography international relations anthropology science and technology studies sociology and the environmental humanities

Global Changes Luca Valera, Juan Carlos Castilla, 2019-11-01 This book offers an authoritative analysis of the challenges that have arisen as a result of modern technologies It covers several environmental problems such as climate change overexploitation of natural resources loss of natural habitats pollution and human population growth and discusses practical scenarios for sustainable human dwelling of our planet Adopting an interdisciplinary approach the first part introduces global changes describing how they are happening in reality and the challenges arising from them The second part introduces methodological approaches borrowed from various disciplines such as engineering management science philosophy and theology which can help deal with the contemporary challenges resulting from global changes Lastly the third part discusses some of the themes presented in the light of novel concepts such as the Anthropocene and includes interesting proposals and ideas about how human beings could dwell the Earth in this new age Offering a comprehensive theoretical reflection on the relation between technology environment and human beings it also provides a practice oriented guide for researchers and decision makers working on a new ethical paradigm of acting in the Anthropocene

The Anthropocene and the Humanities Carolyn Merchant, 2020-01-01 A wide ranging and original introduction to the Anthropocene the Age of Humanity that offers fresh theoretical insights bridging the sciences and the humanities From noted environmental historian Carolyn Merchant this book focuses on the original concept of the Anthropocene first proposed by Paul Crutzen and Eugene Stoermer in their foundational 2000 paper It undertakes a broad investigation into the ways in which science technology and the humanities can create a new and compelling awareness of human impacts on the environment Using history art literature religion philosophy ethics and justice as the focal points Merchant traces key figures and developments in the humanities throughout the Anthropocene era and explores how these disciplines might influence sustainability in the next century Wide ranging and accessible this book from an eminent scholar in environmental history and philosophy argues for replacing the Age of the Anthropocene with a new Age of Sustainability

The Anthropocene Project Byron Williston, 2015 The evidence presented in the recently released Fifth Assessment Report AR5 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC suggests strongly that continued failure to make meaningful cuts to greenhouse gas emissions could bring about disastrous results for the human community especially for future generations Summing up the findings of AR5 Rajendra Pachauri chairman of the IPCC has stated that our persistent inaction on climate change presents a grave threat to the very social stability of human systems The Anthropocene Project attempts to make philosophical sense of this examining the reasons for the inaction highlighted by the IPCC and suggests the normative bases for overcoming it Williston identifies that we are now in the human age the Anthropocene but he argues that this is no mere geological marker It is instead best viewed as the latest permutation of an already existing moral and political project rooted in Enlightenment values The author shows that it can be fruitful to do climate ethics with this focus because in so many aspects of our culture we already endorse broadly Enlightenment values about progress equality and the value of knowledge But these values must be robustly instantiated in the dispositions of moral agents and so we require a climate ethics emphasizing the virtues of justice truthfulness and rational hope One of the book's most original claims is that our moral failure on this issue is in large part the product of motivated irrationality on the part of the world's most prosperous people We have failed to live up to our commitments to justice and truthfulness because we are respectively morally weak and self-deceived Understanding this provides the basis for the rational hope that we might yet find a way to avoid climate catastrophe

Freedom in the Anthropocene A. Stoner, A. Melathopoulos, 2015-12-05 Freedom in the Anthropocene illuminates the Anthropocene from the perspective of critical theory The authors contextualize our current ecological predicament by focusing on the issues of history and freedom and how they relate to our present inability to render environmental threats and degradation recognizable and surmountable

The Crisis in Global Ethics and the Future of Global Governance Peter Burdon, Klaus Bosselmann, Kirsten Engel, 2019 p p1 margin 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px font 10 0px Arial This thought provoking book stimulates dialogue and action on the role of global ethics in the governance of individual societies and the international order Such inquiry is imperative given the extraordinary challenges that face the world today Leading figures in environmental ethics philosophy and law approach questions surrounding global ethics and governance from a range of cultural and philosophical perspectives

Twilight of the Anthropocene Idols J. Miller Hillis, Claire Colebrook, Tom Cohen, 2016

Earthling Dean Wallraff, 2023-03 Climate Change is the most important ethical problem humanity is facing right now We are in the process of harming the Earth in ways that will diminish the quality of life for many future generations Our old human centrism our national tribalism and our short term perspectives must give way to new ways of thinking that give moral standing to other animals and that take global and long term perspectives In the year 3000 humankind will look back to the present century which dramatically altered the planet's climate and ecosystems Will they curse us as destroyers of the earthly paradise humankind enjoyed until now To avoid this we need to change our approach to ethics economics sustainability politics and law Earthling A New Ethics for the Anthropocene addresses sustainability economics politics and law as important factors in climate ethics It aims to both help with understanding these issues and present potential solutions for the problem
