Ministering Cross-Culturally Sherwood G. Lingenfelter, Marvin K. Mayers, 2003-10 Ministering Cross Culturally examines the significance of the incarnation for effective cross cultural ministry. The authors demonstrate that Jesus needed to learn and understand the culture in which he lived before he could undertake his public ministry. The ideas in this book have proven to be successful for thousands of ministers and the book is destined to be a resource of choice for years to come. Book jacket

China's Ambassadors of Christ to the Nations Tabor Laughlin, 2020-03-24 Maybe you are familiar with the growth in recent decades of majority world missionaries being sent all over the world from non Western countries i.e. countries in Asia, Africa, Latin America, Middle East. This book focuses on missionaries sent from one non Western country analyzing the experiences of Chinese missionaries on the mission field. The missionaries interviewed were sent from house churches in mainland China, have served overseas for at least two years and are ministering cross culturally to non Chinese on the mission field. The first research question relates to Chinese missionaries' successes and difficulties in cross culturally building relationships with locals, learning the local language and adjusting to the local culture. The second research question analyzes factors that have contributed to the Chinese missionaries remaining on the mission field. This included how pre field preparation and on field support contributed to their retention. Also analyzed were other challenges and needs the missionaries had on the field. The interviewees were serving in countries in Central Asia, Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

Who Is My Neighbor? Adam C. Sikorski, 2023-05-23 The cultural climate in America today presents polarizing subject matter manifested as societal pressures that divide communities and impact families and churches. One of the main divisive issues is the topic of race and racism. To effectively minister to diverse people in American communities, people must increase in cultural competency. Unfortunately, many people do not know what steps to take to fulfill the quest. This book is about cultural competency. More specifically, addressing how a person can increase their cultural competency to minister more effectively within diverse American cities. While many people desire to bridge the racial divide within their communities, they basically do not know what to do, which results in avoidance of the issue. Utilizing Scripture culminating with the story of The Good Samaritan, Jesus emphasizes a key principle within the conversation of racial reconciliation and cultural competency. Jesus commanded the expert in the law to go and do. Jesus's mandate is a call to action for church communities. However, to effectively engage one's neighbor, particularly a neighbor that is different, requires a certain level of cultural competency. Therefore, increasing one's cultural competency becomes a means to move from discussion towards action.

Ambassadors of Reconciliation Geoff Hartt, Michael A. Ortiz, Manuel Böhm, 2023-08-15. Reconciling Practice and Theology: What does reconciliation have to do with the work of missions? In today's conflict-ridden world, the concept of reconciliation has gained traction, and Christian missions are being rethought. The whole world cries out for holistic transformation with eternal value, and God's people are called to be his ambassadors. Ambassadors of Reconciliation lays the groundwork for exploring a new paradigm for missions. Divided into three parts, the book first establishes the theological foundations of reconciliation. The second part then shows how theory and practice go hand in hand. Finally, the third part uses case studies to highlight the importance of understanding brokenness, conflict, and culture for effective ministry in reconciliation. The contributors challenge readers to consider the church's role in God's mission and how every Christian can become an envoy of his restoration work. They emphasize the spiritual dimension of reconciliation and offer practical guidance for effectively engaging in ministry. Whether you are a missionary pastor or someone interested in promoting restoration in the world, this book provides valuable insights and tools for your journey.

Tackling Trauma Paul A. Barker, 2019-03-14. Trauma is a universal phenomenon that can be caused by international catastrophes or individual personal tragedy. Trauma is also a severely neglected topic in Christian literature, and while it can challenge someone's faith in Christ, God and the ministry of his Word is central to dealing with the emotional and psychological impact of trauma. By his Spirit, through his Word, and through his church, God is available to minister to people suffering from trauma and bring transformation to their lives. In this book, a team of experienced and informed Christian professionals from around the world promote a deep biblical response to trauma through clinical and theological wisdom and their first-hand experience of witnessing and experiencing trauma. The contributions provide practical responses to people's trauma rather than mere descriptions of the problems, making it an ideal resource for pastors, counsellors, humanitarian workers, and students.

Social-Cultural Anthropology George Allan Phiri, 2009-09-01. Effective communication with the African society in the field of missions, church planting, and social development work has been and continues to be a great challenge, particularly to people from western cultural and language orientation. Africans are a we rather than I, and are dependent on rather than independent of society. The worldview of a traditional African in terms of society, relationships, and communication is communal. Certainly, the African perception of communalism affects how they communicate with the people of different cultural orientation. Africa has several cultures, and people differ in their communication depending on their cultural orientation. However, there are universal African cultures that act as a framework for understanding key aspects of communication with Africans for successful missions, church planting, and social development work. This book therefore provides a strategy of understanding communication with the African society. The discussions in this book provide readers with different cultural orientations unique perception of the African society as s he may be planning to communicate with the African society for missions church planting and social development work even doing humanitarian ministry in African society Although literacy levels have improved tremendously in most African countries most of Africa is not a reading society It is imperative to understand that most Africans still communicate orally and are not time conscious Hence effective communication in African societies ought to be based on storytelling rather than literature distribution although this is in transition In fact Africans are oratory and good listeners Thus this book provides an understanding to people of different cultural orientations when they plan to communicate with the people in Africa Teaching and Learning across Cultures Craig Ott,2021-06-15 Representing the fruit of a lifetime of reflection and practice this comprehensive resource helps teachers understand the way people in different cultures learn so they can adapt their teaching for maximum effectiveness Senior missiologist and educator Craig Ott draws on extensive research and cross cultural experience from around the world This book introduces students to current theories and best practices for teaching and learning across cultures Case studies illustrations diagrams and sidebars help the theories of the book come to life Ministering Cross-Culturally Sherwood G.
