Transforming Children's Mathematics Education Leslie P. Steffe, Terry Wood, 2013-11-05 Eminent scholars from around the globe gathered to discuss how educational systems would change if the prevailing principles of constructivism were applied to three major aspects of those systems knowledge and learning communication and environment This volume provides documentation of the proceedings of this important meeting the Early Childhood Action Group of the Sixth International Congress on Mathematics Education This international assembly representing such diverse disciplines as mathematics and math education epistemology philosophy cognitive science psycholinguistics and science education is the first to examine early childhood mathematics education from constructivist and international perspectives in addition to formulating recommendations for future work in the field Mathematics Education United States. Department of Defense. Dependents Schools, 1986 Get Ready! For Standardized Tests : Math Grade 2 Kristin B. Swanson, Carol Turkington, 2001-07-05 One of the areas of study students find most difficult to master and are most fearful of is math Yet the core math skills acquired in the first four years of school form the basis of all future academic success Get Ready for Standardized Tests the first and only grade specific test prep series now features hands on guidance on helping kids master the all important basic math skills while arming parents with the tools they need to help their children succeed Aptitude, Learning, and Instruction Richard E. Snow, Pat-Anthony Federico, William E. Montague, 2021-05-30 For the previous 6 years before publication Office of Naval Research ONR had been conducting a thematically oriented contract research program aimed in large part at developing the kind of broad theoretical framework necessary for a workable process interpretation of aptitude learning and performance Originally published in 1980 the papers in this collection are generally addressed to three broad areas that were central to those interests of the ONR Personnel and Training Research Programs One area is concerned with individual differences information processing as revealed in simple laboratory or psychometric tests The second area focuses on the structural aspects of learning and performance using tools and concepts from semantic memory theory to describe what is learned and how it is learned And the third area is aimed at the management of instruction It addresses itself to the kinds of research and instructional designs required for effective implementation of adaptive instruction The Relationship Between Solutions to Elementary Math Word Problems and the Ability to Classify Pamela Heyman Lavender, 1983 Second Handbook of Research on Mathematics Teaching and Learning Frank K. Lester, 2007-02-01 The audience remains much the same as for the 1992 Handbook namely mathematics education researchers and other scholars conducting work in mathematics education This group includes college and university faculty graduate students investigators in research and development centers and staff members at federal state and local agencies that conduct and use research within the discipline of mathematics The intent of the authors of this volume is to provide useful perspectives as well as pertinent information for conducting investigations that are informed by previous work The

Handbook should also be a useful textbook for graduate research seminars In addition to the audience mentioned above the present Handbook contains chapters that should be relevant to four other groups teacher educators curriculum developers state and national policy makers and test developers and others involved with assessment Taken as a whole the chapters reflects the mathematics education research community s willingness to accept the challenge of helping the public understand what mathematics education research is all about and what the relevance of their research findings might be for those outside their immediate community
