Meditation As Contemplative Inquiry When Knowing Becomes Love:

Meditation as Contemplative Inquiry Arthur Zajonc, 2008-09-01 7 lectures various cities April 17 May 26 1914 CW 154 What is the relationship between those who have died and those who remain alive on Earth Can we help those now in the spiritual world Can they help us In these talks Rudolf Steiner deals with the spiritual relationships that the living can have with those who have crossed over the threshold between life and death In a realistic practical way he shows how an understanding of our spiritual nature reveals ways of knowing a world undreamed of by materialists The tone of these talks is warm and moving clearly drawn from Steiner's own experience and the lives of those who had died and who were personally known to him Robert Hamerling Christian Morgenstern and others This important work is for those who are coming to terms with the death of a loved one This book is a translation from German of Wie erwirbt man sich Verstndnis fr die geistige Welt Das Einflieen geistiger Impulse aus der Welt der Verstorbenen GA 154

Contemplative Pedagogies for

Transformative Teaching, Learning, and Being Jing Lin, Tom Culham, Sachi Edwards, 2019-11-25 This book critiques the focus on compartmentalized knowledge and standardized assessments in education advocating for contemplative inquiry to foster wisdom, morality, and joy. It explores educational practices using contemplative pedagogies like meditation, yoga, and arts to promote holistic growth, deep learning, and internal wisdom.

Teaching Gloria E. Anzalda Margaret Cant-Snchez, Candace de Len-Zepeda, Norma Elia Cant, 2020-09-29 Gloria Evangelina Anzalda, a theorist Chicana feminist, famously called on scholars to do work that matters. This pronouncement was a rallying call inspiring scholars across disciplines to become scholar activists and to channel their intellectual energy and labor toward the betterment of society. Scholars and activists alike have encountered and expanded on these pathbreaking theories and concepts first introduced by Anzalda in Borderlands La frontera and other texts. Teaching Gloria E. Anzalda is a pragmatic and inspiring offering of how to apply Anzalda's ideas to the classroom and in the community rather than simply discussing them as theory. The book gathers nineteen essays by scholars, activists, teachers, and professors who share how they first hand use of Anzalda's theories in their classrooms and community environments. The collection is divided into three main parts according to the ways the text has been used: Curriculum Design, Pedagogy, and Praxis, and Decolonizing Pedagogies. As a pedagogical text, Teaching Gloria E. Anzalda also offers practical advice in the form of lesson plans, activities, and other suggested resources for the classroom. This volume offers practical and inspiring ways to deploy Anzalda's transformative theories with real and meaningful action. Contributors: Carolina E. Storying Our Relationship with Nature Amanda Fiore, Jing Lin, 2024-04-04 This book takes readers on a journey that is part storytelling part academic analysis and part spiritual exploration The authors identify the climate emergency as a breakdown in spiritual consciousness which fails to recognize our deep interconnection with Nature To meet this crisis of spirit Storying Our Relationship with Nature serves as a guide for transforming ourselves and our lives through story and highlights the importance of social and emotional aspects of environmental education The authors introduce the philosophical and historical foundations of our objectification of Nature as a commodity and describe the effect this view has on our lives They detail a path forward through storytelling contemplative practice Eastern philosophy and the transformative power of education Throughout the book reflective activities provide a space for the reader to personalize their learning leading the reader towards the book's central message once we learn to consciously re-story our relationship with Nature we can transform our cultural narrative of fatalism and greed into one of love, determination and possibility helping us move towards a sustainable future First Steps to Seeing Emma Kidd, 2015-06-18 In the twenty first century we are confronted with a rapidly changing world full of social, economic and environmental uncertainties. We are all inherently connected to this changing world and in order to create the best possible conditions for life to thrive we must each develop an inner capacity to respond and adapt to life in new creative and innovative ways. The author of this visionary book argues that the path to a happy, healthy and peaceful world begins with the individual. By learning to recognise our cognitive habits of interrupting and defining life through our fixed ideas, labels and judgements we can begin to develop a dynamic way of seeing that enables us to perceive and respond to life with greater attentiveness. First Steps in Seeing reveals a practical set of stepping stones that guide the reader into this dynamic way of seeing and relating. Using personal stories, practical exercises and real world case studies in development, education and business the author takes the reader on a journey to explore how to give our full attention to life and how to enliven the world that we each co-create. An inspiring guide for all those working for social change in youth work, business, education or research or simply seeking fresh paths in life Teaching Sustainability Wendy Petersen Boring, William Forbes, William Forbes (Professor of geography), 2013 American colleges and universities have been relatively quick to address the challenge of sustainability in operations. Ironically they have been slower to respond in regard to their core mission educating students. Teaching sustainability aims to redress this shortcoming by opening doors to education for sustainability in the humanities and social sciences. The essays in this collection are richly diverse. They investigate ways sustainability education pushes back against traditional disciplines while it simultaneously benefits from the perspectives and skills these fields have to offer. They also address big questions such as how to make education meaningful, how to examine hidden assumptions underlying current curricula and how a focus on sustainability can answer critics of contemporary higher education. The heart of teaching sustainability is reflection and advice on pedagogy. From these richly diverse case studies important common themes emerge: the symbiotic relationship between classroom and campus operations, techniques for transforming the campus itself from merely a setting to a learning laboratory and the potential of community partners for teaching sense of place. An equally significant theme is the overlap between sustainability education and emerging best practice in pedagogy. Essays on theory and practice, individual and collaborative projects, service learning and consequential activities all exemplify how sustainability and deep learning go hand in hand. Like sustainability itself the volume infuses theory with practical application. The contributors demonstrate the ways in which a single course can serve as a powerful change agent for an entire campus, how to build bridges between faculty and administrators and even how to move forward on modest budgets. The authors themselves constitute a network of advisors. Publisher's description
