Meeting Community Needs Practical Librarians:

Meeting Community Needs Pamela H. MacKellar, 2015-12-15 Librarians must know how to provide essential programs and services that make a difference for the people they serve if libraries are going to survive. It is no longer realistic for librarians to rely on the idea that people love libraries so they will fund them in this economic climate. Librarians must be able to prove that their programs and services are making a difference if they want to compete for funding in their municipalities schools corporations colleges institutions and organizations. Meeting Community Needs A Practical Guide for Librarians presents a process that librarians of all kinds can use to provide effective programs and services. This requires being in close touch with your community whether it is a city town or village college or university public or private school or corporation hospital or business. Understanding what information people need how they access it how they use it how it benefits them and how they share it is paramount. The process in this book covers community assessment designing programs and services to meet needs implementing and evaluating programs and services and funding options. Providing library programs and services for your entire population not just library users is more important than ever. Librarians working in libraries of all types must provide programs and services that meet community needs if libraries are to stay relevant and survive in the long run. Librarians must be able to measure their success and demonstrate the library's worth with verifiable proof if they are going to be competitive for available funds in the future. Meeting Community Needs will make you take a serious look at how well your library programs and services are meeting your community's needs and it will show you the way to success.

Developing Community-Led Public Libraries John Pateman, Ken Williment, 2016-04-22 This important book examines the potential for a new community led service model in public libraries. Using theoretical approaches to working with socially excluded community members with a direct application of those approaches in Canadian public libraries the authors offer a powerful and persuasive case for adopting the community led approach in libraries worldwide. The book showcases good practice and outlines the challenges to community development work. With public libraries facing budget cuts this book offers an alternative way forward based on a community led approach to developing needs based library services. This book makes a unique contribution to public library thinking and policy synthesising the outcomes of research and best practice at the cutting edge of library service delivery and will be essential reading for all those researching and working in the public library sector.

Libraries, Telecentres, Cybercafes and Public Access to ICT: International Comparisons Gomez, Ricardo, 2011-07-31 Public venues are vital to information access across the globe yet few formal studies exist of the complex ways people in developing countries use information technologies in public access places. Libraries Telecentres Cybercafes and Public Access to ICT International Comparisons presents groundbreaking research on the new challenges and opportunities faced by public libraries community telecentres and cybercafes that offer public access to computers and other information and communication technologies. Written in plain language the book presents an in depth analysis of the spaces that serve underserved populations bridge digital divides and further social and economic development objectives including employability With examples and experiences from around the world this book sheds light on a surprising and understudied facet of the digital revolution at a time when effective digital inclusion strategies are needed more than ever
