Medicine Mobility And Power In Global Africa Transnational Health And Healing:

Medicine, Mobility, and Power in Global Africa Hansjörg Dilger, Abdoulaye Kane, Stacey A. Langwick, 2012-10-08
Recent political social and economic changes in Africa have provoked radical shifts in the landscape of health and healthcare. Medicine Mobility and Power in Global Africa captures the multiple dynamics of a globalized world and its impact on medicine, health, and the delivery of healthcare in Africa and beyond. Essays by an international group of contributors take on intractable problems such as HIV/AIDS, malaria, and insufficient access to healthcare, drugs, resources, hospitals, and technologies. The movements of people and resources described here expose the growing challenges of poverty and public health, but they also show how new opportunities have been created for transforming healthcare and promoting care and healing. Research Handbook on Socio-Legal Studies of Medicine and Health Marie-Andrée Jacob, Anna Kirkland, 2020-09-25 This timely Research Handbook offers significant insights into an understudied subject, bringing together a broad range of socio-legal studies of medicine to help answer complex and interdisciplinary questions about global health, a major challenge of our time. Medical Anthropology in Global Africa Kathryn Rhine, John M. Janzen, Glenn E. Adams, Heather Aldersey, 2014 The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Medicine, and Health Dorothea Lüddeckens, Philipp Hetmanczyk, Pamela E. Klassen, Justin B. Stein, 2021-11-24 The relationships between religion, spirituality, health, biomedical institutions, complementary and alternative healing systems are widely discussed today. While many of these debates revolve around the biomedical legitimacy of religious modes of healing, the market for them continues to grow. The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Medicine, and Health is an outstanding reference source to the key topics, problems, and debates in this exciting subject and is the first collection of its kind. Comprising over thirty-five chapters by a team of international contributors, the Handbook is divided into five parts: Healing practices with religious roots and frames; Religious actors in and around the medical field; Organizing infrastructures of religion and medicine; pluralism and competition; Boundary making between religion and medicine; Religion and epidemics. Within these sections, central issues, debates, and problems are examined, including health and healing, religiosity, spirituality, biomedicine, medicalization, complementary medicine, medical therapy, efficacy, agency, and the nexus of body, mind, and spirit. The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Medicine, and Health is essential reading for students and researchers in religious studies. The Handbook will also be very useful for those in related fields such as sociology, anthropology, and medicine. Transition, 2012 Circulation and Governance of Asian Medicine Céline Coderey, Laurent Pordié, 2019-08-29 This book unpacks the organized sets of practices that govern contemporary Asian medicine, from production of medications in the lab to their circulation within circuits and networks of all kinds, and examines the plurality of actors involved in such governance. Chapters analyze the process of industrialization and commercialization of Asian medicine and the ways in which the expansion of the market in Asian medicines has contributed to the inscription of products within a large system of governance greatly dominated by global actors and the biomedical hegemony At the same time the contributors argue that local actors continue to play a major role in reshaping the regulations and their implementation thus complexifying the trajectory of the remedies and their natures Examining in particular the plurality of actors involved in governance and circulation and the converging or conflicting logics actors follow in regard to negotiations and tensions that arise the book brings a unique multi layered contribution to the study of governance and circulation of Asian medicines offering further proof of their fluidity and resilience Filling a significant gap in the market by addressing circulation and governance of Asian medicines in Asian countries including Bangladesh Myanmar and Singapore this book will be of interest to students and scholars in the field of Asian studies Asian culture and society global health Asian medicine and medical anthropology

Affective Trajectories Hansjörg Dilger,Astrid Bochow,Marian Burchardt,Matthew Wilhelm-Solomon,2020-02-28 The contributors to Affective Trajectories examine the mutual and highly complex entwinements between religion and affect in urban Africa in the early twenty first century tracing the myriad ways religious ideas practices and materialities interact with affect to configure life in urban African spaces

Making and Unmaking Public Health in Africa Ruth J. Prince,Rebecca Marsland,2013-11-15 Africa has emerged as a prime arena of global health interventions that focus on particular diseases and health emergencies These are framed increasingly in terms of international concerns about security human rights and humanitarian crisis This presents a stark contrast to the 1960s and 70s when many newly independent African governments pursued the vision of public health for all of comprehensive health care services directed by the state with support from foreign donors These initiatives often failed undermined by international politics structural adjustment and neoliberal policies and by African states themselves Yet their traces remain in contemporary expectations of and yearnings for a more robust public health This volume explores how medical professionals and patients government officials and ordinary citizens approach questions of public health as they navigate contemporary landscapes of NGOs and transnational projects faltering state services and expanding privatization Its contributors analyze the relations between the public and the private providers of public health from the state to new global biopolitical formations of political institutions markets human populations and health Tensions and ambiguities animate these complex relationships suggesting that the question of what public health actually is in Africa cannot be taken for granted Offering historical and ethnographic analyses the volume develops an anthropology of public health in Africa Contributors Hannah Brown P Wenzel Geissler Murray Last Rebecca Marsland Lotte Meinert Benson A Mulemi Ruth J Prince No mi Tousignant and Susan Reynolds Whyte

A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa Roy Richard Grinker,Stephen C.

Lubkemann, Christopher B. Steiner, Euclides Gonçalves, 2018-11-09 An essential collection of scholarly essays on the anthropology of Africa offering a thorough introduction to the most important topics in this evolving and diverse field of study The study of the cultures of Africa has been central to the methodological and theoretical development of anthropology as a discipline since the late 19th century As the anthropology of Africa has emerged as a distinct field of study anthropologists working in this tradition have strived to build a disciplinary conversation that recognizes the diversity and complexity of modern and ancient African cultures while acknowledging the effects of historical anthropology on the present and future of the field of study A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa is a collection of insightful essays covering the key questions and subjects in the contemporary anthropology of Africa with a key focus on addressing the topics that define the contemporary discipline Written and edited by a team of leading cultural anthropologists it is an ideal introduction to the most important topics in the field both those that have consistently been a part of the critical dialogue and those that have emerged as the central questions of the discipline's future Beginning with essays on the enduring topics in the study of African cultures A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa provides a foundation in the contemporary critical approach to subjects of longstanding interest With these subjects as a groundwork later essays address decolonization the postcolonial experience and questions of modern identity and definition providing representation of the diverse thinking and scholarship in the modern anthropology of Africa

Se mobiliser contre le sida en Afrique Christophe Broqua, 2019-01-22 Dans les pays du Nord les mobilisations associatives ont marqué la toute l'histoire du sida Qu'en est-il en Afrique le continent le plus touché par le sida Bien que des associations spécialisées y existent depuis de nombreuses années peu d'attention leur a été accordée Cet ouvrage le premier d'une telle ampleur sur les dynamiques associatives liées au sida en Afrique témoigne de l'évolution des formes collectives d'organisation et de résistance face au sida sur ce continent

Abstracts of the Annual Meeting American Anthropological Association, 1998 International Books in Print, 1997 Medicines That Feed Us Stacey Ann Langwick, 2026-02-10 Medicines That Feed Us examines the relationship between toxicity and remedy in the face of the intertwined health and environmental crises that have shaped the twenty-first century Through ethnographic work with organizations that use plant-based healing and farming practices in Tanzania Stacey A. Langwick asks what does it mean to heal in a toxic world Langwick proposes the Tanzanian phrase dawa lishe or medicines that feed us as a system of understanding how plant medicines can better align bodies with the earth This conceptualization of medicine runs counter to Western medicine's conceptualization of health as separate from the earth and the modern agricultural industrial and land management practices that impact it. Rather than representing a return to traditional African healing, dawa lishe draws from both local and contemporary knowledges to craft a holistic approach to plant medicine as well as its production, distribution and administration. The practitioners and NGOs that Langwick follows offer alternative ways of living and dying, growing and decaying, composing and decomposing that acknowledge the interdependence of bodily and ecological health. Cultural Anthropology Marvin Harris, Orna Johnson, 2007 Textbook on cultural anthropology American Doctoral Dissertations, 2002 Healing Knowledge in Atlantic Africa Kalle Kananoja, 2021-02-04 Kananoja demonstrates how medical interaction in early modern Atlantic Africa was characterised by continuous knowledge exchange between Africans and Europeans. Medicine, mobility and the empire Markku Hokkanen, 2017-11-02 David Livingstone's Zambesi expedition marked the beginning of an ongoing series of medical exchanges between the British and Malawians. This book explores these entangled histories by placing medicine in the frameworks of mobilities and networks that extended across Southern Africa and beyond. It provides a new approach to the study of medicine and empire. Drawing on a range of written and oral sources, the book argues that mobility was a crucial aspect of intertwined medical cultures that shared a search for therapy in changing conditions. Mobile individuals, ideas and materials played key roles in medical networks that involved both professionals and laypeople. These networks connected colonial medicine with Protestant Christianity and migrant labour. The book will be of value to scholars and students of history and anthropology of colonialism and medicine as well as a wider readership interested in the plural search for health in Africa and globally.
