Mediterranean Diasporas Maurizio Isabella, Konstantina Zanou, 2015-11-19 Explores displacement and the circulation of ideas in the Mediterranean from the Napoleonic invasions to the end of the Ottoman Empire Mediterranean Diasporas Maurizio Isabella, Konstantina Zanou, 2016 Mediterranean Diasporas looks at the relationship between displacement and the circulation of ideas within and from the Mediterranean basin in the long 19th century In bringing together leading historians working on Southern Europe the Balkans and the Ottoman Empire for the first time it builds bridges across national historiographies raises a number of comparative questions and unveils unexplored intellectual connections and ideological formulations The book shows that in the so called age of nationalism the idea of the nation state was by no means dominant as displaced intellectuals and migrant communities developed notions of double national affiliations imperial patriotism and liberal imperialism By adopting the Mediterranean as a framework of analysis the collection offers a fresh contribution to the growing field of transnational and global intellectual history revising the genealogy of 19th century nationalism and liberalism and reveals new perspectives on the intellectual dynamics of the age of revolutions From publisher s website

Machiavelli, Islam and the East Lucio Biasiori, Giuseppe Marcocci, 2017-10-28 This volume provides the first survey of the unexplored connections between Machiavelli s work and the Islamic world running from the Arabic roots of The Prince to its first translations into Ottoman Turkish and Arabic It investigates comparative descriptions of non European peoples Renaissance representations of Muhammad and the Ottoman military discipline a Jesuit treatise in Persian for a Mughal emperor peculiar readers from Brazil to India and the parallel lives of Machiavelli and the bureaucrat Celalzade Muaf Ten distinguished scholars analyse the backgrounds circulation and reception of Machiavelli s writings focusing on many aspects of the mutual exchange of political theories and grammars between East and West A significant contribution to attempts by current scholarship to challenge any rigid separation within Eurasia this volume restores a sense of the global spreading of books ideas and men in the past State, Nationalism, and the Jewish Communities of Modern Greece Evdoxios Doxiadis, 2019-12-26 By looking at the very specific case of the Greek speaking Romaniote and the Ladino speaking Sephardic communities in Southern Greece Epirus and Macedonia this book explores the attitudes and policies of the Greek state with regards to the Jewish communities both within its borders and in the areas of the Ottoman Empire it craved Evdoxios Doxiadis traces the evolution of these policies from the time of Greek independence to the expansion of the Greek state in the early 20th century telling us a great deal about the Jewish experience and the changing face of modern Greek nationalism in the process Based on the evidence of numerous Greek consular reports speeches memoirs political interviews and coverage of the status and treatment of the communities by the international Jewish press State Nationalism and the Jewish Communities of Modern Greece sketches a detailed picture of the Greek political elite and the state s bureaucratic view of the various Jewish communities By focusing on the state though not ignoring popular attitudes the book successfully argues that the Greek state followed policies that did not conform and often were in opposition to popular attitudes when it came to minorities and the Jews in particular By focusing on the Jewish communities in modern Greece separately the book allows us to recognize how Greek governments recognized and used divisions and conflicts between the communities and other minorities to achieve their goals As a result Greek state policies can be seen in a new light providing a more comprehensive understanding of the relationship between the Jewish people and the Greek state Using this case study Doxiadis then discusses broader questions of state nationalism and minorities in a volume of significant interest for students and scholars of modern Greek or modern Jewish history alike

Australia, Migration and Empire Philip Payton, Andrekos Varnava, 2019-08-12 This edited collection explores how migrants played a major role in the creation and settlement of the British Empire by focusing on a series of Australian case studies Despite their shared experiences of migration and settlement migrants nonetheless often exhibited distinctive cultural identities which could be deployed for advantage Migration established global mobility as a defining feature of the Empire Ethnicity class and gender were often powerful determinants of migrant attitudes and behaviour This volume addresses these considerations illuminating the complexity and diversity of the British Empire's global immigration story Since 1788 the propensity of the populations of Britain and Ireland to immigrate to Australia varied widely but what this volume highlights is their remarkable diversity in character and impact The book also presents the opportunities that existed for other immigrant groups to demonstrate their loyalty as members of the white Australian community along with notable exceptions which demonstrated the limits of this inclusivity

Revolutionary Spring Christopher Clark,2023-04-27 One of the best history books you will read this decade History Today Fascinating suspenseful revelatory alive The Times There can be few more exciting or frightening moments in European history than the spring of 1848 As if by magic in city after city from Palermo to Paris to Venice huge crowds gathered sometimes peaceful and sometimes violent and the political order that had held sway since the defeat of Napoleon simply collapsed Christopher Clark s spectacular new book recreates with verve wit and insight this extraordinary period Some rulers gave up at once others fought bitterly but everywhere new politicians beliefs and expectations surged forward The role of women in society the end of slavery the right to work national independence and the emancipation of the Jews all became live issues Clark conjures up both this ferment of new ideas and then the increasingly ruthless and effective series of counter attacks launched by regimes who still turned out to have many cards to play But even in defeat exiles spread the ideas of 1848 around the world and for better and sometimes much worse a new and very different Europe emerged from the wreckage

Transnational Patriotism in the Mediterranean, 1800-1850

Konstantina Zanou,2018-11-01 Transnational Patriotism in the Mediterranean investigates the long process of transition from a world of empires to a world of nation states by narrating the biographies of a group of people who were born within empires but came of age surrounded by the emerging vocabulary of nationalism much of which they themselves created It is the story of a generation of intellectuals and political thinkers from the Ionian Islands who experienced the collapse of the Republic of Venice and the dissolution of the common cultural and political space of the Adriatic and who contributed to the creation of Italian and Greek nationalisms By uncovering this forgotten intellectual universe Transnational Patriotism in the Mediterranean retrieves a world characterized by multiple cultural intellectual and political affiliations that have since been buried by the conventional narrative of the formation of nation states Transnational Patriotism in the Mediterranean rethinks the origins of Italian and Greek nationalisms and states highlighting the intellectual connection between the Italian peninsula Greece and Russia and reestablishing the lost link between the changing geopolitical contexts of western Europe the Mediterranean and the Balkans in the Age of Revolutions It re inscribes important intellectuals and political figures considered national fathers of Italy and Greece such as Ugo Foscolo Dionysios Solomos Ioannis Kapodistrias and Niccol Tommaseo into their regional and multicultural context and shows how nations emerged from an intermingling rather than a clash of ideas concerning empire and liberalism Enlightenment and religion revolution and conservatism and East and West

Yearbook of International Organizations 2004/2005 Union of International

Associations, 2004      Re-Imagining Democracy in the Mediterranean, 1780-1860 Joanna Innes, Mark Philp, 2018-10-25

Mediterranean states are often thought to have democratised only in the post war era as authoritarian regimes were successively overthrown. On its eastern and southern shores the process is still contested. Re-imagining Democracy looks back to an earlier era, the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, and argues it was this era when some modern version of democracy in the region first began. By the 1860s representative regimes had been established throughout southern Europe and representation was also the subject of experiment and debate in Ottoman territories. Talk of democracy, its merits and limitations, accompanied much of this experimentation, though there was no agreement as to whether or how it could be given stable political form. Re-imagining Democracy assembles experts in the history of the Mediterranean who have been exploring these themes collaboratively to compare and contrast experiences in this region so that they can be set alongside better known debates and experiments in North Atlantic states. States in the region all experienced some form of subordination to northern great powers. In this context, their inhabitants had to grapple with broader changes in ideas about state and society while struggling to achieve and maintain meaningful self-rule at the level of the polity and self-respect at the level of culture. Innes and Philip highlight new research and ideas about a region whose experiences during the age of revolutions are at best patchily known and understood, as well as to expand understanding of the complex and variegated history of democracy as an idea and set of practices.

Political Uses of the Past Jacques Revel, Giovanni Levi, 2002. A group of leading historians and thinkers discuss questions of collective identity and representation in relation to the fluctuating concept of past and its changing relevance.

Planting Politics: Pastoralists and French Environmental Administration in the Nineteenth-Century Mediterranean Andrea Elizabeth Williams, 2013. The appearance of common themes and even characters in seemingly disparate parts of the Mediterranean affirms the value of a transnational approach to this subject and indeed its significance extends beyond Provence, Algeria, and Anatolia. It is representative of the nineteenth-century evolution of agro-sylvo-pastoral societies throughout the Mediterranean region. It is also a global story illuminating the connections and conflicts between subaltern groups and the state. This dissertation presents new perspectives on the relationship among politics, societies, and the environment around the Mediterranean and around the world.

The Struggle for the Control of the Mediterranean Prior To 1848 James Edgar Swain, 2013-02      French Mediterraneans Patricia M. E. Lorcin, Todd Shepard, 2016-05. While the Mediterranean is often considered a distinct unified space, recent scholarship on the early modern history of the sea has suggested that this perspective is essentially a Western one, devised from the vantage point of imperial power that historically patrolled the region's seas and controlled its ports. By contrast, for the peoples of its southern shores, the Mediterranean was polymorphous, shifting with the economic and seafaring exigencies of the moment. Nonetheless, by the nineteenth century, the idea of a monolithic Mediterranean had either been absorbed by or imposed on the populations of the region. In French Mediterraneans, editors Patricia M. E. Lorcin and Todd Shepard offer a collection of scholarship that reveals the important French element in the nineteenth and twentieth century creation of the singular Mediterranean These essays provide a critical study of space and movement through new approaches to think about the maps migrations and margins of the sea in the French imperial and transnational context By reconceptualizing the Mediterranean this volume illuminates the diversity of connections between places and polities that rarely fit models of nation state allegiances or preordained geographies The Mediterranean in Politics Elizabeth Monroe,1938
