Roberto F. Aguilera, Marian Radetzki, 2016 This book explains why oil prices rose so spectacularly in the past and examines how they will be suppressed in the future Green Energy Futures: A Big Change for the Good David Elliott, 2015-10-08 What will replace fossil fuel Is there a way forward using renewable energy sources while avoiding nuclear power This book argues that nuclear is unlikely to have much of a role in future and shows that the pro and anti nuclear debate has absorbed too much time and energy over the years This has been to the detriment of a more relevant interesting and increasingly urgent debate over what sort of renewable efficiency mix we need This book engages in that debate exploring the implications of shifting to greener cleaner energy sources Importantly David Elliott argues there is no one green future There is a range of possible options of various types and scales we need to choose amongst them This book offers an overview of the technical economic and environmental issues to help scholars professionals and policy makers involved in discussing those options International Resource Politics in the Asia-Pacific Jeffrey David Wilson, 2017-06-30 Resource security is a new battleground in the international politics of the Asia Pacific With demand for minerals and energy surging disputes are emerging over access and control of scarce natural resource endowments Drawing on critical insights from political economy this book explains why resources have emerged as a source of inter state conflict in the region Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015, Volumes 1a & 1b (Set) Union of International Associations, 2014-06-16 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events Regional Cooperation for Sustainable Energy in Asia and the Pacific United Nations Publications, 2017 This publication is the theme study for the 73rd session of Commission to be held in May 2017 The main purpose of the publication is to call on policymakers in Asia and the Pacific for urgent actions to transition national energy sectors to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals SDG particularly Goal 7 The energy sector transition is the only way to address the sizeable energy deficit which impede progress in energy access in a number of member countries It will also address gaps between current commitments under the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the Paris Agreement on climate change and lack of coherent energy strategic and policy frameworks and actions held back progress of SDG7 Journal of Economic Literature, 2014 Arab Region Progress in Sustainable Energy Laura El-Katiri, Radia Sedaoui, 2017 This publication provides an overview of the progress made by the Arab region in recent years and decades in the area of sustainable energy management and universal energy access Page 4 of cover 2016 Regional Trends Report Jun Tian (Economist), Sean Ratka, Kimberly Roseberry, 2016 The 2016 Regional Trends Report on Energy for Sustainable Development in Asia and the Pacific supports the implementation of the SDG7 and outcomes of the Asian and Pacific Energy Forum 2013 Best Practice Guidance for Effective Methane Drainage and Use in Coal Mines United Nations Publications, 2016 Today coal supplies around 30 per cent of global primary energy and 40 per cent of global electricity Coal extraction has become increasingly challenging as shallow reserves are exhausted and deeper seams with significant content of methane are mined Societies are demanding and expecting safer mine working conditions and greater environmental stewardship from the coal industry The global coal industry national governments trade unions and worker safety advocates are concerned that the frequency and severity of methane explosions especially in emerging economies are unacceptably high Coal mine methane CMM only becomes flammable and creates an explosion hazard when allowed to mix with air Methane rich gases generally containing 80 per cent to 95 per cent methane at underground mining depths occur naturally in coal seams and are released as CMM when coal seams are disturbed by mining activities Methane is an explosive gas in the range of 5 per cent to 15 per cent methane in air The application of best practices for methane drainage and use is critical to reduce methane related accidents and explosions that all too often accompany coal mining while also contributing to environmental protection through reduction of greenhouse gas GHG emissions Good mining practices need to be transferred to all countries to ensure that risks are managed professionally and effectively No mine even in the most developed countries is free from safety risks Regardless of location or mining conditions it is possible to significantly reduce the risk of methane related incidents and explosions Good safety practice in coal mines is to reduce explosion risk by preventing the occurrence of explosive mixtures and where practical by monitoring and rapidly diluting explosive mixtures to safe concentrations Renewable Energy, Medium-term Market Report ... ,2012
