Corr, 2018-12-13 Revisiting the Classic Studies is a series of texts that introduces readers to the studies in psychology that changed the way we think about core topics in the discipline today. It provokes students to ask more interesting and challenging questions about the field by encouraging a deeper level of engagement both with the details of the studies themselves and with the nature of their contribution. Edited by leading scholars in their field and written by researchers at the cutting edge of these developments, the chapters in each text provide details of the original works and their theoretical and empirical impact and then discuss the ways in which thinking and research has advanced in the years since the studies were conducted. Personality and Individual Differences Revisiting the Classic Studies traces 14 ground-breaking studies by researchers such as Hans Eysenck, Raymond Cattell, Ernest Tupes and Raymond Christal to re-examine and reflect on their findings and engage in a lively discussion of the subsequent work that they have inspired. Personality and Individual Differences, 1980. Encyclopedia of Personality and Individual Differences, 19?? Personality and Individual

Shackelford, 2018-05-08 The examination of personality and individual differences is a major field of research in the modern discipline of psychology. Concerned with the ways humans develop an organised set of characteristics to shape themselves and the world around them, it is a study of how people come to be different and similar to others on both an individual and a cultural level. This volume focuses on the multiple origins of personality and individual differences in chapters arranged across three thematic sections: Part 1 Biological Origins of Personality and Individual Differences; Part 2 Developmental Origins of Personality and Individual Differences; Part 3 Environmental Origins of Personality and Individual Differences. With outstanding contributions from leading scholars across the world, this is an invaluable resource for researchers and graduate students. Personality and Individual Differences Michael Eysenck, 2012-02-09 This book presents an introduction to the study of personality and individual differences but it is not a textbook in the usual sense. As we shall point out in some detail later, typically textbooks on personality and individual differences either deal with statistical and psychometric problems, methodology and the technical issues of measurement, or else they present the different theories of personality associated with various authors such as Maslow, Cattell, Freud, Jung, Murray, Rogers, Rotter, or to whomever the various eponymous chapters may be dedicated. The theories are presented together with a brief mention of some empirical studies but the student is not enlightened as to the weight to be given to the supporting evidence nor is any comparison attempted between the different theories, formulating judgments regarding completeness, criteria adopted or validity in terms of
