Media Argumentation Douglas Walton, 2007-09-24 Media argumentation is a powerful force in our lives From political speeches to television commercials to war propaganda it can effectively mobilize political action influence the public and market products This book presents a new and systematic way of thinking about the influence of mass media in our lives showing the intersection of media sources with argumentation theory informal logic

computational theory and theories of persuasion Using a variety of case studies that represent arguments that typically occur in the mass media Douglas Walton demonstrates how tools recently developed in argumentation theory can be usefully applied to the identification analysis and evaluation of media arguments He draws upon the most recent developments in artificial intelligence including dialogical theories of argument which he developed as well as speech act theory Each chapter presents solutions to problems central to understanding analyzing and criticizing media argumentation Argumentation and Advocacy, 2006 The Relativity of Theory Moti Mizrahi, 2020-09-29 This book offers a close and rigorous examination of the arguments for and against scientific realism and introduces key positions in the scientific realism antirealism debate which is one of the central debates in contemporary philosophy of science On the one hand scientific realists argue that we have good reasons to believe that our best scientific theories are approximately true because if they were not even approximately true they would not be able to explain and predict natural phenomena with such impressive accuracy On the other hand antirealists argue that the success of science does not warrant belief in the approximate truth of our best scientific theories This is because the history of science is a graveyard of theories that were once successful but were later discarded The author eventually settles on a middle ground position between scientific realism and antirealism called relative realism Proceedings of the Second International Conference on Argumentation International Society for the Study of Argumentation, 1991

Persuasion William Rogers, 2007 Persuasion Messages Receivers and Contexts covers key topics such as ethics and deception audience analysis nonverbal communication and culture and shows students how to develop critical skills as senders and receivers of persuasive messages The text presents contemporary research in an accessible and engaging format for students while also encouraging them to apply persuasion principles and theories to real world case studies like campaigns and news coverage Students are also guided to develop skills in public speaking debate courtroom communication interpersonal communication and more Persuasion features extended discussions of propaganda political persuasion advertising and sender receiver skills development The text covers research findings on persuasive effects and theories including theories of behavior and behavioral intention consistency elaboration likelihood dramatism classical rhetoric visual rhetoric and mass communication Filled with practical guidelines for creating and analyzing persuasive messages Persuasion is an ideal primary text for courses in persuasion persuasion and propaganda and persuasion and rhetoric

On Reasoning and Argument David Hitchcock, 2017-04-06 This book brings together in one place David Hitchcock's most significant published articles on reasoning and argument In seven new chapters he updates his thinking in the light of subsequent scholarship Collectively the papers articulate a distinctive position in the philosophy of argumentation Among other things the author develops an account of material consequence that permits evaluation of inferences without problematic postulation of unstated premises updates his recursive definition of argument that accommodates chaining and embedding of arguments and allows any type of illocutionary act to be a conclusion advances a general theory of relevance provides comprehensive frameworks for evaluating inferences in reasoning by analogy means end reasoning and appeals to considerations or criteria argues that none of the forms of arguing ad hominem is a fallacy describes proven methods of teaching critical thinking effectively     The Book of Isaiah: Isaiah XL.-LXVI. 7th ed George Adam Smith,1895     Game Theory and Minorities in American Literature Michael Wainwright,2017-03-07 This interdisciplinary monograph applies the theory of games of strategy or game theory to an important subset of American literature minoritarian texts Fittingly John von Neumann s game theory as a mathematical subdiscipline practically abandoned by its founder after the publication of Zur Theorie der Gesellschaftsspiele 1928 but purposefully reengaged with on his permanent relocation to America in 1938 carries the minoritarian credentials of a Hungarian born national of Jewish descent The state of international politics in the late 1930s certainly contributed to von Neumann s renewed interest in his theory but a socioeconomic environment built on the legacy of slavery focused a reengagement with coordination problems that would last until his death In these strategic situations people must make choices in the knowledge that other people face the same options and that the outcome for each person will result from everybody s decisions The four most frequently encountered coordination problems are the Stag Hunt the Prisoner s Dilemma Chicken and Deadlock Minoritarians find majoritarian attempts to control these social dilemmas particularly challenging Hence a game theoretically inflected hermeneutic that identifies the logical rational and strategic state of human interrelations not only helps to categorize but also to analyze minoritarian texts The authors under detailed consideration are Benjamin Franklin Frederick Douglass Harriet A Jacobs Zora Neale Hurston William Faulkner Toni Morrison and Mohsin Hamid     In Defense of Informal Logic D.S. Levi,2013-03-09 My impulse when I decided to collect into a single volume the essays on topics in logical theory and related subjects that I have written in the last fifteen years was to borrow from the title of a work by Sextus Empiricus and call my collection Against the Logicians Although the essays address a variety of problems that interest me the thread that runs through them is a scepticism about how logicians see things So the title appealed to me However I had second thoughts and chose instead a title of one of my own essays In Defense of Informal Logic which emphasizes my support for other approaches Although my criticisms of logical theory are designed to cut deeply I do not want to be unresponsive to the needs that it is supposed to satisfy However my position that we have adequate resources for critically analyzing a particular argument and do not need a theory of argumentation will not completely satisfy those who think that there is a need for it So I want them to know that I am taking their concerns seriously

Cumulative Book Index ,1998 A world list of books in the English language     The Place of Emotion in Argument Douglas N. Walton,1992 Appeals to emotion pity fear popular sentiment and ad hominem attacks are commonly used in argumentation Instead of dismissing these appeals as fallacious wherever they occur as many do Walton urges that each use be judged on its merits He distinguished three main categories of evaluation First is it reasonable even if not conclusive as an argument Second is it weak and therefore open to critical questioning for argument And third is it fallacious The third category is a strong charge that incurs a critical burden to back it up by citing evidence from the given text and context of dialogue Walton uses fifty six case studies to demonstrate that the problem of emotional fallacies is much subtler than has been previously believed Ranging over commercial advertisements political debates union management negotiations and ethical disputes the case studies reveal that these four types of appeals while based on presumptive reasoning that are tentative and subject to default are not always or necessarily fallacious types of argumentation Contemporary

Perspectives on Rhetoric Sonja K. Foss, Karen A. Foss, Robert Trapp, 2002 Thorough in scope and highly accessible this volume introduces the reader to the thinkers who have exerted a profound influence on contemporary rhetorical theory The brief biographical sketches locate the theorists in time and place showing how life experiences influenced perspectives on rhetorical thought The concise explanations of complex concepts are clear and provide readers with a solid foundation for reading the major works of these scholars The critical commentary is carefully chosen to place the theories within a broader rhetorical context Each chapter ends with a complete bibliography of works by the theorists Previous editions have been praised as indispensable the Third Edition is equally essential The Limits of Expanding Liability: Eight Fundamental Cases in a Comparative Perspective Jaap Spier, 1998-06-10 Liability law is expanding in many areas and many countries This development is potentially worrisome It may affect the availability of useful goods and services and has a negative impact on insurability This calls for research into techniques to keep liability law within reasonable and sustainable limits This book sheds light on the techniques used in the respective countries highlighted on the basis of eight cases International

Legal Perspectives, 2002 The Limits of Expanding Liability: Eight Fundamental Cases in a Comparative Perspective Christian von Bar, 1998-06-10 Liability law is expanding in many areas and many countries This development is potentially worrisome It may affect the availability of useful goods and services and has a negative impact on insurability This calls for research into techniques to keep liability law within reasonable and sustainable limits This book sheds light on the techniques used in the respective countries highlighted on the basis of eight cases Perspective, 1970 The Origin of Perspective Hubert Damisch, 1994 The second part of the book brings the historical invention of perspective into focus discussing the experiments with mirrors made by Brunelleschi connecting it to the history of consciousness via Jacques Lacan's definition of the tableau as a configuration in which the subject as such gets its bearings East Asian and European Perspectives on International Law Michael Stolleis, Masaharu Yanagihara, 2004
