Pervasive Animation Afi Film Readers:

Pervasive Animation Suzanne Buchan, 2013-08-22 This new addition to the AFI Film Readers series brings together original scholarship on animation in contemporary moving image culture from classic experimental and independent shorts to digital animation and installation The collection that is also a philosophy of animation foregrounds new critical perspectives on animation connects them to historical and contemporary philosophical and theoretical contexts and production practice and expands the existing canon Throughout contributors offer an interdisciplinary roadmap of new directions in film and animation studies discussing animation in relationship to aesthetics ideology philosophy historiography visualization genealogies spectatorship representation technologies and material culture Hollywood Puzzle Films

Warren Buckland, 2014-05-30 From Inception to The Lake House moviegoers are increasingly flocking to narratologically complex puzzle films These puzzle movies borrow techniques like fragmented spatio temporal reality time loops unstable characters with split identities or unreliable narrators more commonly attributed to art cinema and independent films The essays in Hollywood Puzzle Films examine the appropriation of puzzle film techniques by contemporary Hollywood dramas and blockbusters through questions of narrative time and altered realities Analyzing movies like Source Code The Butterfly Effect Donnie Darko D j Vu and adaptations of Philip K Dick contributors explore the implications of Hollywood s new movie mind games Animation and Memory Maarten van Gageldonk, László Munteán, Ali Shobeiri, 2020-08-20 This book examines the role of memory in animation as well as the ways in which the medium of animation can function as a technology of remembering and forgetting By doing so it establishes a platform for the cross fertilization between the burgeoning fields of animation studies and memory studies By analyzing a wide range of different animation types from stop motion to computer animation and from cell animated cartoons to painted animation this book explores the ways in which animation can function as a representational medium The five parts of the book discuss the interrelation of animation and memory through the lens of materiality corporeality animation techniques the city and animated documentaries These discussions raise a number of questions how do animation films bring forth personal and collective pasts What is the role of found footage objects and sound in the material and affective dimensions of animation How does animation serve political ends The essays in this volume offer answers to these questions through a wide variety of case studies and contexts The book will appeal to both a broad academic and a more general readership with an interest in animation studies memory studies cultural studies comparative visual arts and media studies Chapter Introduction is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link.springer.com Ecocinema Theory and Practice Stephen Rust, Salma Monani, Sean Cubitt, 2013 This is an anthology that offers a comprehensive introduction to the rapidly growing field of eco film criticism a branch of critical scholarship that investigates cinema s intersections with environmental understandings

Cognitive Media Theory Ted Nannicelli, Paul Taberham, 2014-03-26 Across the academy scholars are debating the question of what bearing scientific inquiry has upon the humanities The latest addition to the AFI Film Readers series Cognitive Media Theory takes up this question in the context of film and media studies This collection of essays by internationally recognized researchers in film and media studies psychology and philosophy offers film and media scholars and advanced students an introduction to contemporary cognitive media theory an approach to the study of diverse media forms and content that draws upon both the methods and explanations of the sciences and the humanities Exploring topics that range from color perception to the moral appraisal of characters to our interactive engagement with videogames Cognitive Media Theory showcases the richness and diversity of cognitivist research This volume will be of interest not only to students and scholars of film and media but to anyone interested in the possibility of a productive relationship between the sciences and humanities

Media Authorship Cynthia Chris, David A. Gerstner, 2013-02-15 Contemporary media authorship is frequently collaborative participatory non site specific or quite simply goes unrecognized In this volume media and film scholars explore the theoretical debates around authorship intention and identity within the rapidly transforming and globalized culture industry of new media Defining media broadly across a range of creative artifacts and production cultures from visual arts to videogames from textiles to television contributors consider authoring practices of artists designers do it yourselfers media professionals scholars and others Specifically they ask What constitutes media and authorship in a technologically converged globally conglomerated multiplatform environment for the production and distribution of content What can we learn from cinematic and literary models of authorship and critiques of those models with regard to authorship not only in television and recorded music but also interactive media such as videogames and the Internet How do we conceive of authorship through practices in which users generate content collaboratively or via appropriation What institutional prerogatives and legal debates around intellectual property rights fair use and copyright bear on concepts of authorship in new media By addressing these issues Media Authorship demonstrates that the concept of authorship as formulated in literary and film studies is reinvigorated contested remade even reauthored by new practices in the digital media environment

Color and the Moving Image Simon Brown, Sarah Street, Liz Watkins, 2013-10-28 This new AFI Film Reader is the first comprehensive collection of original essays on the use of color in film Contributors from diverse film studies backgrounds consider the importance of color throughout the history of the medium assessing not only the theoretical implications of color on the screen but also the ways in which developments in cinematographic technologies transformed the aesthetics of color and the nature of film archiving and restoration Color and the Moving Image includes new writing on key directors whose work is already associated with color such as Hitchcock Jarman and Sirk as well as others whose use of color has not yet been explored in such detail including Eric Rohmer and the Coen Brothers This volume is an excellent resource for a variety of film studies courses and the global film archiving community at large
