evidence indicates that prices did not fall with rising Internet usage for insurance types that were not covered by the comparison websites nor did they in the period before the insurance sites came online The results suggest that growth of the Internet has reduced term life prices by 8 to 15 percent and increased consumer surplus by 115 215 million per year and perhaps more The results also show that the initial introduction of the Internet search sites is initially associated with an increase in price dispersion within demographic groups but as the share of people using the technology rises further
