Chains of Gold Marcelo J. Borges,2009 Why did migrants from southern Portugal choose Argentina instead of following the traditional path to Brazil Starting with this question this book explores how at the turn of the twentieth century rural Europeans developed distinctive circuits of transatlantic labor migration linked to diverse immigrant communities in the Americas It looks at transoceanic moves in the larger context of migration systems examining their connections and the crucial role of social networks in migrants geographic mobility and adaptation Combining regional and local perspectives on both sides of the Atlantic Chains of Gold provides a vivid account of the trajectories of migrant men and women as they moved from rural Portugal to contrasting places of settlement in the Argentine pampas and Patagonia A Transdisciplinary

Approach to International Teaching Assistants Stephen Daniel Looney,Shereen Bhalla,2019-09-26 North American universities depend on international teaching assistants ITAs as a substantial part of the teaching labor force which has led to the idea of an ITA problem a deficiency model which is framed as a divergence between ITAs linguistic competence and undergraduates and their parents expectations This outdated positioning of ITAs as deficient diminishes the invaluable role they play within the academy This book argues instead for an approach to ITA which recognizes them as multilingual skilled migrant professionals who participate in and are discursively constructed through various participant frameworks modalities and activities The chapters in this volume offer state of the art research into ITA using a variety of methods and approaches and as such constitute a transdisciplinary perspective which argues for the importance of dialogue between research and practice Perspectives of Air Law, Space Law, and International Business Law for the Next Century Karl-Heinz

Böckstiegel,1996 Academic Experiences of International Students in Chinese Higher Education Mei Tian,Fred Dervin,Genshu Lu,2020-02-20 Since China proposed its Belt and Road Initiative in 2013 to boost its influence on international affairs and cultivate international contacts who are friendly toward China the number of foreign students in China has surge exponentially Yet global political changes have added tensions and challenges to the education of international students This book is one of the first works to discuss the educational experiences of international students in China Using survey research and qualitative studies to study participants in degree bearing and language programmes at regular universities and Sino foreign universities located in different parts of the country the book covers a variety of topics across education including international students intercultural experience teacher student classroom interaction learning and teaching Chinese as a foreign language academic adaptation and identity formation in higher educational contexts This book is essential for researchers practitioners and policy makers of international student education in China It can also benefit prospective international students considering pursuing higher education in China
