Saint Paul, Jesus Christ and Christianity Jesus Humberto Enriquez Rubio MD,2014-07-16 The Catholic religion is a captivating institution which was built on the basis of touching beautiful legends Since ancient times it has been managed by individuals who dedicate their entire life and time to maintaining and spreading this religion which has become deeply rooted in western world family life Each new family member is born grows and is educated according to Catholic moral and dogmas which thus represents the only natural way to perceive the world both with regard to human and supernatural phenomena Persons raised and educated in this manner are unable to find and discover on their own account the truth with regard to God They keep the doors of knowledge tightly shut thus preventing other perceptions and possibilities from entering although their religion is merely a beautiful legend that is very far from reality The Catholic Religion has prevailed over the last two millennia thanks to the work and testimony represented by the austere lifestyle of an army of nuns and priests who not only are they excluded from a payroll but also engage in collecting funds all around the world These funds continue to increase the wealth found in Vatican chests thus increasing its financial power as well as its political and economic influence Such is the source feeding the power of the Roman Empire of the west which is still alive and exercising its functions This is where the church obtains such absolute power infallibility and sanctity as the Divine Caesar it represents The churchs garments lavishness display of power as well as the gold exhibited in its quarters are a representation of the Roman Empires power This is entirely contradictory to the humility shown by the Virgin Mary and Joseph her chaste husband a story which the church itself has spread You neednt words to understand this you only need to closely appreciate the cover in this book
