Journalism in Times of War Susan Dente Ross, Majid Tehranian, 2011-12-31 Amid the ongoing and volatile debate over the nature and potential of peace journalism this volume presents visionary insights from some of the most prominent scholars in the field. The significant empirical studies included here will provide foundation data for communication studies. The contributors broaden the purview and terrain of peace journalism to include new media and offers essays on the effects and the content of global communications. In sum the thirteenth volume of Peace and Policy deepens our empirical knowledge of the nature and effects of conflict while underscoring the increase in numbers of participants and breadth of communications. For the past half decade these contributors have worked independently and collaboratively to increase systematic understanding of the value of peace journalism and communication to civil society. The group has contributed to a complex articulation of the various frames of conflict coverage. In so doing they have clarified the structural systemic and cultural aspects of global violence. In turn this has helped create institutions programs and strategies for enhancing constructive peace communication that will increase mutual understanding cooperation reconciliation and transform conflict. Peace journalism has reframed understanding of conflict from a tug of war between two parties in which one side's gain is the other's loss to the terms of relationships between various sides. It considers the context and the need to identify a range of stakeholders broader than the sides directly engaged in violent confrontation. In sum it leads to understanding of the distinction between stated demands and underlying objectives so as to identify voices working for creative and non violent solutions and finding ways to transform and transcend the lines of conflict. Sir Philip Gibbs and English Journalism in War and Peace Martin C. Kerby, 2016-03-16 Sir Philip Gibbs was one of the most widely read English journalists of the first half of the twentieth century. This coverage of his writing offers a broad insight into British social and political developments government and press relations propaganda and war reporting during the First World War. Time for Peace Luc

Reychler, 2015-10-01 For building sustainable peace and security the time is always now. Violence in our world extends beyond armed conflicts it exists in our social and economic structures not to mention in our destruction of the environment. How can we build more sustainable development and peace? In this innovative ambitious book Dr Luc Reychler argues that we must drastically change our temperament or the way we deal with time. He surveys the vast temporal landscape and considers its many dimensions such as how time relates to emotions religion and conflict and how our time horizons affect the natural world Using examples such as Hurricane Katrina and regime change in Libya Reychler shows how time is misused in conflicts be it the failure to anticipate a disaster or the manipulation of time to create a false sense of urgency Ultimately he proposes a more adaptive attitude to time so that we can be proactive rather than reactive in our efforts at sustainable development and conflict resolution Peace Journalism Jake Lynch,Annabel McGoldrick,2005 Professional journalists Jake Lynch and Annabel McGoldrick draw on 30 years experience reporting for the BBC ITV Sky News the London Independent and ABC Australia They teach Peace Journalism in departments of Journalism and Peace Studies at several universities They have led training workshops for editors and reporters in many countries including the UK USA Indonesia the Philippines Nepal the Middle East and the Caucasus Children and Media in Times of Conflict and War Dafna Lemish,Maya Götz,2007 This collection explores the role the media have on children s lives at times of conflict and war illegible chapters offer for the first time a unique and illegible picture of the most current academic work in illegible area The studies approach the topic from illegible angles children s reception meaning making illegible fright reactions to war related news coverage illegible perspectives of their responsibilities for children at a time of war and approaching the illegible of presenting complex new issues to children illegible finally various ways of empowering children through the use of media and with the aid of media education The Handbook of Mass Media Ethics Lee Wilkins,Clifford G.
