

FOSSIL FUEL USE

Fossil Fuel Use Lab

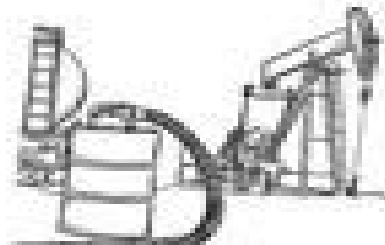

Background information:

Fossil fuels, such as petroleum, coal, and natural gas, are formed from the remains of ancient plants and animals that lived millions of years ago. They are non-renewable resources, meaning they cannot be replaced once they are used. Fossil fuels are the primary source of energy for most of the world's population, used to generate electricity, power transportation, and heat homes and businesses. However, the burning of fossil fuels releases greenhouse gases into the atmosphere, which contribute to global warming and climate change. This lab aims to explore the uses of fossil fuels and the environmental impact of their combustion.
