TSUNAMIS

Tsunamis are waves caused by the volcanic eruption of the ocean floor or off the ocean.

THE DIVING BELL SPIDER (WATER SPIDER)

Diving bell spiders are the only spider that can live underwater. Also known as a water spider, an air bubble helps the diving bell to survive underwater.

Physical Characteristics

A diving bell spider usually measures between 0.3 and 0.7 inches long. They are brown, black, or gray in color. The diving bell has tiny hairs on the body. Their hairs trap air which then forms a bubble around the diving bell abdomen.

Creating the Bell

Diving bell spiders start by spinning a curved web. The web attaches to an underwater plant. By using hairs on the body and hind legs, the diving bell traps air near the surface of the water. It brings the air bubble back to the web and releases the air bubble into the web. The air bubble will now be used to help the spider breathe underwater. The spider creates the bubble big enough so that it can fit inside.

Location

Diving bells generally live in Europe and Asia. They tend to stay in calm water such as ponds and marshes. They can also be found in shallow lakes. A diving bell will use plants to form the web.

Living Inside the Bell

A diving bell spider spends most of its life inside the bell. If the bell begins to shrink it will trap more air bubbles to form to the bell to make it larger. They will absorb insects to bring inside the bell to eat. A male diving bell spider will travel outside of the bell to hunt for the prey. However, a female will wait for her prey to come to her. During cold winters, diving bell spiders hibernate. They build strong webs that will provide enough oxygen for the cold winter months.

SAVING THE SEA TURTLES

Who doesn't love our hard-shelled friends that live in the sea? But sea-turtle safety? Many species of sea turtles are threatened and endangered due to environmental factors. What are those factors and how can we help?

What Can We Do?

There are many things you can do to help the sea turtle population after things like pollution! Avoid using plastic if you can. If not, be sure to dispose of it properly. Try to protect marine life by staying away from corals when diving, not driving on sand beaches to protect eggs, and by not feeding marine animals. Help with beach-cleaning projects and stand up for animal rights and organizations!

Interesting Facts

- Sea turtles are some of the oldest creatures on earth. Their fossils date back to 150 million years.
- Sea turtles travel many miles each year. Leatherback sea turtles can reach up to 30,000 miles a year!

Adults Joan L. Knickerbocker,2017-03-15 Young adults are actively looking for anything that connects them with the changes happening in their lives and the books discussed throughout Literature for Young Adults have the potential to make that connection and motivate them to read It explores a great variety of works genres and formats but it places special emphasis on contemporary works whose nontraditional themes protagonists and literary conventions make them well suited to young adult readers It also looks at the ways in which contemporary readers access and share the works they're reading and it shows teachers ways to incorporate nontraditional ways of accessing and sharing books throughout their literature programs In addition to traditional genre chapters Literature for Young Adults includes chapters on literary nonfiction poetry short stories and drama cover art picture books illustrated literature and graphic novels and film It recognizes that while films can be used to complement print literature they are also a literacy format in their own right and one that young adults are particularly familiar and comfortable with The book's discussion of literary language including traditional elements as well as metafictive terms enables readers to share in a literary conversation with their students and others when communicating about books It will help readers teach young adults the language they need to articulate their responses to the books they are reading

Transnationalism and American Serial Fiction Patricia Okker,2012-06-12 Transnationalism and American Serial Fiction explores the vibrant tradition of serial fiction published in U.S. minority periodicals Beloved by readers these serial novels helped sustain the periodicals and communities in which they circulated With essays on serial fiction published from the 1820s through the 1960s written in ten different languages English French Spanish German Swedish Italian Polish Norwegian Yiddish and Chinese this collection reflects the rich multilingual history of American literature and periodicals One of this book's central claims is that this serial fiction was produced and read within an intensely transnational context the periodicals often circulated widely the narratives themselves favored transnational plots and themes and the contents surrounding the fiction encouraged readers to identify with a community dispersed throughout the United States and often the world Thus Okker focuses on the circulation of ideas periodicals literary conventions and people across various borders focusing particularly on the ways that this fiction reflects the larger transnational realities of these minority communities
