Developing Charging Infrastructure and Technologies for Electric Vehicles Alam, Mohammad Saad, Pillai, Reji Kumar, Murugesan, N., 2021-12-31 The increase in air pollution and vehicular emissions has led to the development of the renewable energy based generation and electrification of transportation. Further the electrification shift faces an enormous challenge due to limited driving range, long charging time and high initial cost of deployment. Firstly, there has been a discussion on renewable energy such as how wind power and solar power can be generated by wind turbines and photovoltaics respectively, while these are intermittent in nature. The combination of these renewable energy resources with available power generation system will make electric vehicle (EV) charging sustainable and viable after the payback period. Recently, there has also been a significant discussion focused on various EV charging types and the level of power for charging to minimize the charging time. By focusing on both sustainable and renewable energy as well as charging infrastructures and technologies, the future for EV can be explored. Developing Charging Infrastructure and Technologies for Electric Vehicles reviews and discusses the state of the art in electric vehicle charging technologies, their applications, economic, environmental, and social impact, and integration with renewable energy. This book captures the state of the art in electric vehicle charging infrastructure deployment, their applications, architectures, and relevant technologies. In addition, this book identifies potential research directions and technologies that facilitate insights on EV charging in various charging places such as smart home, charging parking, EV charging, and charging stations. This book will be essential for power system architects, mechanics, electrical engineers, practitioners, developers, researchers, academicians, and students interested in the problems and solutions to the state of the art status of electric vehicles.

Clearing the Air Tim Smedley, 2021-01-26 Read this book and join the effort to terminate air pollution. Arnold Schwarzenegger, 38th Governor of California. The story of what's happened to the air we breathe, the impact it has had on our health, and what we can do to fight back. Clearing the Air tells the full story of what's happened to the air we breathe. Sustainability journalist Tim Smedley explains exactly what air pollution is, which chemicals are the dangerous ones, and where they come from. He interviews the scientists and politicians at the forefront of air pollution research, as well as those whose lives have been affected by smog. This groundbreaking book reveals the extreme instances of air pollution that have happened around the world, including London, Beijing, Delhi, and LA, as well as examining recent stories like the VW diesel scandal. Globally, 18 000 people die each day from air pollution. For the most part, air pollution is anonymous, an invisible killer borne from the cars in our driveways and the industrial processes used to make stuff, but there is so much we don't know. Parents on the school run in their 4x4s

have never been told that the pollution inside the car is 5 times worse than that on the street outside or that studies show how air pollution stunts lung growth in children Around the world more than eight out of ten people who live in cities breathe in concentrations of air pollutants that exceed international air quality guidelines The annual number of deaths 6 5 million is far greater than those from HIV AIDS tuberculosis malaria and car crashes combined and it is getting worse These problems can be solved and the message of the book is positive The overwhelming majority of air pollutants are local short lived and can be stopped at source the benefits to health instant and dramatic There are many stories that show how the fightback against air pollution can and does work and we can all play a part to clear our air English Mechanic and World of Science ,1899
